

BY HELEN KELLER.

H. give thanks unto the Lord, for He is good, and His mercy endureth forever Sing unto Him a new song, for He causeth the desert to put forth blossoms, and the valleys He covereth with greenness. Out of the night He bringeth day, and out of death life everlasting. On this day a new light is upon the mountains; for life and the resurrection are proclaimed forever.

HE bands of winter are broken in sunder, and the land is made soft with showers. Easter day bringeth the children of men near to the source of all light, for on this day the Lord declareth the permanence of His world, and maketh known the immortality of the soul. He hath revealed the life everlasting, and His goodness endureth forever.)

ASTER is the promise of the Lord that all the best and noblest in man shall be renewed even on lord that all the best and noblest in man cease. The bars of winter are broken, and the iron bands of death are riven. The bird is on the wing, and the flight of the soul shall know no weariness. The lilies lift their holy white grails, brimmed with the sunshine of God's love. For has not the Lord manifested His love in flowers and in the upspringing of green things? They are sweet interpreters of large certainties. Each year the winter cuts them down, and each spring they put forth again. Every spring is a new page in the book of revelation, wherein we read that life is an eternal genesis, and its end is not, for it endureth forever.)

HE festival of the springtime is as old as the hope of man. The Jews had their feast of the Passover. The Romans celebrated the Megalensia in honor of mother earth. But not the Jews nor the Romans interpreted the whole message of spring. To the regeneration of earth Christ has added the new birth and eternal youth of the soul. We know that our branch grows in the physical life, but in the soul bears fruit that shall endure, forever.'

ELIEF in eternal life compels us to believe in good deeds and honest thoughts. The good man toils not for to-day, nor for to-morrow alone, but because he knows that his labor shall survive long after his hand has fallen from the plow. The good man pours himself into the world and makes it new. He is among the blessed who win sight out of blindness, order out of chaos and life out of death. Since the first Easter morning the soul of man has shone with unwasting light; for then he looked into the radiant face of the risen Christ, and knew that God's universe shapes itself not to destruction, but to a yet more glorious genesis; yea, it endureth from everlasting to everlasting.

opportunity, will doubtless be satisfied. 'Satisfied! Satisfied! The spirit's yearning For sweet companionship with kindred minds:

The silent love that here meets no returning,

The inspiration which no language finds." . . .

But will all men have this happy immortality, or will it be restricted by conditions? This is a question for the theologians. Science teaches that the fittest survive, and the teachings of the risen Lord make Him the only source of the resurrection. The only man who has yet arisen makes personal relationship of some sort with Himself to be indispensable, but it may be postulated that the demands of nature and of revelation will be found identical, since both are from the same author. It may also be suggested that to persons who are criminal, vicious, satanic, an infinite prolongation of life, with no change of character, would mean an infinite development of unhappiness.

Good work is never wasted when life is viewed as a preparation for eternity. Nothing we learn is to be lost, but will have its fruitage by and by. Benvenuto Cellini, the famous artist, when asked why he had spent so many weeks making a certain miniature carving on a gem, replied that he expected to live forever, and a few weeks was well spent in preparing himself for the , of the pocket to one bag and the other future.

And so the old problem has been solved, and we rejoice at the Easter season, which preserves the historical testimoly of the fact of the resurrection. Our bodies may indeed sleep in the grave, but our souls shall rest in consciousness until the perfect consummation of the general resurrection,

"There is no death. What seems so is transition. This life of mortal breath Is but the suburb of the dark elysian Whose portal we call death.

Hallie took a walk or two With the hares and rabbits, And gave them such a talking to About their careless habits.

She scolded them for jumping so Instead of walking proper, And told them how their noses go When they eat their supper.

And said, "Now you should never let Your ears stick up like that, But you should comb them neatly back And tuck them in your hat."

How to Make the Mysterious Egg Bag. Make two bags, about twelve inches long by six wide, of some dark material, and sew the two together, so that one may be inside the other, and it will appear the same if turned inside out. Next make a number of little pockets, with a cover to each, which may be fastened down by a button and loop. Place these about two inches apart, between the two bags, sewing one side side to the other. Now make slits through both bags about an inch in length just above the pockets, so that the opening is large enough for a hand to go through. Insert your thumb and finger through the slits and open the pockets.

To perform the trick small articles should be put in the pockets, one in each, and the pockets covered over. The bag may now be turned inside out any number of times at pleasure, and it will appear to be empty; indeed, it will thus appear if examined closely by any one of the spectators. You can now cause to appear and disappear any number of articles, much to every one's amusement, as well as amazement. The celebrated egg-bag trick of the magicians who perform in public is done with this kind of a bag.

APPEAL TWILE FARMERS

issued By Commissioner of Agriculture Patterson.

Hon. S. L. Patterson has sent out the following appeal to the farmers of North Carolina:

"To the Cotton Farmers of North Carolina: So much has been said and cone-and wisely-to convince the cotton Tarmers of the South of the advantage to themselves of growing less cotton in 1905 than was grown in 1904, there seems little necessity of saying more. And yet the subject is of such vast importance, so fraught with weal or woe of their material interests, I beg permission of the North Carolina farmers to make one last appeal to them to stand solidly together in support of the resolutions of the New Orleans convention.

"It has been stated time and again -and this statement is true-that the small crop of cotton brings more money, not only per pound, but in gross amount, than the large crop.

"Last year's record breaking crop may prove an exception to this rule if prices advance, or even remain at present figures. But if the government report in June shall show no material reduction of acreage, present prices cannot be maintained.

"There are many estimates, differing widely, of amount of American cotton needed for the world's supply, I give what seems to be a conservative one:

"Europe will need at least 7,300,000 bales; United States and Canada, 4, 200,000 bales; Japan and Mexico, 300. 000 bales. Total consumption, 11,800. 000 bales of American cotton.

"Suppose 12,000,000 bales can be handled by spinners, a surplus of one and one-half millions still remains to depress the market, unless it can be protected by the executive committee of the Cotton Growers' Association Still this one and a half million bales, carried over into next year's crop, if that crop is a large one, will but has peculiar uterine-tonic effects utterly demoralize prices. If the government report shall show another 30,000,000-acre crop, we may expect this panic in prices, and no power on earth can prevent it. The greatest factors now-the only ones, as I see it-maintaining present prices, are the New Orleans resolutions to reduce acreage and the hold of the executive committee on the present surplus. "The farmers have never been ir such an independent position for re ducing cotton acreage. Plant corn peanuts, chufas, cow peas, make for age crops for sale, let the land be idle and save fertilizer bills-anything to prevent such unwieldy cotton sur plus. It will be better for the individual farmer it will be better for the farmers at large.

A Heavy Fine.

Under the Elkins law any railroad company which pays rebates in any, form, or any shipper who accepts them. is liable to a fine of from $1000 to $20,000 upon conviction. It also prohibits the carrying of freight at less than the published tariffs. The Interstate Commerce Commission is empowered to detect and prosecute violators of this statute. President Knapp. of the commission, states that since this law was passed rebate paying has been as rare as forgery.

When you get to thinking that love is a lottery you are likely to prove it by drawing a blank.

Dyspepsia of Women ABSOLUTELY NEEDLESS AGONY

Caused by Uterine Disorders and Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

A great many women suffer with a form of indigestion or dyspepsia which does not seem to yield to ordinary treatment. While the symptoms seem to be similar to those of ordinary indigestion, yet the medicines universally prescribed do not seem to restore the patient's normal condition.

Mrs. Pinkham claims that there is a kind of dyspepsia that is caused by a derangement of the female organism. and which, while it causes a disturb ance similar to ordinary indigestion, cannot be relieved without a medicine which not only acts as a stomach tonic, also.

Easter Morning. I gathered flowers to deck my tomb at

And strewed where hopes and dreams. were locked in sleep; I felt the veil of shadows round me

And wrap me in its folds; I heard the

Of fluttering wings that upward soared to light.

A Jack Horner Pie For Easter.

A Jack Horner pie is something new for Easter, and the little boy or girl who has one will have endless fun with it. It is made in the form of a large egg, all in fluffy tissue paper, a tiny ladder leads up to the top of the

> "I make this appeal with all the earnestness of deep conviction, and to all the cotton farmers of the State whtether or not they belong to the Association.

> "The greatest obstacle in the way of united action is the apprehension among the farmers themselves that they will not all hold together. If each individual farmer will hold together the whole body will take care of itself. The man who will deliberately seek to take advantage of his fellows in this crisis, and, while they are striving for the common good, to advance his selfish interests, is untrue to the cause and unworthy the fellowship of good men.

"It is not worth while to prolong this letter, but in all seriousness and sincerity I appeal to the farmers to cut down their cotton acreage at least 25 per cent., and hereafter to continue to diversify their crops. Such a policy will bring a degree of prosperity to the State such as has not been known

"Commissioner of Agriculture."

The Royal Arcanum.

Asheville, Special.-The Sixth Annual convention of the State Grand Council, Royal Arcanum, came to a close here last week. The closing convention was represented by 41 of the 44 councils now existing in this State, the attendance being about sixty.

The reports showed that the order was in a flourishing condition. Wilmington was chosen for the next place of meeting.

The newly elected officers are the following:

As proof of this theory we call attention to the case of Mrs. Maggie Wright, Brooklyn, N. Y., who was completely cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after everything else had failed. She writes:

"For two years I suffered with dyspepsia which so degenerated my entire system that I was unable to attend to my daily duties. I felt weak and nervous, and nothing that I ate tasted good and it caused a disturbance in my stemach. I tried different dyspepsia cures. but nothing seemed to help me. I was ad-vised to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial, and was happily surprised to find that it acted like a fine tonic, and in a few days I began to enjoy and properly digest my food. My recovery was rapid, and in five weeks I was a well woman. I have recommended it to many suffering women.'

No other medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement, or has such a record of cures of female troubles, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

THE FISH BRAND SLICKER A VALUED FRIEND

"A good many years ago I bought a FISH BRAND Slicker, and it has proven a valued friend for many a stormy day, but now it is getting old and I must have another. Please send me a price-list." (The name of this worthy doctor, obliged to be out in all sorts of weather, will be given on application.) HIGHEST AWARD WORLD'S FAIR, 1904. A. J. TOWER CO. TOWERS Boston, U. S. A. TOWER CANADIAN COMPANY, Limited ASH BEND Toronto, Canada Wet Weather Clothing, Suits, and Hats for all kinds of wet work or sport

"I write to let you know how I appreciate your Cascarets. I commenced taking them last Novem-ber and took two ten cent beres and passed a tape-worm 14 ft. long. Then I commenced taking them again and Wednesday, April 4th, I passed another ispe worm 28 ft. long and over a thousand small worms. Previous to my taking Cascarets I didn's know I had a tape-worm. I always had a small appetite."

starting Remedy Co., Chicage or N.Y. 59 ANNUAL SALE, TEN MILLION BOXES

80, 16.

BY REV. W. S. SAYRES.

NOK F a man die shall he live

animal, and like an animal he must through moral unfitness and unrepentcease to exist. The dramatist, indeed, ed vileness. had visions of a dreary, shadowy existence in the underworld, but it was | The resurrection of Christ was lackhope.

The effect of this on morals was ter- progress a necessity.

present, but not the final result. Man's horizon was enlarged until it was bounded only by infinity. The expansive power of the resurrection on human thought and life can hardly be 2 again?" has been the ques- measured. Human progress dates from tion of the ages. Men have the resurrection. The burdens of life tried in vain to answer it. are lightened. In the perspective of NON Philosophers have reas- eternity, the world assumes its proper oned, poets have dreamed, size. Present sorrow may be endured great souls have hoped, but all with- "for a night if joy cometh in the mornout any certainty. The analogies of ing." Death becomes a mere incident. nature, the requirements of justice, a passing onward, a new birth, the the sense of artistic or scientific unity, grave but the gateway of life. The efhave shown the probability of immor- fect was also seen at once in morals. tality, and that only to the few. But Crime, injustice. wrong, would be there was no convincing proof of any- judged. Responsibility would be dething beyond the grave. Man was an manded. The new life might be missed

the plains of Asia and the isles of the ief inspired enthusiasm, extinguished

the pains of martyrdom, and converted the empire itself. The knowledge of a future life brought a new force into the world. Modern civilization is the

What wonder that the new be-

* * *

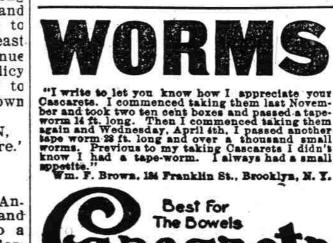

only the life of ghosts, and was not to | ing in nothing to make it complete and be compared even with the present life. | attractive. It was not only a rising Most touching, indeed, were the epi- of the spirit, but of the body as well. taphs on heathen graves, "Farewell and the new body was not the natural Forever, O Brother." The world was body, but that body spiritualized, enfull of those who longed "for the dowed with new powers, independent touch of a vanished hand and the sound | of earthly forces and restrictions, and of a voice that was still." Difficult, in- | yet real and tangible. It was not a deed, is it for us to put ourselves in phantom, but changed indeed in nathe position of those who knew of no | ture, still recognizable as the same in future life. The gloom of a limited ex- appearance and feature as before, with istence was unrelieved by any back- the print of the nails and the wounded ground of light. This world was all. side. Without this, indeed, the resur-There was no hope. Some few, like rection would have been incomplete. the Stoics, proudly made the best of A ghostly existence had no attractiveit and when life became too hard ended ness for us. The perfect man consists it by self-destruction. Some, like the of body and spirit, and with the capac-Epicureans, adopted the motto, "Let us | ity to realize again the touch of the eat and drink, for to-morrow we die." | vanished, hand and to hear the sound A rare few, like Plato, hoped against of the voice that was still. Thus future recognition becomes a certainty and rible, and degrading. The animus of It is interesting to conjecture what idolatry was either fear, or lust, or will be the nature of our future condi-

Easter Morning. This beautiful picture is reproduced from the painting by the well-known artist, Alexander Ender. I only crouched down in the gloom to egg, and on it are perched little yellow The crescent moon swung up the starry lots of little gifts filled with candy.

chickens. There are more inside. And since the war. "S. L. PATTERSON, ings, and at last by iniquity.

time," when the world had had time lieve that each soul will find some to prove its helplessness and the futil- work that is congenial and in the line ity of its systems, and was ready for of present tastes. The universe is so the truth, the light came.

* * *

song, was the story of the resurrection. ness, for activity is necessary for hap-The glory of the risen Christ be- piness. Nor will men of a practical wildered the world with its unspeak- turn be required to spend an eternity able gladness. Men had not looked for playing on harps. It is reasonable to this: The golden light streamed all at once through the open gates of Heaven, and in that light the enigmas of life were clearly read. Human life was not a tragedy, but a poem, a drama, where the last act was an end- love to minister in works of mercy, to less life of glory and activity. The old faiths were but the broken tomb. ment in their special calling. the empty grave clothes, that broken. bands that had blinded and fettered human life and freedom. What the artistic creator may be employed wonder then that the disciples eagerly in fashioning new worlds. In fine, sped into all the lands preaching the speculation finds no limit to the possiresurrection, carrying the good news ble and probable fields of future ac- novelties this year?" of the victory over death into the for- tivity. Powers and capacities that are both conjoined. The unknown gods tion and occupations. We can do this were to be placated, at first by offer- only partially. The child cannot comprehend the man's thought, nor the But when at last, "in the fulness of animal, the man's. But we may beinconceivably vast that there will be an infinite scope for every man to exer-Beautiful as a vision, sweet as a cise his genius. There will be no idlesuppose that men with a talent for Seadership and governing will have some field in which to govern and lead. "Ye shall judge angels." The teacher may teach in other worlds. Those who alleviate suffering, may find employ-Music, poetry, art, science, philosophy will not be lost out of that life, and ests of Europe, the wastes of Africa. here felt, but are dormant for want of as last year

steep, Tears and repining blinded all my sight. sense

I slept and dreamed, the hours throbbed won and on.

A song-bind woke me caroling its lay, The dew-genmed flowers caught the frankincens song; it was the Easter dawn Of chime and And love had rolled the stone of grief away

-Emma Playter Seabury.

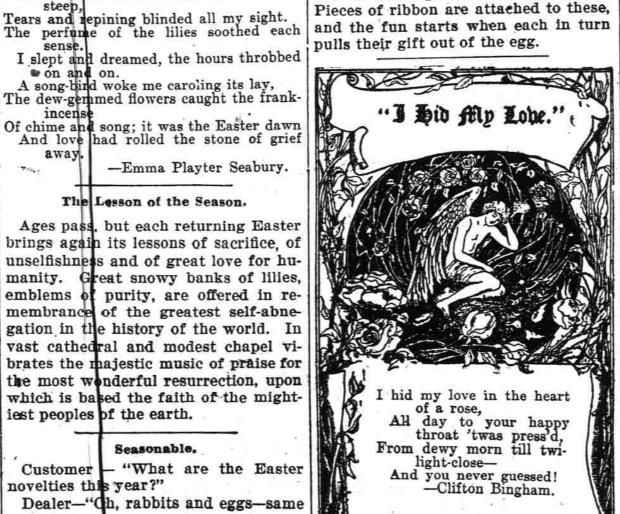

The Lesson of the Season.

Ages pass, but each returning Easter brings again its lessons of sacrifice, of unselfishness and of great love for humanity. Great snowy banks of lilies, purity, are offered in reemblems membrance of the greatest self-abnegation in the history of the world. In vast cathedral and modest chapel vibrates the majestic music of praise for the most wonderful resurrection, upon which is based the faith of the mightiest peoples of the earth.

Seasonable.

- "What are the Easter Customer -

Dealer-"Ch, rabbits and eggs-same

Grand regent, Dr. E. H. Brooks. Reidsville; past grand regent, D. M Miller, Salisbury; Grand Vice Regent, S. M. Brinson, Newbern; grand orator, H. E. Bonitz, Wilmington; grand guide, J. T. Hedrick, Lexington; grand chaplain, F. W. Hancock, Oxford; grand secretary, Dr. J. H. Way, Waynesville; grand treasurer, A. M. Powell, Raleigh; grand warden, J. W. Norwood, Raleigh; grand sentry, H. C. Chedester, Asheville; grand trustees. Dr. V. E. Weyher of Kinston, A. J. Evans of Statesville, T. W. Slocumb of Goldsboro; additional supreme representative, H. C. Dockery, Rockingham; alternate, D. M. Miller, Salisbury.

Tar Heel Topics.

Attorney General Gilmer received Friday morning the famous South Dakota bonds, or rather the North Carolina bonds, for the collection of which South Dakota sued this State and received principal and interest amounting to $27,400, that was recently paid over to the clerk of the United States Supreme Court. The bonds have been turned over to the State Treasurer.

they are not advertising pamphlets, booming special fertilizers, but are authoritative treatises. Sent free for the asking. GERMAN KALI WORKS New York-93 Nassan St., or Atlanta, Ga.---22% South Broa