THURSDAY, October 26, 1893.

The Salisbury correspondent of the Richmond Dispatch in speaking of the arrest of Mr. Foust Friday night says: "Foust would not have been arrested had it not been for his actions in going to the three papers here and writing articles himself and having them published as the opinions of the editors themselves, and making erroneous statements in the articles."

Some men seem to have imaginative powers to an almost infinite limit, since those powers produce so vivid a picture of the false and untrue as to cause the possessor of the powers to believe it is a true picture and swear to others that it is true. We should be glad indeed to possess the vivid imagination of the correspondent of the Richmond Dispatch, if it were coupled with veracity and sound judgment. Or perhaps we should call it omniscience since there is no doubt whatever as to the truth of his statement and we know that his knowledge was intuitive as it was impossible to get it otherwise.

It is news indeed to the WATCHMAN that Mr. Foust wrote or dictated a single word published in its columns last week. The local editor of the WATCHMAN is solely responsible for all that was said on the subject and no one else. If this were the only cause for his arrest, as the correspondent says, we think the persons who caused his arrest ought to have adopted the motto of Davy Crockett before having him arrested, as we have no idea that either of the other papers would give their space for publishing "erroneous statements" and we have no idea Mr. Foust would ask them to do so. Some men seem to take a fiendish delight in kicking a man who is down, and such we believe was the motive of the man who wrote the foregoing lie.

We did not intend to defend or uphold the crime of Mr. Foust in the article we wrote last week, nor do we intend to do so in this. But we believe that it is the duty of a Christian community to give the right hand of Christian fellowship to every fallen man who repents of his sin and tries to lead a different life.

George Gould said he is in favor of an income tax, and that every rich man ought to pay in proportion to his income.—Wilmington Star.

The case of McLeod vs. the Carolina Central Railroad, tried in Lincoln court Thursday decided in favor of the road.

Rev. Dr. Philip Schiff, the great Presbyterian professor, died yesterday in New York of paralysis.

The number of people at the State Fair Thursday was estimated at 12,000.

The Senate Situation. The unblushing claim of the anti-repeal Senators, that they are not delaying action beyond what is necessary for legitimate debate, will need reiteration after the scene of the last evening. One can easily sympathize with Mr. Voorhees' sense of indignation in view of the facts set forth. It is difficult, as yet, to estimate the final out come of this struggle. Public opinion has no influence on the Senate, but public opinion is daily becoming more and more disgusted with the Senate and its tactics. Compromise may result, but unless the repealers have lost all their self-respect, it will be compromise upon some other basis than that outlined in Sunday's dispatches. For them to accept a bill which provided for the continuance of the Sherman act for four years, with monthly purchases of 2,000,000 ounces of silver and authority in the Secretary of the Treasury to issue gold bonds, would be an abject surrender of everything they have stood for, and a craven acceptance of the terms of an element which wants everything and will yield nothing material. Mr. Voorhees and his party can much better afford to accept unconditional defeat than to accept these humiliating terms.—Charlotte Observer.

The Fair is paying. The World's Fair is now out of debt. The enormous receipts of Chicago day cleared the whole remainder of the bonded indebtedness. The Illinois Trust and Saving Bank on Tuesday last signed a receipt for the whole amount, $1,505,319.76, and whatever comes in after that time is clear profit. The attendance is said to be beating the record right along and the prospects are that the stockholders will realize a neat dividend on their investment. The Chicago day attendance was 751,026.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

A democrat who has the future welfare and success of his party in view, regardless of his own personal opinion on the silver question, can find little that is pleasing in the controversies that have taken place this week between democratic Senators who occupy opposite positions on the Voorhees bill. The language used by democratic Senators towards each other was such as should not be used upon the floor of the Senate, even towards political opponents, except under great provocation, and it certainly did not improve the chance either of passing the Voorhees bill as it is or for amending it. In fact, about the only thing accomplished by these displays of temper was to furnish the republicans with a bundle of very stout clubs which they will not fail to use in the future upon democratic heads. It will be a dear victory to either side in this silver controversy if it be won by disrupting the democratic party, thus providing the oft-repeated charge of the republicans that the democratic party could not control itself.

At the beginning of the week it looked as though the democratic Senators were about to get together in a satisfactory compromise, but the opportunity went by. How things are again drifting, with both friends and opponents of the Voorhees bill threatening to keep up the fight indefinitely, and the Senate wasting its time discussing a change of rules, which every Senator knows down in his heart, whatever his wishes may be, cannot be accomplished in the midst of this controversy. A democratic caucus is to be held, but as only those who signed the call therefor consider themselves bound to attend or to be bound by its action, and as the call was only signed by Senators who are opposed to the passage of the Voorhees bill, there is little upon which to base even a hope that it will result in ending the unfortunate controversy.

President Cleveland is apparently more confident than ever that the Voorhees bill can be passed by the Senate without amendment and more determined that the fight shall be continued until that end is reached, but there are good reasons for the belief that he would sign a compromise measure if one can be agreed upon by the democratic Senators. It could not reasonably be expected under the circumstances that he would, in advance of the action of the Senate, announce that he would sign a compromise bill. Much important business awaits the disposition of the silver question. For instance, provision will have to be made and the sooner the better, to meet the big deficit the necessary expenditures of the current fiscal year will leave in the Treasury. Secretary Carlisle's latest estimate, based on present indications, is that this deficit may reach $50,000,000.

Secretary Carlisle has decided that paper currency shall hereafter be used in making disbursements at the New York treasury, except when the state of the Treasury makes it necessary to pay out gold. It is said that this decision was made because of a tendency on the part of the banks in that section to hoard the gold lately put in circulation.

The next bill to be taken up by the House will be the Oates bankruptcy bill. There is strong opposition to the bill on both sides of the House, but it is thought that it will be passed.

President Cleveland authorizes the announcement that he will not leave Washington for any purpose until the Senate takes some action on the silver question.

The House committee on Public Lands which has been looking into the charges concerning the opening of the Cherokee strip will probably decide that there is no occasion for the Congressional investigation proposed by a resolution recently introduced in the House.

The House is keeping up its reputation for rapidity in the transaction of business. This week it passed the McCreary bill amending and modifying the Geary Chinese law and the Cox bill, providing that no national bank-association shall make any loan to its president, its vice president, its directors, its cashier, or any of its clerks, tellers, book-keepers, agents, or other persons in its employ, until the proposition to make such a loan, stating the amount, terms, and security offered, shall have been submitted in writing to a meeting of the board of directors or of the executive committee of the board, and accepted and approved by a majority of those present, constituting a quorum, and then not in excess of the amount now allowed by law. A bill similar to the last named was passed by the last House. The House also passed a bill repealing the law which requires applicants for bounty lands to prove loyalty in addition to proving themselves otherwise entitled to the lands.

The Fair is Prolonged.

Chicago, October 21.—The world's fair will not be closed on October 31. Official action has been taken to keep the exposition open beyond the time fixed by congress for closing it.

In an unofficial way the managers have been discussing for several weeks the advisability of running the fair longer than the period first intended. They positively decided at last that "visitors might be admitted thereafter (October 31) for an indefinite period, so long as the popular demand and the weather conditions should justify it."

Wanted to Marry Him.

The long haired freak at Pawnee Bill's Wild West museum took quite a fancy to Charlie Dannel, of this county, Tuesday and proposed to marry him. Charlie expressed his willingness at first, but afterward seemed about to flicker, and the long-haired lady sent a policeman after him, with a threat if he didn't stick up to his bargain she would sue him for breach of promise. He then came back; she seemed to enjoy the joke very much indeed, and told him that she hadn't seen such a fine looking fellow in a long time, and that she always did like that name. Again and again she warned him not to desert her for she would certainly sue him.

Bold Highway Robbery.

On last Wednesday morning at Mr. Al Clay, of Hickory, was coming up the river, three miles below Globe, in Caldwell county on his way to the mountains to buy cattle, he was attacked by two highway-men, a white man and negro. They pounced upon him with a knife, and before he was hardly conscious of what was going on they had cut his pocket and taken therefrom forty-four dollars in cash. Fortunately for Mr. Clay, he had the bulk of his money in another pocket, and they failed to get it. This was, to say the least, a very daring robbery, and we hope the offenders will meet with a speedy retribution.

White Caps in North Carolina.

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 15.—Special articles from Shelby, N. C., are to the effect that whitecaps of the Tennessee stripe have made their appearance in Cleveland county and are threatening the owners of all the gins in that section, that unless they stop ginning until the price of cotton reaches ten cents per pound their gins will be promptly burned to the ground.

Capt. S. D. Randall, a prominent farmer and gunner of the lower end of that county, was the first to receive one of these anonymous letters. So far he has refused to stop ginning and is guarding his gin with a shot gun every night.

29 Dead Bodies Found.

Battle Creek, Mich., October 20.—A terrible head end collision occurred a mile and a half from the city this morning.

From twenty-five to forty persons are reported killed, many of whom were burned to death in the wreck, which took fire soon after the collision. The groans of dying are pitiful in the extreme, but everything possible is being done for their comfort.

Twenty-four dead bodies have been taken from the wreck. They are all terribly burned and unrecognizable.

The accident occurred because No. 6, going east, disobeyed orders by not stopping at Nichols to let No. 9 pass.

As soon as the trains collided, the coaches took fire, and before the people near by recovered their senses, three of the passenger coaches were completely burned up.

Twenty-four bodies have already been taken from the wreck, and it is supposed that there is fully that many more under the debris. Most of these were burned to death. In addition to the dead there are forty severely, if not fatally, injured.

"Why is he so Irritable."

This question is often heard and nearly as often unanswered.

It is not always remembered, as it should be, that the occasion of ill-temper and irritability is often to be found in the physical condition of the persons affected. What is the use of trying to "harmonize" a man whose liver has gone back on him? If a man is tormented with rheumatism, how can he be expected to be affable and agreeable? Can a confirmed dyspeptic be expected to be cheerful and always ready to tell a funny story? The only way to remove the difficulty is to get at the cause. Dyspepsia, rheumatism, impure blood and liver troubles yield to Hood's Sarsaparilla; this is why it is an effective tranquilizer, a peaceful messenger, and a preventive of domestic quarrels.

General News.

The Durham Globe says the Travelers' Life Insurance Company, of Hartford, has taken $40,000 of the Trinity College 20-year 6 per cent bonds.

CARTERSVILLE, Oct. 20.—Will Dutton, white convicted of the murder of Sallie Mobbs, in this county, was hung here today at 12 o'clock.

L. W. Mays, of Iredell county, and John Honescut, of Caldwell county, were found guilty of counterfeiting in the Federal Court at Statesville Thursday and sentenced to the Albany penitentiary for two years each.

Louisville, Ky., October 20.—A sensational arrest has been made here of Charles Hardin, who figured in the recent express robbery, by a Kansas City officer. Hardin has been identified as Charles Letchum, the well known western crook.

Camilla, Ga., October 10.—Relden Garrell, of this county, has been placed in jail here under a charge of assault on his own thirteen year old daughter.

A special to the Charlotte Observer from Raleigh says that an important meeting of the Board of Public Charities of this State was held there Thursday.

Resolutions were adopted asking the boards of the insane asylums to amend their by-laws as to admit and retain ex-Confederate North Carolina soldiers now in county homes insane, whether curable or incurable. This proposal has the approval of the Governor and leading citizens, and the Confederate Veterans' Association of North Carolina. The board will at the proper time urge again the establishment of a State reform school, as it is now more than ever convinced of its increasing necessity.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 23.—A Georgia Pacific engine pulling a through freight which left here yesterday morning about 2 o'clock, blew up five miles from here. Engineer Mills and fireman J. W. Buchanan, both white were blown up in the air, and alighted some 200 or more yards away. Both were badly mutilated and were killed almost instantly. Mills fell through a roof of a shanty. The first named was married the other single. Mills' body was shipped to Richmond, Va.

DANESMORA, N. Y., Oct. 23.—At 11:50 this morning Martin Fay was electrocuted for the murder of Henrietta Wilton, his mistress, in Seneca. The current was turned on at 11:43, the volt being 1,640. It was on for four seconds at full force then for ten seconds gradually reduced to 150 then put on at full force again for two seconds and then gradually reduced again for 48 seconds. The condemned man did not make a movement except that caused by the burning on and off of the current.

The Greensboro Record says: In is now found out why the 7:30 p. m. train from Raleigh is always behind time, when it used to come in on the minute in the summer—when it was not dark. Tramps are the cause. They seldom bother a train in day time, but when night comes on they seem to be lined at every station. The trains stop and ditch them so often that much time is lost.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—Henrietta Kimball, 18 years of age, while despondent from long continued sickness, committed suicide by throwing herself into the lake at the foot of Ninety-eighth street. Insane over the grief of his daughter's rash act, Andrew Kimball, her father, this morning followed her example, and choosing the spot where his daughter's lifeless body was found yesterday, threw himself into the lake and was drowned. He had been engaged in the real estate business and was in prosperous circumstances.

This Explains it all.

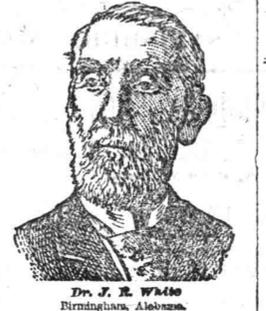

The esteemed Charlotte Observer wants to know "who are the obstructionists" in the United States Senate. The exact condition of things is this: A majority of the majority, and a minority of the minority are trying to prevent a minority of the majority and a majority of the minority from killing the majority in the South and West. With these simple facts the Observer should be able to answer its own question. If it cannot do so the Citizen will produce additional acid facts.

Sad and Gloomy

Weak and Dyspeptic Hood's Sarsaparilla Gave Strength and Perfectly Cured.

"I have not words enough to express my thanks for the great benefits received from a few bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla. I was weak, and it made me strong; I was a dyspeptic, and it cured me; I was sad and gloomy, and it made me cheerful and hopeful. And had I thought not long, it made me an honest and true man."

Sixteen Under Bond.

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 13.—A special from Knoxville says: The sixteen soldiers charged with being implicated in the lynching of the miner, Richard Drummond, at Briceville, were admitted to bond in the sum of $3,000 for the entire number by Judge Stone of the Knoxville criminal court, by whom they were tried on habeas corpus proceedings.

There is no better medicine for family use than Ayer's Cathartic Pills. Their sugar-coating makes them easy and even agreeable to take, and as they contain no calomel or other injurious drug, they are perfectly safe for patients of any age.

A Romance—Two Bags of Love Letters

Once upon a time there was a lady of Lumberton who loved a swain from Siler City, and vice versa. They were engaged to be married, but as "twas ever thus," the course of true love did not run smooth, and the "silver line" was snapped. He wrote for his letters. She got two bags, each holding a bushel, put the letters in them, tied them with crape, directed them to her ex-lover and shipped them. They were the object of interest on the Carolina Central train, yesterday afternoon. By today the writer of them will be removing the badge of crape from his lost love.

Invalids should remember that the cause of sick and nervous headache may be promptly removed by taking Ayer's Pills. These Pills specially correct irregularities of the stomach, liver and bowels, and are the mildest and most reliable cathartic in use.

A Newspaper Man Attacked.

NEWBERN, N. C., Oct. 11.—Special—Edward Murray, a man who came here to have a sparring match with a negro, made a brutal assault on C. E. Hancock local editor of the Journal today for what he conceived to be an abusive comment on the affair, by Hancock in his paper. Murray is in jail and Mr. Hancock is at his desk tonight, but badly battered up. Indignation against Murray is running high.
