Entered as second-class matter Jan. 19th, 1898, at the post office at Salisbury, N. C., under the act of Congress of March 3rd, 1879.

SALISBURY, N. C., Nov 4, 1908.

Have you noticed the disappearance of the panic?

So we are to have four years more of Taft, tariff and trusts.

The American people seem to be completely in the hands of the trusts and the foreign voters.

Who would have thought that old Rowan, the backbone and mainstay of the eighth congressional district, would lay down as such an inopportune time?

It is certainly bad enough for Hackett to have been beaten by a thoroughbred but to be kicked to death by a mule seems to be the limit of political ingratitude.

It is gratifying to know that the prompt and energetic action taken by Geo. Patterson, of Tenn., has resulted in the arrest of a number of men said to have been concerned in the recent lynching of Capt. Rankin. If these men are guilty there will be some legal executions before long in the Reel Foot Lake section.

The case of Will Graham, the negro charged with an assault upon a young girl near Concord, will be called for trial to-morrow. Threats have been made as to what might be done to Graham by an infuriated populace. The authorities, however, have caused it to be loosed abroad that they will protect Graham from a mob, and that any attempt to take him from the officers of the law will be met with armed resistance. It is plain that the Cabarrus officers mean business.

The entire Democratic ticket for county officers is elected. The official returns cannot be obtained for publication in this issue, as the majorities received by the different candidates cannot be given. The State ticket was elected, of course, by a large majority. Some of the counties have elected Republicans to the legislature but there will be sufficient Democratic majority in both houses to insure the return of Senator Overman to the United States Senate. The Democrats of the county, with comparatively few exceptions responded finely to the call of duty. This, however, was no more than was anticipated, for with a ticket composed of candidates nominated fairly and squarely good Democrats could not do otherwise than support it. As we go to press the Republicans are making strong claims for the election of Taft and indeed the returns so far received indicate that the claim may be well founded. But our Republican friends are so accustomed to claiming everything in sight that we must expect this. The full official returns will be necessarily slow about getting in and it will be advisable to refrain from any shouting until the result is definitely known. Some of the States whose electoral vote will have an important bearing on the question, are still in doubt with both sides claiming them.

After the Shysters.

One the most contemptible things to be found is the browbeating of a witness or a man on trial by some legal shyster. Often if he does not get the answer he wants to some senseless question he will bellow like a bull at the witness and speak as no decent man would speak to another. Why judges and magistrates will allow a pettifogger to take advantage of the protection of the court to speak as they do to witnesses and people on trial is more than we can understand. And the contempt of the world for one who will take advantage of such protection to say what he would not dare say away from the court, is not concealed. —Associate Reformed Presbyterian.

REMEMBERED HIM.

An Occasion Which the Recipient of Gift Will Not Forget.

It is always pleasing to be remembered by one's friends, and one of the most pleased men in this regard in Salisbury last week was Station Master George N. Waitt. Mr. Waitt came here not long since from Norfolk to take the position of station master at the new depot. He is a fine gentleman and he has already made friends with all the Salisbury folks with whom he has come in contact. Last Saturday a committee selected from his former railroad friends in Norfolk came down and presented him with a handsome gold watch. A small brochure containing the names of those who contributed to the nice gift, accompanied the watch. Together with the following very tender tribute of esteem and affection:

"Esteemed Sir:
Our fellow employes of the Southern Railway of the Norfolk division while rejoicing in your being called to a more pleasant position than that of conductor, which you have filled with honor and credit to yourself for so many years, have feelings of sincere regret that the change means the severance of those relations which have grown stronger and more cordial as the years pass by. Desiring to express to you in some material way our sincere appreciation of your uniform courtesy and kindness, of the many words of cheer given to the moral and religious truths you have inculcated both by your Christian living and the spoken words of advice, we ask you to accept at our hands this watch and chain as a token of our love and esteem, and when you look at its face you will be reminded that time flies, that you may not again be permitted to meet with us here on earth, but you can like ourselves, look forward to a joyous meeting in the Great Beyond, where there will be no ties to sever and where parting is unknown.
The seed you have sown in your Master's cause while here will certainly bear fruit. It is our hope that you may be long spared to work in His vineyard in your new field of labor.
T. B. SUMMER,
JOHN T. GARNER,
JOHN DUFF,
committee."

The Mother and Her Child.

Ask the mother who holds in her arms her boy, what her ideal is concerning him, and she will tell you that you she desires that his heart may be so pure that it could be laid upon a pillow and not leave a stain; that his ambition be so holy that it could be whispered in an angel's ear; and that his life may be so clean that his mother, his sister, his wife, his child, could read a record of its every thought and act without a blush. But ask her if she will require this perfection in her son before she showers her love upon him, and she will answer, "No." She will tell you that she will make him as good as she can; that she will follow his footsteps with a daily prayer; that in whatever land he wanders her blessing will abide with him; and that when he dies she'll hope, hope, yet hope that the world will be better that he has lived. This is all that she can do. All that any of us can do for ourselves or for others is the best that opportunity and circumstances permit.
—W. J. Bryan.

Look Out for the Germs.

A man who has taken the trouble to count 'em tells us that 124,000 bacteria roost comfortably on each $1 bill after the currency has been circulating freely for a year or so. So if you have $50 in your pocket you are probably carrying around about 6200,000 germs. Yet there are men brave enough to face this terrible risk just for the sake of having a roll of greenbacks. It simply shows what dangers man will undergo for money.
Most of us, however, are not in serious danger. We do not discredit the man who tells us the germs are on the bills. He is a personal friend of the germs and has seen them at home, right on Currency street. But many of us see a large amount of paper money so seldom that we don't mind feeling the bacteria wriggling around on it for a little while. For we generally spend it before the germs have time to bite us. —Baltimore Sun.

Is It Straight Goods?

It is stated that Sam Massey, the negro now under sentence of death, for an assault upon Lucy Houser, is doing the crazy stunt. It may be genuine or it may be assumed, but all the same Sam sees things in his cell in the jail. He is said to be afraid to lie down at night because Lucy Houser calls around and amuses herself by sticking his body full of pins. Those who know him best and those who have observed him closely are of the opinion that he is very weak mentally. A petition has been sent to the governor asking a commutation of his sentence on this ground.

Got Clothes and Thief.

Earle Thompson had occasion to visit Concord last week and while there had a very unusual experience. While passing along the street his attention was attracted by seeing two negroes engage in a fight. He went to the scene of the disturbance and discovered the combatants were mangling each other in a quarrel over a suit of clothes of his, which had been stolen from a pressing club here. He arrested one of the negroes and later brought him to Salisbury and delivered to an officer. The negro, whose name is Arthur Banks, was tried in the mayor's court and sent to jail in default of bond, to await the action of the Superior court.

Opening of the Owen's School.

School will begin at the Owen's school house, Monday morning, November the 9th, 1908, at 8:30 o'clock. Miss Maggie Hooker is the principal and Miss Mary Ramser the assistant. Both these young ladies are of China Grove, N. C.

On Wrong Trail.

Sheriff Summers spent two hours in Salisbury last night in consultation with Conductor Magnus and the Pullman car on No. 35 last Saturday night from which car it was thought that the dead child found beside the railroad Sunday had been thrown. The conductor said he had heard of the affair in Chattanooga and immediately recalled that there was not a single suspicious character on his car and there was no evidence that birth occurred on the train. A railway detective who was on No. 35 Saturday night looking after other matters also says he saw no suspicious person on the train. Therefore the theory that the new-born babe was thrown from train receives a knockout blow.—Statesville Landmark.

FOR COUGHS AND ALL THROAT AND LUNG TROUBLES.
GUARANTEED SATISFACTORY OR MONEY REFUNDED.

It isn't so difficult to strengthen a weak Stomach if one goes at it correctly. This is true of the Heart and Kidneys. The old fashioned way of dosing the Stomach or stimulating the Heart or Kidneys is surely wrong! Dr. Shoop first pointed out this error. "Go to the weak or ailing nerves of these organs," said he. Each inside organ has its controlling or "inside nerve." When these nerves fall then those organs must falter. This vital truth is leading druggists everywhere to dispense and recommend Dr. Shoop's Restorative. A few days test will surely tell! Sold by Cornelison & Cook.
