FAITH.

Faith, Feb. 25.—Mrs. Maggie Capps and Miss Mary Phillips, of Dunn, Harnett county, N. C., are visiting at John D. A. Fisher's. Mrs. Capps is a daughter of Nathan Phillips, a former citizen of Faith, and Miss Phillips is a granddaughter. They expect to visit several of their relatives while in the county. This is their first visit here.

Rev. O. B. Heller gave the contract to Peeler, Bame & Co. to furnish the granite posts to enclose his large lot, a wire fence will be added to the granite posts and it will be an everlasting fence.

A party of capitalists in Philadelphia are preparing to open a granite quarry near here on the Frick mountain.

Little Treda Gant, daughter of L. A. Gant, has pneumonia, but is improving.

February 25th, 1908, J. T. Wyatt received another order for a four-foot pair of millstones, a three-foot pair have just been finished and will be shipped by him tomorrow.

Stop that tickling Cough! Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure will surely stop it, and with perfect safety. It is so thoroughly harmless, that Dr. Shoop tells mothers to use nothing else even with very young babies. The wholesome green leaves and tender stems of a lung healing mountainous shrub furnish the curative properties to Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. It calms the cough, and heals the sensitive bronchial membrane. No opium, no chloroform, nothing harsh used to injure or suppress. Demand Dr. Shoop's. Take no other. Grimes Drug Co.

Bulgarized.

The Post Office, at Granite Quarry was bulgarized last Tuesday night, but the robbers were unable to succeed in entering the safe, which they rolled from the office into a rear lot. On account of their lack of success, the robbers are supposed to be amateurs. Wesley Brown who conducts a store in the same building, lost quite a lot of jewelry. No clue as to the perpetrators has been found although some suspicious characters were seen in the neighborhood that day.

Col. Z. P. Smith Will Speak at Rockwell.

Gold Knob, N. C., Feb. 26.—Owing to the inclemency of the weather Col. Z. P. Smith, who was billed to speak on the objects of the Jr. O. U. A. M., postponed his lecture until Tuesday night, March 8d, 1908. Bro. Smith will address the public at Rockwell in the Junior Hall on the above date. The public is cordially invited to come out and hear the noted speaker. You are welcome. Other councils are invited to appear in a body.

Respectfully,
 ARTHUR L. KLUTZ,
 Councilor Rockwell Council No. 170.

Prohibition Will Help.

A recent death in this city calls to mind two other deaths from a similar cause—the drinking of whiskey which has been adulterated with the deadly poison, wood alcohol. A citizen of a town, some little distance south of here, died last night from the effects of wood alcohol drinking, and a year ago a white man from Manchester died in his cart in Fayetteville from the same cause.

The physician who attended this latest victim and deceased brother told an Observer reporter to-day that it is a well-known fact that much of the so-called corn whiskey, which is sold around here, is adulterated with wood alcohol, which can be purchased at a price cheaper than the cheap corn whiskey. This is indeed a fearful revelation. Is there not some way to prevent this awful crime?—Fayetteville Observer.

Strong Drink Must Go.

We hear a call to arms, each one, And for the fight prepare; The battle surely must be won; Strong drink we cannot bear.

The call goes forth, we must obey, And in the battle go, And fight for those who're led astray By drink, their deadly foe.

We see our friends, and loved ones too, Bound down with chains of steel; The links are forged with still-house dew. The horrors now they feel.

We see our boys, with nerves unstrung, Staggering home at night; They, by the viper, have been stung; Oh, what a dreadful sight!

They meet some one out on the street, 'Tis not a friend you know, And to the bar-room, there to treat Each other, they will go.

They spend their money there for drink, That drags them down in shame, And makes their future lives to sink Below a decent aim.

But to the bar-rooms they will go, And drink the deadly rum, Until from out their mouths will flow, The loathsome, filthy foam.

A mother's prayers they will not heed, Her tears they will not see, Strong drink has bound them fast indeed; From it they will not free.

In shame they stagger on the street, And in the ditches fall; Their shame is now almost complete: Strong drink caused it all.

Their wives at home, with breaking heart, Their lonely vigils keep; Each step they hear will make them start, And in their misery weep.

Their children's cry for bread is heard, While clothing they have need; His anger they would have incurred, If with him they did plead.

With savage hand he strikes his child, And curses on it heap; Strong drink has made him mad and wild, Damnation he will reap.

And in his rage he strikes his wife, The hard and cruel blow, That breaks her heart and takes her life.

Strong drink, the deadly foe, Drink, his manhood has destroyed; His health is ruined too; Of common sense he now is void, His life is almost through.

Disease is taking hold, and soon From earth he'll pass away; The grave to him will be no boon; In torment he must stay.

His children, left without a home, No one for them to care; They, through this sinful world must roam;

Oh strong drink, Oh beware! So to the battle let us go, With banners floating high, Nor falter as we face the foe, But sound the battle cry.

Strong drink must go, 'tis wrought enough, Misery and disgrace, Drive out the awful, deadly stuff And let it have no place.

Heap high the votes that count so much To drive the demon out, Let whiskey feel their mighty touch, It must be put to rout.

And when the battle has been fought, And we our arms lay down,— This awful traffic brought to naught— We'll wear the victor's crown.

ALWAYS A NEW ONE

Every time you see one of our advertisements it is a new one, but it is advertising the same old sterling household remedy, Gowan's Pneumonia Cure. This preparation grows daily in public esteem. It is external and can do no harm. It is cheap, 25 and 50 cents or one dollar for the big bottle, and all druggists sell it. One lady customer has written us at Durham that she is pasting our advertisements in a scrap book, as she wants to know what will come next. If everybody wanted to know what would come next and prepared for Pneumonia, Croup, Colds, and Appendicitis, by having a bottle of Gowan's on hand, the census taker would get more names next time he goes round.

The Great Cost Sale Continues at The Big Clothing Store.

Owing to the fact that we still have too many goods for the season of the year, our cost sale will continue for a few weeks longer. The large crowds which have daily visited The Great Clothing Sale, carrying away with them numbers of bundles, must be well satisfied with the bargains we have given them, for we are selling our entire stock at cost, as advertised. Everybody should take advantage of the low prices we are making and lay in their wants for several seasons to come.

Be Wise and Act Quickly.
