The Daily Herald of the 8th inst., says:
While returning home last night about 11 o'clock W. C. Ketchie, son of Esq., S. C.
Ketchie, saw something in the road which proved to be a sack of corn. Supposing that the corn was stolen young Ketchie went to the house of his brother, M. S. Ketchie near by, and the two went back to watch for the thief. Just before day this morning a negro rode up on a mule and dismounted near the corn.
Taking it up he was in the act of putting it on the mule, where were two other sacks, afterwards found to contain cotton seed, when the young men stepped up and arrested him. The prisoner was carried to the residence of Esq.
Ketchie and just as he was being taken in the house he made a break for liberty.
M. S. Ketchie fired at the negro with a gun and thinks he was struck, as he cried out and staggered against a grape vine. He recovered, however, and made his escape. The mule was brought here this morning and turned over to Sheriff Monroe.

Rowan Superior court, May term—convened last Monday morning at 10 o'clock, Judge Winston, presiding, with our energetic Solicitor, B. F. Long, at his post of duty. There were no cases of more than minor importance, and the business of the court was rapidly disposed of. It being a busy season of the year none but those who were compelled to be present were in attendance. The following are the cases disposed of to last evening, worthy of note: Sam Robinson, a. and b., guilty—2 years on chain gang; Morgan Robinson, Jim Blue and Geo. Smith, larceny, guilty—2 years each on chain gang; London Jones, c. and w., guilty—4 months on chain gang; Hill Glass and Ross, larceny, guilty—18 months each on chain gang; Mitchell Chambers, larceny—2 years on chain gang; W. E. Norris, larceny, guilty—1 year on chain gang; Adam Cargwell, a. and b., 3 months, and Sam Henderson, larceny, 18 months on the county chain gang. The suit of State vs. Nell Carter and others for stealing tobacco from Messrs. L. Thompson and Holmes and Miller is on the relation which will be given in our next week's issue.

Mooreville News Notes.
Our farmers are done planting, and have begun to work over their corn the first time. Wheat is looking well and a good crop will be made.

The town election came off last Monday and was a quiet affair. Some 70 votes were polled, and mayor Watson and the other members of councilman-ship were re-elected without opposition.

Everything is lively about our little city now. Work on the factory has begun and will be pushed vigorously on until completed. Mr. Sessom who has the contract to make the brick is moving right on with the work. He is turning out a fine quality at the rate of 2,500 per day, and as soon as they are made the erection of the wall will commence. Contractor Sloop has the contract to do the work for the factory, and also to build the houses for the employees. It is safe to say that ere long we will hear the buzz of the spindles, and that the time will soon come when Mooreville will be a manufacturing town. Some little interest is being manifested in regard to the stone work.
At present there are two applicants for the job, Capt. Johnson of this place, and Jas. A. Ritchie, of Rowan county.
At this writing I am unable to say who will get it.

Mr. D. K. McNeely has been appointed postmaster at this place, and has now taken charge of the office. Mr. Templeton who has held the office under the Harrison administration has given general satisfaction, and he steps out carrying with him the best wishes of all.

Mr. J. A. Bowles has retired from the editorial chair of the Register, which will be continued under the management of the Mooreville Printing Company.

The WATCHMAN continues to grow bright and new. Let the good people of Rowan support it liberally.

Montgomery County News—Troy.
There were five rains here the 2nd and 3rd instants.

The mercury was down to 48° on the 4th of May.

The mad cow belonging to Bayler Jordan died last Friday, being sick just four and a half days, and thirty-five days from the time she was bitten by the mad dog.

The big mad dog suit was tried on the 3rd instant. Ezekiel Epps indicted James C. Hicks for neglecting or refusing to kill a dog on his premises and under his control, after knowing or believing the dog was bitten. Col. Allen Jordan appeared for the prosecution, and J. R.
Bair for the defendant, and after the examination of a number of witnesses on both sides, and able speeches by the counsel, and a due consideration of the evidence, the defendant was acquitted.

E. L. McKee is confined to his bed with the mumps. The whooping cough is also prevailing in town.

John C. Eury has been appointed deputy marshal of this district in place of E. L. McKee, removed.

Jas. G. Steed, son of Joseph Steed, has good prospects of getting the appointment of deputy collector of this district, having been endorsed by the most prominent men in the district.

Mrs. A. R. Morris has returned to Greensboro, for medical treatment.

The prospects for a good wheat crop is splendid, as far as heard from.

Alliance Fair Association.

Correspondence Watchman.

Mr. Editor: In a late issue of your paper, the President of the Alliance Fair Association made the announcement that there would be a picnic at the Alliance Fair Grounds, on Ascension day, May 11th, 1893.

According to the published programme, the gate fees will be for gentlemen 10c., for ladies 5c., children under 12 years free. There will be scrub races, free drives, running and trotting races, base ball contest, a tournament, and other amusements.

In the last issue of your paper the announcement is made that the Association is in debt, and great anxiety evinced to have a large attendance on the day appointed. Ascension day commemorates an important event, and if observed at all should be religiously observed. It is not claimed that there is a divine specific command for the observance of Ascension day, such as there is in relation to the Sabbath; yet there can be no impropriety for people to assemble on that day for religious worship. Such an observance of the day would be much more salutary in its influence than to spend the day in sports and amusements of very doubtful propriety.

The influence of the contemplated picnic at the Fair Grounds, as set forth by the President of the Association, will be demoralizing in its nature, and no good can result from it. Much better would it be, therefore, for farmers to keep their wives and children at home and quietly to follow their daily avocations, than by their presence and money to encourage such a demoralizing observance of Ascension day.

Sunday Desecration.
Wilmington Messenger.

So the managers at Chicago will disregard the U. S. Congress entirely and will open the big show on Sundays. Every pulpit in the land should denounce unmeasurably this desecration of the Lord's Day. Chicago kept begging and implored the Congress for help and got it, and now the Sabbath breakers snap their fingers and declare to the world we will run the thing to suit our own deprav-ed tastes and we will open wide the gates that the Day of Rest may be turned into a day of fun, frolic and dissipation. The religious people of this country ought to have grace enough to resist all temptation to evil and to give the wickedness of Chicago the go-by. Let it severely alone.
It looks like tempting Jehovah. A few cases of cholera about Chicago at Chicago would soon disperse the crowd and leave the great city to its own absolute and ruin. There are a few millions of people in the United States who believe in a Seventh Day of rest—the keeping holy the Sabbath of the Lord. Their feelings and convictions of duty are ignored and contemned by the heathen who manage the great show. No man will suffer who does not participate in the iniquity. Stay away from the City of Sin.

Since writing this we have seen it mentioned that as yet the grounds only will be opened on Sunday. The probability is, we take it, that the show will soon be open also.

Vance on Silver.
St. Louis Republic.

Senator Vance, of North Carolina, a member of the Senate Finance Committee, is a pronounced friend of silver. He said today that he could never be influenced to cast a vote hostile to silver, to matter what arguments or influences were brought to bear upon him. The Senator is a little inclined to anger when he talks of the proposition to repeal the Sherman law without giving the silver men anything in its place. He is emphatic in the belief that the Senate will never vote such a way. He is inclined, too, to criticize some of the people who, while claiming to be friends of silver, yet are willing to adopt a course which would utterly degrade that metal.

"These people talk of their friendship to silver," said the Senator. "and say that they will not vote against silver in the way of repealing the Sherman law, but they do not think that just now is the time for work in that direction. The situation in their opinion demands, if not an entire strengthening, at least a compromise which would amount to about the same thing.
They want to be known as friends of silver, while they are really willing to act in enmity towards it. They remind me of the Irishman who was sent down in the bucket to the bottom of a well. He found no one there, and he came up and called out to those above to haul him up.
They pulled him up a little way and stopped. He called out to hurry their work at the windows. They hoisted him a few feet further and stopped again.
The Irishman got mad and yelled out to them that if they did not pull him up right away he would cut the rope."

Relics Made to Order.
An individual who opened a small tavern near the field of Watkinson was frequently questioned as to whether he did or did not possess some relics of the battle, and he invariably and honestly answered in the negative.

But he was very poor, and one day while lamenting to a neighbor not only his poverty but the annoyance to which travellers subjected him, his friend cut him short with:

"Well make one help the other—make some relics."

"What can I do?" inquired the poor man.

"Tell them that Napoleon or Wellington entered your shop during the battle and sat down in that chair."

Not long after an English tourist entered the tavern, and inquiring for relics, was told the chair story. The chair was bought at an incredible price.

The next corner was informed that Wellington had taken a drink, and the Wellington tumbler was accordingly sold.

The third arrival gazed with breathless wonder at the nail on which Bonaparte had hung his hat. The fourth purchased the door posts between which he had entered, and the fifth became the happy purchaser of the floor on which he had trodden.

At the last advice the fortunate tourist kept had a roof to cover his head, and was sitting on a bag of gold in the corner of a deep pit formed by selling the eath on which the house had stood.

Wilmington Star: A Wilmington telegraph operator was talking over the wires with an unknown operator in Richmond. Finally, the former said: "You are no gentleman." Quick as lightning Richmond replied, "I know it; I'm a lady." The Wilmington operator was then struck with the discovery that he was not talking to one of the boys, and the conversation came to an abrupt termination.

WHY SHUFFLE THROUGH THE WORLD SEED-SHOD AND SHABBY?

The personal attire of proclaims the man.
However much some people may sneer, tis nevertheless, a stubborn fact that neatness of dress contributes greatly to the estimate of a man and adds much to an already favorable opinion of him.

"Don't judge a man by the coat that he does not say that you shall go untidy and Business Cannot be Cured by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the eye.

There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitution remedies which are caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When the tube is inflamed you have a ringing sound or hum, or hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever, and deafness will be caused by cure, by cure, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.
