Moved to Salisbury. Mrs. M. E. Kelly moved to Salisbury Tuesday where she will make her home. Our people regret to lose her and her interesting family. But she goes to be with her children who are employed in Salisbury. We hope ere long they will all return to the old home.—Mookeville Courier,

THE THANKSGIVING DINNER

How the Table May Be Suitably and Cheaply Decorated.

Richness and fullness are the keynote of the Thanksgiving feeling. To express this feeling at the Thanksgiving dinner nothing is better than a cornucopia or horn of fruitfulness and abundance, always used by the Greeks and Romans as the symbol of plenty. It should be overflowing with fruits and flowers, which overflow upon the table. It may be made of wire at a florist's for a dollar and covered with vines or leaves or tissue paper, says the Chicago Tribune, or it may be covered with nougat or filled with candy fruit, candy oranges and grapes, marrows and other nuts.

A pumpkin in the middle of the table is another favorite centerpiece and can look most attractive if scooped and filled with all the fruits of the season, well combined as to color, the grapes drooping gracefully over the sides and a few lily on the table. Gold and red and brown chrysanthemums are handsome in a pumpkin.

If the dinner be given at night the candle shades may be homemade out of ordinary paper and trimmed with flowers and vines, or they may be made of wall paper and trimmed with a gilt band. If neither candles nor table lamps are possible, either bring the chandelier down over the table so that its softly shaded light may be evenly distributed or hang a lamp in the same way from the ceiling.

A table may be decorated with chrysanthemums, and in the center may be the ship Mayflower. The cards may bear sketches of Puritan maidens or pilgrim fathers or colonial scenes. The menu may be a faint reminiscence of the first Thanksgiving meal, which is said to have included oysters, turkey, succotash and game.

How to Carve a Turkey.

To carve a turkey a thin, sharp bladed knife and a platter of sufficient size to hold the fowl and its disjointed portions are necessary to enable the carver to work with neatness and dexterity, says the Denver Republican. Generally the head is to the carver's left, as the wings and legs are more easily disjointed with a stroke from the left to the right. If the company be small and the bird one of good size, carve from one side only. The other side may be reserved for slicing cold. The first move of the carver is to insert the fork astride the breastbone at the point, plunging it deep enough to secure a firm hold. Then remove the drumstick with one stroke of the knife, first cutting through the skin down to the joint, hitting it squarely. It is a little difficult to locate this joint, but by pressing the leg away from the side of the turkey it is readily found. It is claimed that the turkey carver does not remove the fork from the breast until he has quite finished. Be that as it may, it is quite necessary to use the fork in separating the thigh from the drumstick, and the hip is a favorite part with many. To accomplish this make a V shaped cut toward the joint, holding the thigh against the side of the turkey with the fork. The drumstick drops off neatly into the platter. The next stroke removes the wing. A deep cut through the ball and socket joint severs this with a part of the breast meat. If the knife does not strike the joint at first, move it back and forth, pressing the wing away from the body, disclosing the ball of the joint; then a cut through, and the wing is detached. When this process is completed the disjointed portions are laid to one side of the platter or put on a separate plate to allow of free space for slicing the breast meat.

These resolutions we submit as a Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy to be sent to Mrs. Hayes and to Mrs. Hayes' children.

To be also spread upon the recording secretary's books of the Robt. F. Hoke Chapter and to be printed in our city papers.

Mrs. Jas. M. Tiernan, Hon. president; Mrs. John S. Henderson, president; Mrs. Thos. B. Beall, 1st vice-pres.; Mrs. E. B. Neave, 2nd vice-pres.; Mrs. F. J. Murdoch, 3rd vice-pres.; Miss Bessie B. Henderson, cor. sec.; Mrs. William H. Overman, rec. sec.; Mrs. C. R. Barker, treasurer.

Committee:—Mesdames. Thos. Murphy, J. O. White, S. S. Cole, Misses Leonora Crawford, Eleanor Watson, Julia Crouch, Mary Ferland Henderson, Rosalie Bernhard.

Appeal to be Heard.

The case of George Hall, who was convicted and sentenced to the penitentiary for 15 years, on the charge of breaking into the jail on the night of August 6th, will come up before the Supreme court this week. Hon. Theo F. Kluttz, of defendant's counsel, took an appeal from the lower court on the ground that Governor Glenn had no authority to call a special term of court while he was out of the State, the Governor being in New Jersey at the time the order was made.

Accidentally Shot.

A special from Spencer gives an account of the shooting of Conductor Sink, of the Southern, on last Friday night. It seems that he was in his room with several friends, and the party was examining a pistol. In some way the weapon was accidentally discharged, and the ball entered the knee of Conductor Sink. The victim of the accident was removed to the sanatorium here, last Saturday, for treatment.

Dr. Wharey Here.

Rev. J. M. Wharey and his wife are now located here in the manse of the First Presbyterian church. Dr. Wharey will occupy the pulpit of this church until Rev. J. H. Grey is able to resume his pastorate, which will probably be about the 1st of January. Dr. Wharey is well known and needs no introduction to the people of Salisbury.

How to Make Turkey Gravy.

To make turkey gravy take three pints of cold water, two tablespoonfuls of butter, two tablespoonfuls of salt, two tablespoonfuls of flour, half a spoonful of pepper, the neck, liver, heart and gizzard of the turkey. Wash well and place in a stewpan with water. When the water boils skim it. Simmer for two hours or more. There should be about a pint of liquid at this time. Take up the giblets. Mash the liver until perfectly fine and return to the liquid. Place a frying pan over the fire, containing the butter. When hot add the flour and stir until brown. Add to this the liquid in the saucepan, stirring all the time. Season with salt and pepper. Pour this sauce back into the saucepan, cover and set back where it will keep hot. When the turkey is cooked, pour the gravy from the dripping pan into this sauce. Serve in a hot dish.

How to Make Thanksgiving Candles.

To make bayberry candles for Thanksgiving it requires a quart of berries to make one candle, says the Providence Journal. They should be kept in a dry place till ready to use, then put into a preserve kettle, allowing two quarts of water to one of berries. They should be boiled for four hours, filling up the kettle with hot water as it boils away. Then set it back where it will simmer awhile and at night set away to cool. In the morning the wax will have formed in a large cake on top of the water, and after melting and straining through a piece of fine lawn or cheesecloth it is ready to pour into the candle molds. These candles give out a sweet aromatic odor, which perfumes the room.

How to Make Hardwood Floor Polish.

For hardwood floor polish mix together in a bowl set in hot water half a pint of turpentine, two and a half ounces of powdered resin and three-quarters of a pound of beeswax. Do not let these ingredients come in contact with fire while being melted, as they are all inflammable. When melted apply with a soft cloth and polish with a brush.
