Rev. Dr. Leith preach an eloquent and very entertaining sermon Sunday night, the occasion being the anniversary of the Salisbury Knights of Pythias whose members turned out en masse to hear him.

There is a report that an increase of traffic is anticipated over the W. N. C. Railroad this spring, and that the company are arranging to add at least 100 more freight cars to their rolling stock.

The Olympic Club, we learn are organizing a base ball team, which the Olympics shall be second to none in the State. There is good material here for such a team, and we hope the boys may succeed.

The great evangelist, R. V. R. G. Pearson closed a two week's revival meeting at Davidson College last Sunday, and the report is that 150 conversions is the result of this good man's work there.

Dave Fralev, who, in 1882, was convicted and sentenced to the Albany penitentiary for 12 years for killing revenue officer Walker, in Stanley county, has served out his term, and on Monday last passed through town on his return home.

The largest bale of cotton ever pressed in this county, and perhaps the largest ever brought to this market, was bought last Thursday by Mr. J. F. McCubbin from Mr. Bent Ludwick.

Our Superior Court is in session this week, Judge Battle presiding. Quite a number of trivial cases have been disposed of, the most important on the docket being that of Mr. I. H. Foust, which began yesterday, and at a late hour last night the arguments of counsel closed, the Judge charged the jury, which retired to make up their verdict. After retiring the jury returned with a verdict of guilty. Sentence is not passed.

The "Chick Merry Makers" are entertaining our pleasure seekers at the Opera House every night this week. The troupe, composed of experienced amateurs, with an entirely different program each night made a good impression from the start, hence they kept a staying, increasing house at every successive performance. It is said that Mr. Chick, who has entertained our people before, has improved his company by the addition of little Miss Lottie, the child artiste; who in her sweet little self is quite an attraction. It is excellent for the small audience fee, only 10, 20, and 25c. Performance to-night, to-morrow night and a Saturday afternoon matinee. An entire change of programme at each performance.

A sad and choking accident occurred on freight train No. 43 last Thursday night as it passed here at 6:45 o'clock. Flagman, R. G. Dabb was on top of the caboose and, with his back to the engine, was in the act of crossing over the ventilator of the car as it passed under Fisher street bridge, when his head struck the bridge, knocking him down on the roof of the car, killing him instantly. Capt. Cumbs saw the accident and stopped his train, but the unfortunate man was beyond the help of surgical skill. Mr. Dabb was from Benja, where his body was taken for burial. He leaves a young wife to whom he had been married only about three months. He was a young man of steady habits and was well thought of by his employes.

News-Observer-Chronicle: What to do about the Wilson bill in the Senate is now agitating the Democratic leaders of that body who are seeking to make the bill a strong one before the people, to make it raise more revenue than in its present shape, and to vary into effect more nearly the Democratic policy of a tariff for revenue. As framed by the Wilson committee, the bill secured rather more protection to the manufacturing interests than was contemplated, and the Senators have been wrestling with the problem of reforming it so as to avoid such objections. We notice that Senators Vest, Ransom, Gorman, Jones of Arkansas, Cockrell and others have been holding a conference on the subject, other Senators being in consultation with them. That there will be a tax on sugar, and on wool and coal is not improbable, and perhaps on coffee. Gen. Ransom is doing what he can to bring the measure to perfection and secure its speedy passage.

The correspondent at Salisbury who writes the Charlotte Observer a daily letter, in yesterday's issue of that paper says: "Rowan farmers were never better off. They have plenty of corn, meat and other produce, and many have a bale or so of cotton stored up," and that there is no necessity for any of hard times. "We hope this year for if it is every other industry in Rowan county will be felt all along the line."

Undemocratic and Untenable Ground.—Senator Vance has, beyond doubt, been one of the most popular men who has ever been given office by the people of North Carolina, and thousands of her sons will regret his course in the fight he is making against the confirmation of Mr. Simmons as collector of revenue. In regard to this matter in connection with his recently published letter, the Statesville Landmark, of last week, pertinently says: "The literature of the past week in the Vance-Simmons case is quite entertaining—Senator Vance's letter in which he says that he is opposed to Collector Simmons' confirmation because Chairman Simmons went to Washington and interfered with appointments which he wanted made, and Mr. Simmons' reply in which he says that he did not oppose Mr. Gudger's appointment to the collectorship of this district but on the contrary spoke well of him to the President, and that as to Mr. Hale he told the Assistant Secretary of State that he did not think Mr. Hale's party services entitled him to recognition over Messrs. Robbins, Jernigan and Henry.

If Senator Vance's ground is good we are getting pretty well along toward the centralization of the power of discharging patronage. His letter amounts to a denial of Mr. Simmons' right to go to Washington and make suggestions about North Carolina appointments. And yet Mr. Simmons is chairman of the Democratic State executive committee. If he hasn't a right to have a say about the officers, then it is clear that nobody else has, and this lodges all the power of making recommendations in the hands of the Senators and they must be permitted to exercise it without outside interference. We repudiate any such doctrine. Whenever this doctrine is recognized this will cease to be a government of the people. We hold that any North Carolina Democrat has a right to go to the President or to any department in Washington and express an opinion on any North Carolina appointment or applicant, and that he is accountable to nobody in so doing except to the individuals whom he may oppose, and that he owes nobody but them, if them, any apologies or explanations. If he happens to be the chairman of the party in his State and has just directed the party through a successful campaign, he is entitled to be heard more deferentially and his suggestions are entitled to more weight than if he happens to be a private citizen and to have no such prestige; but if the private citizen has not the right to open his mouth about the distribution of the spoils of the victory which he has helped to win, then Democracy has played out and we have in its stead a senatorial aristocracy.

"We do not recall a bolder attack upon popular rights than that Senator Vance has made. He has taken a position in which he cannot sustain himself and in which the Democratic party of North Carolina cannot and will not endorse."

Ready for Business.—Here and there people are still talking about hard times, and this sort of talk delays the return of prosperity. While it is true that the country has suffered incalculable damage from vicious legislation in the interests of monopolists, goldbugs and various protected classes, the developments of the past two years have shown that our industries and thirty people with their wonderful resources cannot be altogether ruined by neglect of their lawmakers.

Surplus stocks of staple goods are nearly exhausted and already the factories are resuming work and increasing their output. Wholesale and retail merchants have carried small stocks for a long time, and they will have to buy largely because the people who have been making their old clothes do extra service can wait no longer for their new garments. The business men and farmers are practically out of debt, and the banks are full of money which will have to seek investment or be loaned out at low rate of interest.

The country is in the fine shape for tariff reform, and the manufacturers are not afraid of it. The currency question will be satisfactory settled before long. It is not to be supposed that a democratic administration will neglect a matter of such importance and ignore its pledges to the people.

Everything is ready for a new start, and the eagerness of the people to go to work, invest their money, produce something and develop something cannot fail to bring good times. Congress is bound to wheel into line with the masses, sooner or later. At the eleventh hour it will probably come to the front with several promised reforms and then claim all the credit for the restoration of confidence and the revival of prosperity.

The State Currency.—Washington Special, Feb. 22, to New York Herald. Representative Tracey, of New York introduced to-day a bill drawn up by H. Osterberg, of New York, to provide for a flexible system of bank circulation. This bill proposes to allow State banks to issue circulating notes under the supervision of the Comptroller of the Currency up to one-third of their paid up capital, provided that no one bank shall issue more than $1,000,000. Each bank is required to keep in hand at all times not less than twenty five per cent in coin or its notes, outstanding in coin or its equivalent in lawful money of the United States. Provision is made for the levying of a tax on the circulation of these banks for the payment of the expenses of administering the law, and for the creation of a reserve fund to be invested in the bonds of the United States, or such State bonds as may be approved by Congress, to be held as an additional security for the payment of the notes.

The element of elasticity is given to this proposed banking currency by authorizing the Comptroller of the Currency whenever in his opinion, the exigencies of the occasion demand it, or upon the demand of not less than one-third of the banks having circulation under the act, to permit banks to issue an additional amount of circulation not to exceed 20 per cent of their paid-up capital.

The retirement of these additional notes whenever the occasion for their issue has passed is insured by imposing double the tax upon them that is imposed, to fix the limit of the circulation under this act to $1 per capita based on the last preceding census, unless all the circulating notes of the United States other than bank notes shall be retired, and in that event it is proposed to make the limit $15 per capita.

The bill has been favorably considered by Secretary Carlisle.

More Scandal in High Life.—Mrs. Emily C. Lyman, wife of Theodore B. Lyman, Jr., has filed an amended answer to the complaint of the latter in his suit for divorce which is pending in Superior Court of Buncombe county. In the complaint Lyman charges Mrs. Lyman with adultery, naming Claude Prescott, an artist, as correspondent. Mrs. Lyman denies the allegation and charges her husband with cruel and inhuman treatment. She further alleges that plaintiff has been since their marriage "an habitual drunkard, confining his habits of drinking entirely to his own home and the vulgarities of his drunken and besotted condition to his wife." She says further the Lyman charged her with adultery "upon information imparted to him by his brother, A. J. Lyman; that it afterward came to her knowledge that she was being slandered in the Cosmopolitan Club in Asheville by her husband, aided by A. J. Lyman; and that she then called her husband to account and he broke down and confessed his villainy, and for the first time since their marriage apologized and declared his entire belief in her innocence and in emphatic terms condemned the perfidy of his brother A. J. Lyman." The defendant asks separation, the custody of her child and alimony.

Mrs. Lyman was married in Richmond, Va., in January, 1880, and formerly lived on the magnificent Takkeostee estate near Asheville.

A Happy Ending.—Otterville, Va.—For fifteen years I was a great sufferer from dyspepsia and nothing relieved me until I tried Ayer's Liver Regulator. This is the best medicine in the world. I am now in good health.—Mrs. N. J. Collins. Your druggist sells it in powder dry or made into a tea.

The President has selected Messrs. Walker Fern, of Alabama, and Souverville Tuck, of New York, to serve on the Egyptian international tribunal to fill vacancies caused by the retirement of Victor Barringer, of North Carolina, and Ernest H. Crosby, of New York. These appointments do not require confirmation.

General News.—A statement issued by the Pension Office shows that 20 persons in all have been convicted for connecting with the pension frauds unearthed at Norfolk, Va.

Ex-President Harrison and would-be President McKinley unite in saying that the country is "going to the dogs." This is possibly their way of saying that it is going to the Republicans.

Since Governor Mitchell failed so signally in his efforts to prevent the prize fight in Florida, it is almost too much to believe that he will dislodge the lottery from the foothold it has shrewdly secured in that State.

Atlanta Journal: Another victory for pure politics has been won in New York by the conviction of John Y. McKane, the notorious Gravesend "Boss," for violation of the election laws. This is a good beginning, but it ought to be followed up by the prosecution of some of the bigger bosses.

Messrs. Hall Bros., of Hickory, have assigned. Liabilities are estimated at $50,000; no statement as to assets. They were enterprising, energetic men and we record the failure with regret.

R. V. Sam Jones is holding a meeting at Nashville, Tenn., and an auditor at one of the services last week was ex-Senator Ingalls, of Kansas. After the sermon the Senator shook hands with the evangelist and told him that he endorsed every word of his sermon. This started the report that Ingalls had been converted, but he denies that such is the case.

A special to the Charlotte Observer says W. G. Bronson, a Randolph county farmer, was in Greensboro Tuesday with a load of produce. He drank much whiskey and while hitching up his team preparatory to leaving, fell to the ground. He was helped into his wagon and made comfortable but in a short time it was found that he was dead.

The House when elected was strongly committed to the free coinage of silver, but under the stress of circumstances was forced to take the back track at the extra session. A house as that pressure was relieved the House felt inclined to enact some legislation favorable to the white metal. Mr. Bland has brought forward his bill which gives the opportunity desired. That it will receive the support of a large majority of the Democratic members, even though antagonized by the administration seems entirely probable. And but for the filibustering methods of the Republicans we believe the bill would have been passed.

Read the Following Magnificent Offer.—MONEY MADE EASY, YOU CAN DO IT, SO WHY NOT TRY? We call the attention of our readers to the remarkable clubbing offer in another column by which we can send this paper and the Atlanta Weekly Constitution to the same address for one year for the low sum of $1.50.

This is the only offer of its kind we have ever been able to make to our readers. The Atlanta Weekly Constitution is too well known to need any introduction here. It has won its place at the fireside of the nation as a model weekly newspaper. It numbers on its staff some of the most famous and brilliant writers of the day and on all public questions its lance is ever in rest to defend the rights of the people. It is the largest and most widely circulated weekly newspaper published in America having a circulation of 150,000, and it week. It is in itself an education to those who read it. By the clubbing rate which we offer, our readers can get the Weekly Constitution and their home paper at but little more than the cost of one paper, thereby getting the news of their home and the news of the world every week for a year at an insignificant outlay.

In addition to this, every subscriber to this paper and the Constitution, under our clubbing arrangement, will be given an opportunity to win some handsome prizes.

All these matters are explained in another column. We merely call attention to it here to show our readers what a liberal offer we have to make to them. These offers are made by our arrangement with the Constitution, and only those who subscribe for both papers through this office are entitled to take part in the contest.

This is the most liberal clubbing offer any have ever been able to make, and we feel sure that it will prove immensely popular with our readers.

Much of life's misery is due to indigestion; for who can be happy with a pain in his stomach? As a corrective and strengthener of the alimentary organs, Ayer's Pills are invaluable, their use being always attended with marked benefit.

Newspaper Law.
1. Subscribers press notice to be inserted as washing their subscription.
2. If the subscribers continue the publication of their paper, the publisher may continue to publish all articles and notices.
3. If subscribers neglect to take their papers from the office to which they are directed, they are responsible until they give their bill and order them discontinued.
4. If the subscribers move to other places without informing the publisher, and papers are sent to the former direction, they are held responsible.
5. The courts have a power of suing to take periodic payments or removing and removing un-called for, is Prima Facie evidence of intentional fraud.
6. If subscribers pay in advance we bound to give notice to the publisher of their intention to wish to continue taking it. The publisher is authorized to give the subscribers notice, and until an express notice is received of all arrangements must be made.

The last postal laws are such that newspaper publishers can no longer sue one for fraud when they have refused to pay for their papers. The man who allows his papers to run along for some time unpaid then orders the postmaster to "refuse" and have a postal card notifying the publisher, says himself liable to arrest and fine the same as for theft, etc.

Of Hood's Sarsaparilla is always within the bounds of reason because it is true; it always appeals to the sober common sense of thinking people because it is true; and it is always ready to tell a faux story. The only way to remove the difficulty is to get at the cause. Dyspepsia, rheumatism, impure blood, liver trouble, yield to Hood's Sarsaparilla; this is why it is an effective purgative, a powerful invigorator, and a preventive of disease.

This question is often heard and as often unanswered. It is not always remembered, as it should be, that the occasion of ill-temper and irritability is often to be found in the physical condition of the person affected. What is the use of trying to "harm-nize" a man whose liver has gone back on him? If a man is tortured with rheumatism, how can he be expected to be affable and agreeable? Can a confirmed dyspeptic be expected to be cheerful and always ready to tell a faux story? The only way to remove the difficulty is to get at the cause. Dyspepsia, rheumatism, impure blood, liver trouble, yield to Hood's Sarsaparilla; this is why it is an effective purgative, a powerful invigorator, and a preventive of disease.
