Charlotte Observer, July 28. Rev. W. Y. Love preaches at Coddle Creek, in Cabarrus county. Last week he, with his two youngest children went on a visit to his father in York county, S. C. They drove home in a buggy. When they got to the creek, it swelled a little, swollen, but Mr. Love thought he knew the ford and started in. Soon the horse began bounding, and Mr. Love jumped out, thinking to help him. He found the water deep and while trying to make his way to the horse one of the children cried to him that the buggy was going over. It capsized, catching one child underneath it. Mr. Love was almost panic-stricken, but kept his presence of mind sufficiently to rescue the children. He caught them by the hair of the head and swam ashore with them. The horse and buggy was carried some distance down stream and finally gotten out. It was an experience the like of which Mr. Love is not anxious to have repeated.

Gold to the amount of $200,000 was gained in ordinary business in the West, but this normal gain is being daily wiped out by the continued abnormal export movement to Europe. The balance, which includes the gold reserve, is stated to-day at 11,177,000.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution, assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

Democratic State Convention.

PLATFORM: The Democracy of North Carolina submit to the voters of the State the following declaration of principles, namely:

"Resolved, first, That we reaffirm the doctrines of the party as enunciated by the Chicago convention of 1892; and desire to signify as follows what is the construction placed by us upon the section thereof relating to silver, namely: We hold it is the duty of the law-making department of the government now in the hands of the Democracy to take immediate steps to restore by legislation equal privileges of silver with gold at the ratio of 16 to 1, such being the ratio of coinage which heretofore has held in the United States.

"Resolved, second, That we urge upon the said law-making department of the government the abolition of the unconstitutional and prohibitive tax of 10 per cent, upon the issue of State banks.

"Resolved, third, That, in view of the depleted condition in which the late Republican administration left the Treasury of the United States, presenting as it did such a lamentable contrast to the overflowing condition in which it was delivered by Mr. Cleveland's first administration to its Republican successor, we urge upon said law-making department the immediate enactment of an income tax.

"Resolved, fourth, That we emphatically approve the tariff doctrine enunciated by the Chicago platform.

"Resolved, fifth, That while we are opposed to the slightest qualification, in favor of the Federal government, of the repeal of the 10 per cent. tax on State bank issues, we nevertheless advocate as matter of State policy such regulation and restriction of issues of banks chartered by North Carolina as will secure sound currency.

"Resolved, sixth, That we admire the courage and lofty patriotism of the President, and that we most heartily commend his prompt and effective action under the law for the suppression of the efforts of alien Anarchists to disturb by force and violence the true relations of labor and capital, his sturdy effort to secure the enactment of tariff reform as called for in the party platform, his prompt approval of the bill repealing the Federal election laws, the notable reduction of the expenses of the government under this administration, and the freedom from scandal which has been such a marked feature of his return to the head of affairs.

"Resolved, That we favor the abolition, as soon as practicable, of the internal revenue tax on spirits and tobacco, and if this cannot be done that the harsh and unjust features of the law for its collection be modified.

STATE MATTERS. "We point with pride to the record of the Democratic party in North Carolina, and endorse the present State administration.

"For eighteen years this party has had full control of the State government. It has administered it with the greatest economy, and at all times with any single to the best interests of all the people.

"Coming into favor at the end of the reign of debauchery and crime, it addressed itself to the work of rehabilitation, and its record is one which challenges public admiration. It has rebuilt our public school system, established asylums for the unfortunate, administered justice, promoted our public works, hastened every public enterprise, reduced taxation, and in all respects justified the confidence of those who have trusted it. It has afforded security to life and property, protected both capital and labor in its rights and done all that government can do for the people. No scandal has attached to its administration of affairs. We congratulate our citizens upon their well-reposed trust in it. We congratulate them upon the friendly relations existing between the races, upon prospects of bounteous crops. With this record before them we appeal to them for a vote of confidence this year in the Democratic party.

"Whereas, since the Democratic party of North Carolina last assembled in convention death has claimed Hon. Zebulon B. Vance, the State's most illustrious citizen, it is by this convention

"Resolved, That appreciating his conspicuous abilities and his long and most honorable public services, profound sorrow is expressed on account of the calamity which has fallen upon the State in the event referred to. We admire the noble life, public and private, of this eminent citizen and refer to it as the noblest example of North Carolina manhood."

THE SILVER PLANK CHEERED. There were great cheering at the announcement of the silver plank.

Mr. Caldwell announced that he, speaking for himself, dissented as to coinage under existing condition at the ratio of 16 to 1.

Col. Paul Means moved that the platform be voted on by sections.

On motion of Capt. Coke, the convention by rising vote and in silence adopted the resolution regarding Senator Vance.

Kope Elias attacked the administration plank of the platform as being negative. Col. Paul Means also attacked it and offered three amendments, one being an absolute endorsement of Cleveland. All were voted down and the platform adopted just as it came from the committee.

J. D. Murphy offered a resolution that in the various senatorial primaries be held upon the direction of Democratic county committee.

G. S. Bradshaw moved to table. It was tabled by vote of 694 to 217.

The officers of the convention were thanked, as was also the retiring chairman, Mr. Simmons.

Truth-Telling. It is undeniable that there is some confusion in the popular mind respecting truth-telling and lying, arising from a failure to understand the essential elements of truth and falsehood. So far as the individual himself alone is concerned he may make false statement without lying or he may make a true statement without and yet lie in doing so. The question is of sincerity in the one case and an intent to deceive in the other. All the sordidly about lies, and especially white lies, disappear when tested by the purpose or intent of those uttering them. When a sincere man tells that which he believes to be true he has not uttered a lie, though the statement itself be false. On the other hand, the hypocrite who, keeping within the bounds of truth, insinuates a falsehood by surpassing a part of the truth conveys a false impression and does so with the intent to deceive is an absolute liar, more despicable even those who lie outright with pretense of adhesion to truth. The distinction should be clearly impressed on the minds of children lest they should mistake the form for the substance. Sincerity, honesty, frankness—these are the elements of truth-telling, deceit is the essential element of lying. The harsh measures sometimes used against children to punish them for slight offenses are very often responsible for the development of a habit of lying. The child becomes afraid to acknowledge his offenses, finding it much easier to play the hypocrite and thus win favors than to brave disclosure and a whipping. It is a great mistake to break down a young person's frankness and sincerity by harsh treatment, for there are no qualities which better deserve cultivation. With them he will be naturally a truth teller. Without them he may pay respect to the outward forms of truth as a matter of policy, but will do violence to it whenever it may serve his purpose to do so. It is an impressive lesson to the young sometimes to point out two opposite characters in a community—one respected and trusted the other feared and distrusted—and then get them to find out for themselves what is the difference between the two men. If they are at all discerning they will soon see that one is frank, sincere, honest and that the other is tricky, false in word and deed and very often a hypocrite. The contrast is greater if the men are in the same class of society, with respect at least to worldly possessions. Whether they are rich or poor, a wide gulf is drawn between them—the one has troops of friends, the other only wary and suspicious acquaintances. Truth-telling, which is something more than strict adherence to the letters of truth, is so essential to the formation of good character that the young should be taught to esteem the qualities from which it springs, and not merely be taught by rote the sin of lying.—Baltimore Sun.

Relieved of Boils. I have been troubled with eczema for about 12 years, which grew all the time. I commenced to have large boils about four years ago. My doctor said they were caused from the eczema in my blood. I have taken eight bottles of Hood's Sassaaparilla, which relieved me of boils and improved my general health. A. G. Mitchell, Iona, N. ## Patriotism.

There was never a time that appealed more loudly to any people for patriotic sentiments and deeds, than the present hour is, appealing to American manhood. Patriotism is the only thing that will save this country from precipitation into the vilest of bloody upheavals. The time is ripe; the people are ripe for it. And yet how often, when a man with the nerve to turn aside from the pathway of the crowd and raise his voice against the cries of the common herd, is he hooted down and humiliated by the very people whom he would fill? How often, when a man makes an honest effort, he is called a thief, or a schemer, or a tool of some power.

Such is the condition that confronts American manhood and American statesmanship today. When Grover Cleveland, grand man he showed himself to be, quieted the mob in Chicago, that he was a tool of Wall street went up, and the populist papers of North Carolina heaped vilification and abuse upon him. When he urged Congress to go ahead with the work of tariff reform in accordance with the promises of the Chicago platform, they again said he was a scoundrel, had trifled with the people, gambled on their suffering, and, as a last chance, had advocated a change. Such publications in any country will disgrace it. They poison the hope of the country, they young men, long before they become men. They are sweeping patriotism behind and commanding disorder and chaos to act its part.

In such an hour we feel like asking, feebly and hopelessly though it may be: "Oh, patriots of the past, shake the sod from over their heads and come to our rescue!" The present rage of travel toward the bad will soon land us beyond the hope of reform. Patriots must do something patriotic, or the wolf in sheep's clothing, who now loiters around the National Capitol in business and in all social life, will take possession of the land.
