FACTS ABOUT THE OCEAN.
Water Often Freezes From the Bottom Upward.
The oceans occupy three-fourths of the surface of the earth. A mile down in the sea the water has a pressure of a ton to every square inch. If a box six feet deep was filled with sea water, which was then allowed to evaporate, there would be two inches of salt left in the bottom of the box. Taking the average depth of the ocean to be three miles, there would be a layer of salt 440 feet thick covering the bottom, in case all the water should evaporate. In many places, especially in the far north, the water freezes from the bottom upward. Waves are deceptive things. To look at them one would gather the impression that the whole water traveled. This, however, is not so. The water stays in the same place, but the motions go on. In great storms waves are sometimes forty feet high, and their crests travel forty miles an hour. The base of a wave (the distance from valley to valley) is usually considered as being fifteen times the height of the wave. Therefore, a wave twenty-five feet high would have a base extending 375 feet. The force of waves breaking on the shore is seventeen tons to the square inch.—Tit-Bits.

Died From Overwork at 84.
Mrs. Anna Farrell, of Greenville, near Appleton, believed that at 84 years she was just as able to work as when she was 60 years old. She tried to demonstrate this theory last Friday and worked all day with a threshing crew. That evening she was taken ill and died Saturday morning.
Mrs. Farrell never wore shoes. In summer she preferred to go barefoot and in winter was accustomed to wear rough sandals.—Milwaukee, Wis. Dispatch.

Constipation
Baked sweet apples, with some people, bring prompt relief for Constipation. With others, coarse white-bread will have the same effect. Nature undoubtedly has a vegetable remedy to relieve every ailment known to man, if physicians can but find Nature's way to health. And this is strikingly true with regard to Constipation.
The bark of a certain tree in California—Cascara Sagrada—offers a most excellent aid to this end. But combined with Eperisan Senna, Ripery Elm Bark, Solid Extract of Prunes, etc., this same Cascara bark is given its greatest possible power to correct constipation. A toothsome Candy Tablet, called Lax-ets, is now made at the Dr. Shoop Laboratories, from this ingenious and most effective prescription. Its effect on Constipation, Biliousness, Sour Stomach, Bad Breath, Sallow Complexion, etc., is indeed prompt and satisfying.
No griping, no unpleasant after effects are experienced, and Lax-ets are put up in beautiful lithographed metal boxes at 4 cents and 25 cents per box.

Desperate Fight Between Man and 13-Foot Snake.
Being almost whipped to death by a coach whip snake is the experience claimed by J. A. Mordant, a well known citizen of Marshall county, Ala. Mr. Mordant, in speaking of the incident, said he had been calling on his pastor and when walking towards home through a cotton patch, he came upon a snake that measured about 18 feet in length. Seizing a rock he threw it at the snake and when the reptile showed fight he turned and ran, but the snake overtook him. The snake made two coils around the man's body and began to whip him. Mordant had nothing to defend himself with but a small knife and for a time he was doubtful whether he would be whipped or squeezed to death before he could inflict a fatal wound on the reptile. Almost exhausted he sunk to his knees and succeeded in cutting the snake's head from the body. He was exhausted by the experience, but after recovering he came upon the mate of the dead snake. This time there was no battle because Mr. Mordant was the best sprinter.

Murdered in Sight of Husbands.
Mrs. Henry Holmes and Mrs. U. G. Munsell, of Springfield, Mass., delegates to a convention of bible students at the Jamestown Exposition, were run over and killed by a switch-engine on the Norfolk & Western in Norfolk, within sight of their husbands, Saturday night. The engine backed out of a warehouse, across Main street, without headlight or guard. Their clothing caught on the brake beam of the tender and they were dragged along and mangled, screaming horribly for help. Their husbands were on the scene and a sight followed that the bystanders will never forget. Helmes tried to jump into the harbor and drown himself.

The Dead Beat Worse Than a Thief.
J. A. Stikelather and W. L. Stikelather, of Olin, write the Statesville Landmark as follows:
Your airing of "The Bad Debt Agency's work in Statesville and Iredell is touching a responsive chord in the hearts of all good citizens wherever your paper is read. Let the good work continue. (As has been explained, not the unfortunate class, but the indifferent and independent ones are catching it, and they need to catch it). If there is any difference between a thief and a man who makes a debt and then works the plans to not pay it, the thief is the best man of the two; or rather, the man who won't pay his debts when he can is the worst man of the two. Newspaper men, ministers, physicians, merchants, and indeed all classes of our fellow citizens, have suffered for generations past because of many peoples' indifference and blame along this line. There are many who pose as fairly good citizens who are really worse than sneak thieves. The time is fully ripe for puncturing this abomination of abominations.
God speed you and all others engaged in this good work.

In The Valley of the Yadkin.
In the valley of the Yadkin where the morning glories bloom,
Where the air's cool and bracing at the approach of harvest moon:
There I like to stop and listen to the river's murmur low,
In the valley of the Yadkin where the morning glories grow.
In the valley of the Yadkin, when the frost is in the air,
There is where I like to wander and to drive away dull care,
There is something that inspires me as I on my journey go,
In the valley of the Yadkin where the morning glories grow.
In the valley of the Yadkin, where grows the peach, plum and vine,
The corn, pumpkin and the apple, and the lordly muscadine,
While the cotton fields are white and the persimmon is aglow,
In the valley of the Yadkin where the morning glories grow.
There is naught on earth but gladness, in this valley bright and fair,
There has never been a sadness for it does not harbor there.
Where the air is cool and bracing, and the fields are white as snow,
In the valley of the Yadkin where the morning glories grow.

Colored People All Indians.
Since it was learned that the government has some money belonging to the descendants of an extinct tribe of Indians who once roved this neck of the woods numerous white people claim to have Indian blood flowing through their veins and the colored population are likewise placing their claims and their dollars with the lawyers who attend to their business. Nearly every negro in Surry county has been taken in by these wily lawyers, and many of them whose ancestors were in the jungles of Africa four generations ago are now ready to swear that their forefathers wore war paint and wielded the tomahawk. The lawyers will no doubt get the dollars and the victims the experience.—Mount Airy Leader.
