If the whole picture is painted black there remains noth- ing whereby to single out the ras- cals for the distinction from their fellows. Such paintings finally inducees a kind of moral color- blindness; and people affected by it come to the conclusion that no man is really black, and no man really white, but they are all gray. In other words, they neither be- lieve in the truth of the attack, nor in the honesty of the man who is attacked; they grow as suspicious of the accusation as of the offense; it becomes well-nigh hopeless to stir them either to enthusiasm for what is right; and such a mental attitude in the public gives hope to every knave and is the dispair of honest men. —Theo.
