

THE CAROLINA WATCHMAN.
SHORT LOCAL ITEMS

Col. Paul B. Mears, of Concord, was a visitor here last Saturday.

Frank F. Smith, of Lenoir, came down to have a look at the fair last week.

Several cases against Rowan county citizens in the Federal court at Statesville last week, were continued until next term.

Don't forget that the next governor of North Carolina will address the voters of Salisbury on the 29th, to-morrow morning.

Everyone regrets that the bad weather prevented the fair from being the financial success it would have been and deserved to be.

The public schools of the city opened Monday morning with the largest attendance ever known on opening day.

The registration books were closed last Saturday night. It is stated that comparatively few new voters were registered.

The danger from scarlet fever being considered past, the schools of the city opened Monday.

Archibald Hedrick has been selected as teller of the Wachovia Bank here, to succeed the late W. M. Johnston.

A. L. Lingle, it is said, will make a number of political addresses in this and adjoining counties between now and election day.

The lot sale at Henderson Place will be continued until all the lots are disposed of.

F. P. Roesch made a talk Saturday night in East Spencer. Mr. Roesch possesses several good qualities as a speaker and one of them is his earnestness and his power to impress his hearers that he tells them what he really thinks.

Mrs. Sallie Fink died Saturday at the home of her son, George Fink, near the western part of the city. The deceased was about 80 years of age. The funeral service was held Sunday afternoon at Zion Chapel.

Last Wednesday evening, at the home of the bride's father, John I. Shaver, Miss Bessie Shaver and G. G. Swartzel were united in marriage, Rev. E. K. McLarty officiating. The couple left after the ceremony for a short bridal trip.

Rev. M. M. Kinard, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church, has returned from a visit to relatives in Georgia and South Carolina. Mr. Kinard occupied his pulpit as usual, on last Sunday.

Judge Pritchard was in town a short while last Thursday. He was on his way to Thomasville to make a speech, presumably a political one.

W. D. Graham, of Miranda, was awarded the first prize for the best display of farm products at the recent fair. Mr. Graham was awarded a similar prize at the fair last year.

A negro known as "Dog Eye" Johnson, together with his wife, have been sent to jail from the mayor's court on a charge of larceny. The couple are said to be connected with the thieves who have recently stolen so many goods from the stores here.

Last Sunday evening the Children's Missionary Society of Union Lutheran church had full sway at this church. A very interesting programme had been arranged, which was rendered very effectively. There were songs, recitations, etc., and all were given in a most creditable manner.

W. M. Ruth has taken a position as traveling agent for the Standard Sewing Machine Company. His territory will be western North Carolina. Mr. Ruth is a good salesman and knows about all there is to know about sewing machines, so his success in his new field of operations is virtually assured.

Victor's Royal Venetian Band, a combination of splendid musicians, gave a concert, in the opera house Thursday night, under the auspices of the Graded School, it being the first of the lyceum attractions for the season. The entertainment was excellent in every respect and was greatly enjoyed by all present. Prof. Griffin deserves to be congratulated for securing such a high class attraction.

Captured at Last.
Leo Wallace has been considered rather out of the running, so far as his desires to enter the matrimonial field were concerned. In fact his closest friends have regarded him as a confirmed bachelor. It seems, however, that cupid has proven too strong for him and he has gracefully surrendered to the charms of a Richmond lady, Miss Ella Cohen. The engagement of this young couple has just been announced and the wedding will no doubt occur in the early subsequent.

Moved to Concord.
Messrs. C. A. Dry, of Spencer, and H. Frank Mills, of this city, are today opening out a line of general merchandise at the Gibson Mill, occupying the old D. J. Bost Company store. Mr. Mills will have charge of the business, and the style of the firm will be Dry and Mills. The stand is a good one and the public will give them the glad haul into the business arena of the city.—Concord Tribune.

Died in Salisbury.
J. C. Snider, of Lexington, Ky., died in Salisbury Friday. The remains were sent to Lexington Saturday morning, for interment. The deceased came to this state in the hope that his health might improve and had concluded to remain here until after the fair. He was taken seriously ill last Wednesday night and though the best medical attention obtainable was given him, it proved of no avail. Mrs. Snider reached here shortly after the death of her husband.

Committed to Jail.
A man named E. K. Napier was given a hearing in the mayor's court last week, on a charge of forgery and sent to jail in default of bond. The man presented a check for $32.40 to Wm. Urbansky, who is the proprietor of a pawnbroker's establishment on Council street. The check was drawn on the People's National Bank and had the name of C. M. Brown signed to it. Suspecting that the check was a forgery, Urbansky communicated with an officer and Napier was placed under arrest. The prisoner stated in the court that he had been in a gambling game the night before and that the check had been given him by a man whose name he did not know. The check had the endorsement of J. B. Johnston. Napier asserted positively that he did not endorse the check. He was given a reasonable time in which to locate the man from whom he claimed to have received the check, and not being able to do so he was committed to jail.

North Carolina Sends $6,000.
Monday evening T. H. Vanderford, financial agent for North Carolina of the National Democratic Executive Committee, sent off another remittance to assist in the election of Mr. Bryan as president. The total amount Mr. Vanderford has received and sent to the National Committee thus far is nearly $6,000.00. This, with the amounts that were sent direct to Chicago from other points, brings the total amount contributed by the good people of North Carolina up to fully $8,000, and possibly a little more. This is a good showing for the Old North State, as little of this money has been spent within her borders, besides this the old State will give Mr. Bryan about 60,000 majority next Tuesday. Indications now point to Bryan's election, but whether he is elected or not, North Carolina will have covered herself with glory. Mr. Vanderford deserves the thanks of the party for his able and successful canvass for funds.

A Boquet for the "Colonel."
A recent number of the Virginia Standard, an insurance publication, states that John A. Howard, of this city, who is connected with the Life Insurance Company of Virginia, has written more business during the past year than any other agent of the company in the United States. This is a great compliment to Mr. Howard and his work has certainly demonstrated his efficiency as a valuable man in the field of industrial insurance.

Every Democrat Urged to Do His Full Duty.
TO THE VOTERS OF THE 8TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT:
The election is upon us (Tuesday, November 2nd) and all signs point to a splendid victory for Bryan, Kitchin and Hackett. All that is now necessary is for every Democratic voter to do his duty, not only by voting himself, for the entire ticket but by exerting himself to secure a full Democratic vote at his precinct.

May I not ask each of you to do this? While I earnestly desire the election of the entire Democratic ticket, National, State, Congressional, Legislative and County, I especially ask you to see that the Congressional ticket, which is on a separate ballot, is not overlooked or neglected. Mr. Hackett has made us a splendid representative in Congress, is able, eloquent, a true Democrat, in thorough sympathy with the people, and deserves to be re-elected by an increased majority. It is only the votes which are cast that count.

Killed by Train.
J. P. Redwine, who was a resident of the Chestnut Hill section, was killed last Monday morning between 6 and 7 o'clock, by a freight train. Mr. Redwine was walking along the railroad track near the intersection of the Yadin road and the main line. It is not known whether he was directly upon the track or walking along on the ends of the ties. The freight train was going north and had to take the sidetrack at Salisbury for north-bound passenger train No. 44, due at the station at 7:10. The outgoing Yadin freight train came along and Mr. Redwine in getting out of its way and not observing the one going north, was struck by the latter and almost instantly killed. Mr. Redwine was walking north, on the ends of the ties, with his back to the incoming train, and giving his undivided attention to the outgoing Yadin train, was not aware of the train approaching in his rear, nor did the engineer have time to stop his train. The funeral was held yesterday morning, Rev. J. A. J. Farrington officiating.

The Fair.
It is a matter of much genuine regret that the bad weather of last week interfered with the success of the fair. It is not known, except to those interested, just how the financial status of the fair is, but with good weather we all know it would have been much better than it was. The fair was excellent, and many of the features which were so objectionable last year were eliminated. There was some gambling, and there always will be in connection with any fair which may be held. Taken altogether the fair was most creditable to the directors. One gentleman, who has traveled much and seen a great deal, told THE WATCHMAN that the chicken exhibit was the finest he ever saw and that the agricultural and cattle exhibits were a credit to any fair. With good weather Thursday and Friday the fair would no doubt have been as great a financial success as it was a success in other particulars. We all trust the directors and those interested may reap the harvest their efforts deserve. Even with all the disadvantages it had to contend with, the fair was a credit to Rowan county.

The Close of the Campaign.
This week will wind up the political activity in Rowan county. There has probably been a more energetic campaign conducted in the county this season than we have experienced for years. Young and old have taken hold, they have been filled with enthusiasm and now they are cooling off and waiting for the result. There will be something doing here tomorrow, however, as Mr. Kitchin will speak in Salisbury at 11 o'clock and he will have a great crowd to hear him. There will be speeches made by different Democrats at various places in the county, each night for the rest of the week, but it may be said that the most of the hardest work is over. People generally, over the county, have availed themselves of the many opportunities presented to hear the issues of the campaign discussed, and most of the voters have already determined for whom their ballots will be cast. There will be some talks made in the county as late as Monday night, the Democrats being determined to carry the fight right up to election day. But no matter whether your mind has been made up or not, let all who can come out to-morrow to hear the speech of North Carolina's next governor.

New Advertisements.
V. Wallace & Sons, the big clothiers and wholesalers, are among our most reliable business people. They want a portion of your patronage and their ad. in this paper is an invitation to you to call.
