Glenn-Bynum Fight.

Greensboro, April 30.—There was a rather interesting scrap in King's cigar store here tonight, the participants being ex-Postmaster Tyre Glenn and ex-Judge W. P. Bynum. It is said the altercation grew out of a discussion of the relative goodness of ex-Senator Marion Butler and ex-Congressman Spencer Blackburn. After a few words were exchanged the remarks became of a personal nature. Mr. Glenn struck Judge Bynum on the hat with a cane and Judge Bynum knocked a cigar out of the ex-postmaster's mouth. Friends held them apart. No warrants have been issued for either.

Congressman Blackburn was down town today for the first time in weeks. He was seen on the street in company with L. C. Wagner of Statesville.—Special to Charlotte Observer.

Just at this time there seems to be a more than usual religious interest among the people of this community. Two revival meetings are in progress, one at the First Methodist church, conducted by Rev. E. J. McLarty, and the other at the tent, conducted by Rev. R. E. Neighbor and Miss Millar. Large congregations are present at all of the services and it would hardly be fair to say that more than a very small per cent attend the meetings through motives of curiosity. We all trust that great good may result from the efforts now being made to raise men to a higher and nobler plane of living.

A fair association would be a good thing for Rowan county, provided it was properly officered and wisely managed. It should also be conducted solely for the purpose of the better development of the agricultural resources of the county and to promote a sort of friendly rivalry among the farmers and stock raisers. Politics, nor anything savoring of politics should have place in it. These county fairs, when operated and controlled by public spirited citizens, have proven of inestimable benefit in many sections of the country. They not only afford farmers a fine opportunity for meeting to exchange ideas, to examine and comment upon the products of each other, but they give outsiders a better understanding of the real resources of a county or section, than they can otherwise. We trust the agitation for a fair association for Rowan county may bear fruit. It will, if the farmers throughout the county take an interest in the matter.

Serious Trouble Feared.

Panama, April 29.—Advice received here from Ecuador are to the effect that serious trouble is expected in that country as an incident of the Congressional elections which are set for May 5. The government has already suppressed an incipient revolutionary movement in Quito, but the last reports indicate that dissatisfaction has spread and outbreaks are expected in several points.

YADKIN VALLEY RIPPLES.

April 29th.

Farmers are rather backward with their work on account of the cold and wet weather. Most of the fruit is killed but black-berry pies are coming all right.

L. T. Yarbrough has bought two lots from the bridge company and has built a new house and barn.

L. M. Miles, of Greensboro, has accepted a position at the pump house. The railroad company will remodel the old watchman's house across the river for him.

N. N. Lockhart has been detained in Asheville for over a week, on account of sickness in his family.

Lane Bros. & Company's colored camp is quarantined on account of smallpox.

This lovely valley will soon be one of the largest railway centers east of Chicago. Trains will soon be running over the new bridge. We have two telegraph offices, one on each side of the river, two stores that are doing a thriving business, a ballast pit where they employ a good many hands, both mechanics and laborers, the railroad company has laid another pump line, placed a water column, built a 60,000 gallon tank and are installing new and up-to-date machinery in the pump house, and the farmers are all planting large water melon patches.

The night pumper thinks that he is the worst imposed on man in creation. He once pulled the badger for the entertainment of a large crowd in Texas and said for God's sake don't let them find this out in North Carolina. He came very near buying a carload of cattle from a confidence man in Chicago. Some carpenters out in Dakota sent him on snow shoes from house to house all over the neighborhood looking for a round square, but a little call boy at Spencer, in the role of an important official, made him believe that the principal part of the shop crew was to be discharged for listening to his witticisms over the phone. His heart bled for these unfortunates until he discovered that it was all a joke, then it is said he offered the day man a dollar to kick him all the way home and put him to bed. If ever too timid or too bold, just jg along and blame yourself if you are sold. This has been a queer April anyway.

UNCLE TOM.

A. B. Lingle, Esq., is now assisting George Fink in a big mercantile sale at Mocksville. Mr. Lingle has agreed to deliver an address at the closing exercises of the Barger school house on Ascension day, May 9th, and will be back in time to do so. Mr. Lingle's many friends will be glad to know that no disappointment in this line awaits them.

A Statute to General Gordon.

Atlanta, Ga., April 20.—Arrangements were completed today and a programme adopted for the unveiling of the equestrian bronze statue to be erected on the Capitol grounds here to the late Gen. John B. Gordon. The unveiling will be preceded by a military pageant composed of State troops, with State Treasurer R. E. Park as chief marshal.
