The body of Col. Sharp, a prominent citizen of Statesville, was discovered lying on railroad track near Statesville Monday night by an east bound freight train. The body was torn almost to pieces, having been run over by the east bound passenger which was just ahead of the freight. After leaving Statesville Engineer James of the passenger train thought he saw an object like a man's body lying on the track, but concluded he was mistaken until the train reached Salisbury when the pilot was found to be sprinkled with blood, and afterward news was brought by the freight train of the finding of the body. It is not known whether Col. Sharp was killed by the engine or by some one and the body placed on the track.

We failed to make our appearance in the last week's issue, but we want to be on time this week.

The protracted meeting at Little River resulted in the conversion of about 20 souls and 8 accessions to the church.

Dr. F. M. Winchester and wife, of Charlotte, after spending sometime in this section visiting friends and relatives, returned home last Tuesday.

Misses Sallie and Annie Turner, accompanied by Messrs. Jimmie Heilig and F. V. Watkins, of Norwood, gave us a short visit last week.

Charlie Brookshire came riding up Sunday morning at full speed, hulled to the porter and said that it is a "gal" and weighs 19 pounds.

One of our young gent's "diked" up himself and went out in search of "change" to pay off cotton hands with so he said, but finding that his bills were rather large, he had to go before the Register of Deeds at Troy before the change could be made which he wanted.

For the last few weeks we have had much bragging on the fine weather, though some have been disposed to complain a little of the mosquitoes. It has indeed been a delightful time, a time favorable for business and pleasure. And if all things are not in readiness for the coming winter, don't blame any one but yourself for one extreme usually follows another. We may naturally look for a rough winter. But let us not go from the extreme of delight and praise to the one of pinning and complaint. Let us make hay while the sun shines and rejoice when the rain falls.
Ely.

Why is he so Irritable.

This question is often heard and nearly as often unanswered.

It is not always remembered, as it should be, that the occasion of ill-temper and irritability is often to be found in the physical condition of the persons affected. What is the use of trying to "harmonize" a man whose liver has gone back on him? If a man is tortured with rheumatism, how can he be expected to be affable and agreeable? Can a confirmed dyspeptic be expected to be cheerful and always ready to tell a funny story? The only way to remove the difficulty is to get at the cause. Dyspepsia, rheumatism impure blood and liver troubles yield to Hood's Sarsaparilla; this is why it is an effective tranquilizer, a peaceful messenger, and a preventive of disease, quiescent.
