SALEM ACADEMY.

Jack Frost has come at last with his glass eyes and took all that was green.

A great deal of cotton will not open till late.

The wind has been blowing since started out for they blow all their wind out of them. That's all they can do.

We still have a great deal of cloudy weather and rain.

The cotton gins can be heard in full blast all around.

P. S. Klutz has the frame of his new two-story house up.

Burt Peeler bought a fine mule last week.

C. W. Graham bought the old Jim Burkhead place and will move in his new home in a week or so. He will also run a saw mill.

J. M. Albright has rented the John Harkey place.

Smith Cauble's baby has been quite sick.

There is an exciting county campaign now on, but that need not worry you in the least, for J. O. Houston will get there all the same.

Their has been but little corn gathered around here and but little wheat in the ground yet.

P. S. Klutz sold seven bales of cotton and will have three or four more.

Purity, veracity, honesty and charity are great things which cannot be too highly valued. Those who value them at all are coming to value them more than ever before, perhaps because they seem to be becoming more rare. Now that we again have the privilege of casting our votes for the choice of men who are to fill high positions of trust and responsibility, both in the national and State governments, let us, as Christian citizens pay due regard, to the character of candidates as well as to their platforms. When party policies differ so little as to make it easy for one party to appropriate the issues of the other without repudiation of its own, we may find that we have greater liberty than ever in casting our votes for the right men, without the sacrifice of our political convictions. The best remedy for graft, the only real remedy is to keep grafters out of office. The man who does not stand for the basal principles of Christian character cannot be counted upon to make or enforce sound laws for the protection and development of life, property and happiness. The man who is not pure, temperate, true, honest and charitable, is not fit for any position of trust, either political or financial. We can afford to be exacting in these particulars of men who offer themselves for public services; we cannot afford not to be exacting.

TRADING FORD.

Golly, but didn't it rain the other day.

Some wheat is being sown, but the prospects are for a small crop.

The recent frost played havoc with the cotton. There will be no more white cotton to open. It looks now as if good cotton would bring 12 or 14 cents per pound.

We had a chat recently with Uncle Tom, from Yadkin Ripples. He likes to smoke a 2 1-2 cent cigar and tell jokes as good as ever. Just what all bachelors like.

We are glad to note at this writing that Mrs. M. A. Cornelison is much improved. It seems now that she will get well.

We are sorry that Miss Lucy Barrier, of Gold Knob, will not teach the winter school here. It is not definitely known yet as who will teach. Miss Josie Cornelison, of this place, will be assistant teacher in the school.

Some of the tenants here are moving already. They expect to get into their new quarters before cold weather.

We have been making hay for over two weeks and are not through yet. If the editor needs anything of this kind this winter we will take him a fork full.

GOLD KNOB.

Oct. 22.

That dreaded cabbage snake has made its appearance again. This time while Miss Frances Trexler was cutting up a head of cabbage she found a well shaped snake, of a whitish color about the size of a sewing thread and about seven inches long. Be careful how you eat cabbage.

Miss Lizzie Trexler, daughter of T. J. M. Trexler, of this place, is very sick at her home with fever.

The Harvest Home service which was to have been held at St Peter's on October 27th, was postponed till a later date.

While playing in the yard with her little sisters, little Myrtle Barger, daughter of Jno. H. A. Barger, of this place, had the misfortune to break her leg just below the knee. The little girl is doing as well as possible.

Jno. M. Brady is getting out lumber for a large barn.

Miss Clara Proctor is sick with the chills.

Not until a man has a hand-to-hand fight with his neighbor does he feel that it is better to give than to receive.

FAITH.

The Reformed church missionary sale will take place here November 3rd, on Saturday. Rev. Shuford Peeler will make an address at 11 a. m., just before the sale commences.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Adolphus Lippard, a young house-keeper.

Whitehead Klutz, one of the best orators of the State, made an address at Faith on the issues of the day, and Hodge Krider made an address at the same time.

John R. Ludwig who was recently married, has just awarded the contract to D. A. Wiley for his new residence to be erected on his two-acre lot, near his father's home.

Hon. R. N. Hackett, spoke to a good crowd here Saturday evening, on the political issues of the day.

It continues to rain and cotton is so badly damaged all over the country.

We visited at W. S. Earnhardt's recently. He is one of those farmers who has plenty of everything around him. His big, new barn is filled full of the best pea-vine hay and fodder.

George Hoffner is letting several young men work up some of his granite on a royalty, and it brings him a nice sum of money.

How to Cure a Cold.

The question of how to cure a cold without unnecessary loss of time is one in which we are all more or less interested, for the quicker a cold is gotten rid of the less the danger of pneumonia and other serious diseases. Mr. B. W. L. Hall, of Waverly, Va., has used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for years, and says: "I firmly believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be absolutely the best preparation on the market for colds. I have recommended it to my friends and they all agree with me." For sale by James Plummer, Salisbury, and Spencer Pharmacy, Spencer, N. C.

HIGH GRADE REPAIRING.

We can safely assert that the public in general know who does the most difficult watch, clock and jewelry repairing in the best possible manner, and it is done at our three stores.

We started business three years ago with only one workman, and we now have seven. Our repair trade has grown to such proportions that we cannot turn it out fast enough. We will add one more first-class watch maker and engraver at our Salisbury store, making four watch makers for the one store, and will then be able to deliver all work promptly, and at time promised, so continue to crowd us with work as we are prepared for it.
