Mr. O'Connell's Address.

James O'Connell, president of the International Order of Machinists, delivered an address Saturday night at the court house. Mr. O'Connell is spoken of by those who heard him, as a fluent, entertaining speaker. The WATCHMAN is informed that his speech was quite conservative, and that he presented some sensible facts regarding the relation between capital and labor, but that like the majority of speakers on his side of the question, he looks at a number of things through the wrong end of the telescope. His speech, in the main, is spoken of as an intelligent presentation of his subject from the standpoint of unionism.

NEGROES TO BE TRIED.

Gentle on Trial. Owen's Case Goes Over Till Next Term of Court.

Yesterday was a busy day in court, and several important cases came up.

The case of Charles Brady, who has been in jail for some time, charged with a murderous assault on John Owens, was continued until the next term of court. Brady was released from custody on giving bond for $300.

The trial of Gentle was set for 2:30 o'clock. It was the intention of Solicitor Hammer to try him for murder, but he decided to try him on the charge of jail breaking. L. H. Clement, Esq., is assisting in the prosecution, while Hon. Theo. F. Klutz and P. S. Carlton appear for Gentle. The jury to try Gentle is composed of the following citizens:

A. L. Hall, H. I. Hoffner, John A. Sloop, L. D. H. Brown, J. R. Guffey, W. L. Steele, A. J. Cauble, Jas. G. Hoffner, W. M. Jamison, J. F. Ritchie, E. W. Kerr and G. E. Moore.

The first witness called by the State was H. C. Kenerly. This witness stated that he was in Salisbury on the night of August 6th; saw the defendant that night out where the negroes were lynched; only know what he told me; Gentle came up to me in the street as near as I can remember from the direction of the negroes. He seemed to be sober and said the reason it took them so long to get the negroes was because they were not all in the same cell. Gentle said as soon as he got to the jail old Nease knew him. He wouldn't confess any thing till they got him out to the ground, Nease said to him that he used to work for his daddy and he oughtn't to do this. Gentle asked him if he did that up yonder, he said he did, and then we swung him up.

Solicitor Hammer did not want to take any chances on the recent special term of court being declared illegal by the Supreme court, so he had the cases of Geo. Erwin, John Gillespie and Della Dillingham presented to the grand jury at this term. They had witnesses before them yesterday afternoon, and if they bring in true bills against these negroes, they will be placed on trial at the conclusion of Gentle's case.

The remains were taken to Jerusalem, Davie county on Monday, and the funeral was held at the Baptist church there in the afternoon.
