SENATOR VANCE ON SILVER.

His Reply to Mecklenburg Alliance.

R. W. ELLIOTT,

Secretary Mecklenburg Co. Alliance: SIR,-I have received a copy of the resolution of Mecklenburg Alliance, udopted at a recent meeting, urging Senators and Representatives to stand by the present silver purchasing law until some satisfactory substitute shall be adopted.

I observed this action with great leasure, for two reasons: In the first place, it is the exercise of one of the most valuable and legitimate functions by which the Alliance can be made to subserve the interest of the farmersthe concentration of their whole influence upon the saves of the day. I view of the notorious fact of combina tions among all other branches of industry and in every form of capital, years ago urged upon our agricultural classes the importance of such organization as would enable them to make their vast but widely scattered and disjointed strength felt, promptly and efficiently, in legislation. Now, the preservation of silver as a part of our currency is one of the most vital of all the issues which our people have been called upon to decide for half a century The enemies of silver money have displayed a wonderful sagacity in their tactics. Though scattered through- up by our own capitalists. From New York the word comes down the line to all American capital and the response is immediate. What is known as the Sherman law is the only legislation on our statute books which binds us to the use of silver, and the cry is raised for its repeal under various pretences, all equally false. The banks, stock-brokers, bond holders, chambers of commerce, et id omne genus, clamor for its repeal and prige the calling of an extra session of great way. But let things go as they Congress to assemble and sit during may, it shall be my earnest endeavor to the dog days for that purpose alone. do my duty in maintaining the cause Tariff repeal, which formed the chief of the people by preserving the charthe rear and the interest of capital is its abundance. placed in front, to be dealt with under the demoralizing conditions of a fraudplent panic created by capital itself and called by Mr. Ingersoll "the banker's panic.

The action of your Alliance is the first official utterance on the subject I have seen in the State. It is time your order was bringing every atom of its influence to bear. It should use every means possible to let it be known that there is yet another and entirely different world in the fields and homes of toil, whose interest demands attention as well as that combination of money actly the sort of summer girls with dealers, stock-brokers, gamblers and whom one could have much fun. speculators who assume for theniselyes and united actions cannot possibly be gravel at home. doubted.
