THURSDAY, January 11, 1894.

If our present Representatives in Congress are so pressed for time that they can't attend to their business and the country's interest we should lose no time in gently putting them aside and find others who will have a few spare moments to lend their constituency.

They are not only bringing disgrace upon themselves, but upon their respective States and the Democratic Party.

Such recreancy to party trust should not be tolerated any moment longer than necessary, and the best thing to do with such gentlemen of elegant leisure is to invite them "to step down and out," come home, borrow an old nigger musket and his neighbors bound and go heading the bushes for rabbits or other animal's best suited to their fastidious taste.

A Bold Move in Contemplation.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—A powerful, but quiet, effort is being made in the House to substitute the Mills bill for the Wilson bill, and the ways and means committee and the tariff and thin tariff reformers are very uneasy lest it may succeed.

The people, forewarned, ought to demand of their Representatives to stand squarely up to the pledges of the platform and the action of the ways and means committee.

The Mills bill, good in its way, is not so good a bill as the Wilson bill. Senator Ransom and Hon. F. M. Simmons called on Secretary Carlisle today with Mr. Melvin E. Carter. The latter's nomination for collector of the western district will go in Monday. Mr. Simmons and others here say he is one of the clearest headed men in the State and his nomination gives satisfaction all around. It is understood that Senator Vance, failing to secure Mr. Gunder's nomination, is well pleased with the result. This fact insures the confirmation of Collector Simmons, possibly without opposition.

Mr. O. J. Carroll's nomination for marshal of the eastern district will go in at the same time. It has only been a question of time in his case.

Foreign Immigration.

We are confronted with many seriously perplexing questions of political economy, questions that are claiming the time and talents of our most learned statesmen and though the Silver and T-riff seem to be of paramount interest there is another which figures as conspicuously and sooner or later must be finally and satisfactorily settled. Public sentiment demands decided legislation on "Foreign Immigration" and not only legislation but rigid enforcement of same. We have plenty of room for many thousand good, honorable and industrious immigrants and will extend to them a most cordial welcome, but we are bitterly opposed to being made the dumping ground for European paupers, thieves, murderers, anarchists, socialists and every other nature of criminals. "Self preservation, nature's first and greatest law," is applicable to governments as well as individuals. If our manufacturing, agricultural and commercial interest need protection, why not the Home? Suggestions being in order, we respectfully suggest an idea subject to improvement, viz: That Congress shall pass a law requiring all immigrants who land to present certificates from the proper officials of their respective governments testifying to their standing at home. All those holding certificates of good character should be allowed to land upon the payment of one hundred dollars. Then after being duly registered the government shall issue a receipt for said one hundred dollars, specifying that after the expiration of five years they shall be required to become naturalized citizens and upon the presentation of papers showing themselves to be American citizens, one half of the deposit shall be remitted the other to revert to the "U. S. Treasury." In event they should desire to return before becoming naturalized the full amount should be returned. This being applicable only to male persons over 15 years of age.

The right of suffrage is withheld from native born citizens for 21 years, and why should we offer to strangers the support he deserves from the democratic members of the House. He had worked himself into a state bordering on physical exhaustion in order that the tariff bill might be called up as soon as the House met on Wednesday, and his disappointment can only be imagined when he saw that the tariff bill could not be taken up on that day because of the absence of a quorum of democrats, it being the policy of the republicans not to allow the bill to be considered without a quorum which they will refuse to assist in making. Inasmuch as every democratic member knew the importance of having a quorum of their own members present this absenteeism is inexcusable. The whole country is demanding prompt action on the tariff, and at the very opening of the session a day is thrown away.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Chairmen Wilson is not receiving the support he deserves from the democratic members of the House. He had worked himself into a state bordering on physical exhaustion in order that the tariff bill might be called up as soon as the House met on Wednesday, and his disappointment can only be imagined when he saw that the tariff bill could not be taken up on that day because of the absence of a quorum of democrats, it being the policy of the republicans not to allow the bill to be considered without a quorum which they will refuse to assist in making. Inasmuch as every democratic member knew the importance of having a quorum of their own members present this absenteeism is inexcusable. The whole country is demanding prompt action on the tariff, and at the very opening of the session a day is thrown away.

The tariff programme as mapped out by Chairman Wilson was: five days for general debate, eight days with evening sessions for discussion under the five-minute rule, during which the internal revenue amendments decided upon this week—the 2 per cent tax upon all incomes of $1,000 and over; the increase in the tax on cigarettes to $1.50 per 1000; the increase in the tax on whiskey to $1.00 per gallon, and the tax of 2 cents per pack on playing cards—are to be adopted, and the final vote to be taken on the 17, of January; but it will not be possible to carry out this or any other programme, if a democratic quorum cannot be kept here all the time; already the day of the final vote has been changed to January 22. This absenteeism is more the result of the big democratic majority than indifference. Each member who stays away probably thinks there will be a democratic quorum without him, but so many stay away that there isn't.

The investigation of the relations of this government with Hawaii is being pushed by the subcommittee of the Senate committee on Foreign Relations. All of the witnesses heard up to this time have been gentlemen who took an active part in the annexation movement and the formation of the provisional government of Hawaii; consequently the testimony has been all of one kind. Although the proceedings are supposed to be secret, the nature of the testimony taken becomes known almost as soon as it would if the hearings were public. Considerable comment not favorable to ex-Minister Stevens has been indulged in this week. Senator Frye has reported the health of Mr. Stevens to be so precarious that it might prevent his coming to Washington to testify before the committee, yet the newspapers all contained accounts of his having traveled from his home in Maine to Rhode Island in order to deliver a speech on Hawaii at a club banquet. Now the question is being asked, why, if his health permits him to attend club banquets and sit up two-thirds of a night to make a set speech, it should prevent his coming to the mild climate of Washington and giving the committee a few hours of his time during the day? Perhaps the oath which the committee administers to its witnesses may have something to do with the reluctance of Mr. Stevens. A man doesn't have to swear to statements made in a banquet speech.

The democratic House caucuses which meets tonight will settle for good and all whether the democrats of the Ways and Means committee have made a tariff bill worthy of the support of the party, or whether the work of the committee shall be revised before the bill is passed. Every democrat who has an opportunity to state it and to ascertain whether the majority sides with him or against him. When the caucus decides, that settles it and the bill as finally approved will be loyally supported by every democrat who attends the caucus. It is thought probably that it may be necessary to continue the caucus for several nights in order to hear all that those opposed to several of the tariff schedules and to the income tax amendment may desire to say, and confidently expected that will ratify the work of the committee as a whole, although there may be some minor amendments made in portions of the bill. The opposition to the individual income tax will probably develop the most strength, owing to the vote in the committee having been so close—six to five—and President Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle being in doubt as to its expedi-

Why Uncle Sam Should No Railroads.

The Railway Age publishes some interesting figures showing the construction of railroads in the United States during the year 1893. At the beginning, and in the early part of the year many new roads were in process of construction but the July panic knocked the props from under them, so that the total number of new miles of railroad was less last year than for many years previous. The Railway Age figures that the new main track laid in the United States for 1893 aggregated 2,030 miles on 222 lines in 43 of the States and Territories. Pennsylvania led with 300 miles on 45 lines, followed by Florida with 212 miles on 9 lines, North Dakota 104 miles on 2 lines, Georgia 173 miles on 7 lines, Texas 166 miles on 10 lines, Ohio 146 miles on 7 lines, ect. North Carolina built 7855 miles on 9 lines. The States and Territories showing no addition whatever are Vermont, Connecticut, Delaware, Nevada and Indiana Territory. Massachusetts, New Hampshire and New Jersey built less than two miles each during the year.

The present railroad mileage of the United States is 177,853 miles. According to the above authority it will require only an average increase of 3,164 miles for the next seven years to bring the total at the beginning of the year 1900 to 200,000 miles, while if the rate of the last 20 years is averaged the total will be over 215,000.

Representative Bland has introduced a bill in the House, providing for the immediate issue of $55,000,000 of silver certificates to supply the treasury with money to meet the growing deficiency, the same to be based upon the seizure of the silver bullion in the Treasury; also providing for the coinage of the silver bullion in the Treasury as rapidly as possible. Mr. Bland thinks the adoption of this bill preferable to an issue of bonds to meet current expenses of the government.

Boutwell, of Maine, seems determined to play the monkey on the Hawaiian question. He started off on the first day of the session in his usual style.

Putting Away Meat.

At this season most farmers butcher and store away enough meat to last them a year. It is best to put up the meat whether beef or pork and let it cool out all of the animal heat before salting down. This can be done by leaving the meat spread out in a cool place, after cutting up, overnight. This, however, is less necessary in pickling than in dry salting. All bloody pieces should be cut out, as they greatly increase the risks of loss if left on the meat.

In dry salting take pains to rub the flesh side thoroughly with salt pile or pack it so that there is good drainage, in order that the water or bloody fluid can get away from the meat. In a week or 10 days depending upon the weather it will be best to go over it carefully, rubbing with salt again and then packing away. So far as can be avoided meat should not be allowed to get frozen before salting, nor for a few days after, in order to afford it an opportunity to take the salt. If not kept frozen it should be ready to hang in three weeks but usually it is left much longer than this. Some in salting add black pepper, salt-petre and sugar, but this is rather a matter of taste than of necessity.

In brine salting or pickling the casing is to pack the meat in a barrel and then pour over it enough strong brine to cover the meat well. Let it stand three days and then pack off and put on fresh brine. This will answer for either pork or beef. Some prefer to scald the brine skimming the skum that rises to the surface and then using the brine again but considering the cost the better plan is to use fresh brine. As with dry salting some prefer making brine to add pepper salt-petre and brown sugar but it is a matter of taste. Many take the beef out of brine in a few days and hang it up and smoke it. Some who bring salt the hams and shoulders of the hogs take them out and smoke them. Sides may be tacked to bacon in the same way. When pickling the pork for use in the summer it is best to cut it into pieces of a more convenient size than a whole side then pack close in a barrel or jar according to the quantity. Many prefer pickled pork to bacon during the summer. If proper care is taken to salt well and at the proper season to smoke well and to take down and pack away in dark cool place before flies come in the spring there is no difficulty in keeping a good supply of meat.—The Republic.

It is said that the President has concluded that Hornblower cannot be confirmed as Associate Justice of the Supreme Court and substitute Olney, the present Attorney General, in Olney's place, and put Josiah Quincy, late Assistant Secretary of State, in Bissell's place as Postmaster General.

Internal Revenue Collector Kops Evis, whose nomination by the President has been so persistently opposed by Senator Vance, has in subordination to the good of his party, written a letter to the President asking the withdrawal of his nomination. Thus, Mr. Cleveland has done, and the late Washington dispatch asserts that C. J. Melvin E. Carter, of Asheville, will succeed Mr. Evis. The same dispatch says Mr. Carter's confirmation on the Senate "is a foregone conclusion," and thus an unfortunate personal angle is brought to a close. Mr. Elias made a good officer and well deserved the place and we regret he could not remain. However, we are assured that his success or is as capable and deserving as he, and will in no wise come short on faithfully and acceptably performing the duties of this important office. Those who know him pronounce him a very able man, a thorough Democrat, a successful politician and a high-toned gentleman.

Deafness Cannot be Cured by local application as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube re-opened to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever unless cases out of ten are caused by catarrh which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

Attorney General Osborne has rendered an important opinion in regard to the terms of judges. Heretofore the opinion has prevailed—or at least this rule has been acted on—that when a vacancy occurred and the Governor appointed a judge he held office until the next election, when he was elected to fill out the unexpired term of his predecessor. The Attorney General holds, however, that when a judge is appointed to a vacancy he holds until the next regular election when he is elected—not for the unexpired term—but the full term of eight years. If the Attorney General is correct a number of judges, whose terms were supposed to expire this year, will hold office four years longer. We suppose the matter will be gotten before the Supreme Court soon in order to have it settled.
