

To Test a Thermometer.
Bring water to a active boiling point; warm the thermometer gradually in the steam and then plunge it in the water. If it indicates a temperature of 212 degrees the instrument is a good one.

The Surface Hill Gold Mine.
Deputy Sheriff Johnston was down in Clear Creek township yesterday, and visited the Surface Hill gold mine. He says they are finding a lot of pretty nuggets, and the ore continues to be very rich. Mr. Johnston thinks the hill is full of little pockets, and that hydraulic machinery would pay to work the ore. There are about fifty hands working there and they are getting well paid for their work, having found nearly a dozen pounds of the precious metal.

A Queer Proposition.
How could two persons be born at the same time and die at the same time at the end of fifty years, and yet one of them live one hundred days more than the other?

The answer turns upon the familiar fact that a person who goes around the world toward the west loses a day, while the person who travels in the opposite direction gains a day.

We will suppose, then, that the two men in question were born at the same instant in Dublin, from whence a trip around the world may easily be made once a year. One of them goes always toward the west, the other toward the east. One loses a day every year, the other gains a day every year. When the men die at fifty years of age one has seen one hundred more days than the other.

A Novel Method of Getting Foul Air Out of a Well.
I saw a curious method used the other day in Illinois to take the foul air out of a well. The well was to be cleaned out but the man that took the job was afraid to go down until he had ascertained the quality of the air at the bottom. He let down a lighted candle, and when it descended to about three feet of the bottom it went out as suddenly as though extinguished by a puff of air. That was all he wanted to know. He was then sure that the well had poisoned gas in it, and took a small umbrella, tied a string to the handle and lowered it open into the well. Having let it go nearly to the bottom he drew it up, carried it a few feet from the well and upset it. He repeated this operation 20 or 30 times, with all the bystanders laughing at him, then again lowered the light, which burned clear and bright even at the bottom. He then descended to explain that the gas in the well was carbonic acid gas, which is heavier than air, and therefore could be brought up in an umbrella just as though it were so much water. It is a simple trick, yet perfectly effective.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

President Cleveland's brother, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Chaumont, Jefferson county, N. Y., does not resemble the President. He is of much lighter build and almost spare in figure. An easy, cherry expression and light voice further add to the dissimilarity.

Hoke Smith was hanged in effigy at Rome, Ohio, last Saturday night, because a number of the pensioners in that community had been suspended—among them J. L. Reed, 83 years old, whose pension was his only support, and who went crazy when it was cut off. The crowd thought of hanging the President in effigy also, but concluded not to.

Many men think that newspaper men are persistent dunners. By the way of comparison let us suppose a farmer raises one thousand bushels of wheat a year, and sells this to one thousand persons in all parts of the country, a great part of them saying, "I will hand you a dollar in a short time." The farmer does not want to be small, and says all right. Soon the one thousand bushels are gone, but he has nothing to show for it, and then he realizes that he has fooled away his whole crop, and its value is due to him in a thousand little dribbles, consequently he is seriously embarrassed in his business, because his debtors, each owing him one dollar, treat it as a small matter and think it would not help much. Continue this business year in and year out as the publisher does, how long would he stand it? A moment's thought will convince any one that a publisher has cause for persistent dunning.—National Labor Tribune.

You may have all the stars in a nail keg, hanging the ocean on a rail to dry, put the sky in a gourd to soak, unbutton the bellyband of eternity and let out the sun and moon, but never delude yourself with the idea that you can escape that place on the other side of purgatory unless you pay the printer.

PROVIDENCE, July 26.—The steamship of the Providence, Norfolk and Baltimore line encountered a heavy snow storm early this morning off the Long Island coast. RANDLEMAN, N. C., Aug. 2.—Ezekiel Stewart, Oscar Lassiter and Elizabeth Owen were lodged in jail at Asheville, N. C., last night for the alleged murder of Romulus Owen, at Cedar Grove, this county, about the first week in April. There were two investigations by the coroner, whose jury rendered a verdict that the deceased came to his death by the above named parties without stating the means by which the same was accomplished. It is the prevailing opinion, however, in that section that he was hanged in his smoke house, though it is not positively known.

How this man farms.—A Harper county (Kas) farmer who expects to sow 2,300 acres of wheat this fall has set to work a mammoth steam plow. It has six 16 inch plows, turns a strip eight feet wide at one passage, requires only two men to operate it and will plow thirty acres a day. It is proposed to employ two sets of hands and keep it running day and night.

The Industry Enterprise says that a farmer living near that place was much surprised upon opening his paper to find a spider therein. As he was very superstitious he thought it a bad omen, but finally decided that he was looking to see who advertised, so he could go to the stores of those who did not advertise and spin his web where he would not be disturbed.—Burlington Hawkeye.

News-Observer-Chronicle.—We never like to have even the appearance of pursuing a political opponent, and therefore have expressed only sympathy for ex-Secretary of the Treasury Foster and Gov. McKinley, who some months ago met with financial reverses. But Gov. Foster seems to have done more than managed badly. Without much substance he overdraw his banking account $135,000, which was nearly one-half of the total liabilities of the bank. His bank owed $270,000, and its total resources were only $88,000. He used $130,000 of the depositors' money himself, having no substance. It is a bad show-up.
