SALISBURY, N. C , June 29, 1909.

The fourth of July is gradually becoming more of a day to celebrate throughout this section than heretofore. The day will be celebrated at Rockwell; Kluttz and Menius' school house, near China Grove, at Union Church, and possibly other points in the county on Saturday, July 3rd.

When we see a business man asking for patronage on circulars he has had printed out of the city we loose all interest in advocating the purchase of supplies from home merchants. It seems to us, the next best thing to advocating the purchase of all possible surplies from the home merchant would be to advocate that al good citizens who want to see their town grow, refuse to buy anything from the man whose advertising matter is printed beyond the borders of his home town. There is no excuse for such conduct in Sal isbury.

Winecoff Has a Sale.

As may be seen by a large ad, in today's paper A. W. Winecoff is conducting a very attractive, bargain-giving sale. / This sale will continue for several days yet and it might be worth while to look over his ad. and give him a call You can hardly find a place where you will be given more courteous treatment or better goods for your money. Winecoff's sales are always attractive to those who seek big, genuine bargains.

The First Cotton Bloom.

Monday morning, June 28th, we were shown the first cotton blossom for Rowan county, so far as reported to this office. It was brought to this office by J. A. Sloop, the popular mail carrier, and was grown by Abe Torrence, a worthy, hard working Negro, who farms four miles from Salisbury, in Litaker township, near Mr. Sloop's residence. Prizes won by honest toil are always the most commendable.

Big Lot Sale.

It may seem a little off to have a land sale just at this particular time, but such is, nevertheless true. And why not, right now is probably the best time for several years past in which to purchase real estate. The West Virginia Land Co., as may be seen by their big ad on the last page of this paper is responsible for this enterprise, and E. R. Morrow is managing the game. You can see him at the Empire Hotel,

Franchise Granted.

It is learned from the Concord Tribute, of recent date that the Salisbury citizens, who are enterested in a proposed street car line for Concord, have been granted a franchise. It will be remembered that the matter was held up temporait, but it seems that at the board of alderman of Concord all objections were removed. There was some struggling on the part of those opposed to the franchise, but the Satisbury men won out, One condition of the must be commenced on the line in sixty days.

IN MEMORIAM.

FRANCIS JOHNSTONE MURDOCH.

At a meeting of the vestry of Saint Luke's Church, Salisbury, N. C., held Thursday evening, June 24, 1909, the following minute was unanimously adopted:

With heartfelt sorrow, the vestry gives expression to the universal grief of the Parish on account of the death of the beloved Rector of Saint Luke's Church, Francis Johnstone Murdoch. Now that he has left us, we begin to realize how entirely the parish and the other congregations under his charge depended and leaned upon him. His business capacity was remarkable, and he left nothing for another to do that he could do himself. Thoughtfulness and consideration for others was his distinct characteristic. He was a man of positive opinions and convictions, and he was fearless in expressing them. His heart was as loving and tender as a child's. He seemed to bashy and reserved in his manner and often absent minded; but he was easily approached. They who knew him best loved him most, Men of every faith and of no faith frequently consulted him about matters of consience and personal religion; and none who thus sought his counsel and advice failed to receive comfort. He was a good man and was continually and quietly going about doing good. We believe he aided in educating and training more hoys and young men for the ministry and for other useful vocations than any one new living in the State. Not even his family knew how much he was always doing to help his fellow men. In rendering aid, he knew no distinction of race or creed. Those of us who were intimately associat- Dr B T Atkins, Council, N C open account ed with him knew of many of his F A Ames Carriage Co, Owensboro, Ky, good deeds; but God alone know Meses Archie, note,

His life as a soldier had much | P W Brown open account, to do in moulding his character. At the age of fifteen, on April 27, 1861, he enlisted as a private in Company E of the celebrated Bethel First North Carolina Ragiment. In February, 1865, in Charleston, S. the whole extent of them,

The personal influence he exerted was far greater than appearauce indicated. No sacrifice was too great for him to make in behalf of a friend. He would have been willing to lay down his life for his faith in Christ, for his life was hid with Christ in God.

All who habitually listened to his sermons agree that he was preeminent as a preacher. We doubt whether the Diocese of North Carolina ever produced a man more gifted or more intellectual. If he had desired preferment, he might have attained the highest honors the Church could give. He had many of the characteristics which would have made him a great Bishop.

In this Paris and county, and in every congregation where he ministered, he laid foundations broad and deep. Other men may build upon these foundations and reap the fruit of his labors. His life was an incessantly busy and active one, but not long enough to enable him to carry out his plans. He was taken away suddenly, but we feel sure he was ready for the
