

FARMER'S UNION COLUMN.

This column is set aside for the use and benefit of the Locals of the Farmer's Educational and Co-operative Union of America. Secretaries and other reliable parties are invited to hand in contributions that will be of interest to the members.

Write on only one side of your page, be brief and always furnish us with the true name of the writer.

Send us the news of your Local Mr. Secretary.

How about a co-operative dairy? A co-operative cotton gin, cotton mill, plow factory, buggy and wagon factory?

Two Locals in the St. Paul neighborhood have made arrangements to conduct a grocery and dry goods store. Charles R. Julian will probably have charge of it.

The Local at Gold Knob is making strides to a greater and better lodge. Several new members have recently been initiated and it bids fair to succeed in its efforts.

There will be a public meeting of the Union local of the Farmers Educational and Co-operative Union of America at Union Academy near Union Church, on Saturday, August 14th, at 6 p. m.

J. W. Parks of Spencer, will explain the purposes and benefits of the Union. Come, and bring your friends.

ROCK.

Plenty of rain. The rain is helping the corn. Cotton is growing rapidly for the last two weeks.

Farmers are turning land for wheat and oats.

A. W. Shuping is putting up his dwelling in Rockwell. He may move there if he decides to leave the farm; his farm is well fixed and is a beautiful place to live.

J. L. Stirewalt has plenty of watermelons.

Litaker township Sunday School Convention was held at Rook's Grove Church Saturday the 7th. The convention was well attended and all who were in the church were benefited and enjoyed themselves.

Rev. Simpson preached at Rook's Grove yesterday afternoon. He was one of the first to preach at or near this place, long before the church was built. SAW.

Liquor Question Still Troubles.

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 6.—Chief Justice Jones has called a special session of the State Supreme Court to meet here August 12, to hear the application for the injunction against the holding of the despicable election on August 17. The rule will be directed against the Charleston county election commissioners, and is asked for in the name of Thomas Jellico, of Charleston.

The petitioner alleges that the act calling for the election is unconstitutional, the specific attacks being on the ground that the purpose of the act is not expressed in its title, and that the act is class legislation, giving to certain of the counties the privilege of holding the election and withholding the choice from the counties now dry.

T. H. Vanderford, Sr., was in Concord Monday and put a force of men at work on the new street car line.

A New Concern.

The Harper Livery and Sale Company is the latest incorporated institution for Salisbury. It has an authorized capital of $50,000 and its incorporators are: J. P. Harper, president and general manager; J. D. Heilig, first vice president; M. J. Ragland, secretary and treasurer. The directors: J. P. Harper, J. A. Caldwell, D. H. Mahaley, M. J. Ragland, H. A. Bernhardt, J. D. Heilig, T. W. Summersett, S. T. Dorsett, Thomas Murphy, R. Linn Bernhardt and R. L. Avery.

The charter grants the right to buy and sell live stock, vehicles, harness, etc., at wholesale and retail, to operate auto-mobile lines, etc. The president, J. P. Harper, is a man in whom everybody has implicit confidence and his business ability has been thoroughly demonstrated in this city.

Elderly Couple has Hard Luck.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. White, an aged couple, who live near Rocky River, about seven miles from here, were taking a ride in a buggy one evening last week when some part of the harness broke, and both got out of the buggy to fix it. While they were at work on the harness, the mule in some way got entirely loose from the buggy and dashed off into the woods. Mr. and Mrs. White followed, and after vainly trying for some little time to catch the mule they attempted to return out to the road to their buggy, but soon found they were lost in the woods. It being then dark they concluded it was better to stop where they were and spend the night than to ramble about the woods. Mrs. White when asked how she fared through the night, said being very tired she pillowed her head on her husband's bosom and had a very good night's rest and sleep and did not get chilly, though the night was cool and Mr. White had no coat and she no shawl or wrap. —Chatham Record.

Cotton in San Domingo.

O. C. Benbow, who left Greensboro several weeks ago for San Domingo on a prospecting trip has returned and is greatly impressed with what he saw on the island. He went out with the intention of possibly engaging in the lumber business in San Domingo, but when he ascertained the trouble of getting out lumber and the expense of working it up, he changed his mind and turned his attention to other channels. Mr. Benbow is impressed with the idea that the production of cotton is about the most profitable business that can be followed in San Domingo, owing to the fact that there is no frost on the island, two crops a year can be grown and it appears that it is never necessary to replant, the plants growing into trees and reaching a height of 15 or more feet. Despite the ease with which cotton is produced, Mr. Benbow says there is not a gin on the island, and consequently the industry has not been developed. Mr. Benbow is investigating the matter of establishing a big gin at some point on the island. —Greensboro correspondence Charlotte Observer.

CHANGE OF BUSINESS.

Mr. Harry Deitz, of Augusta, Ga., has Purchased the Business of N. P. Jacoby.

Mr. Myer Deitz, of Augusta, Ga., to-day bought out the clothing business of N. P. Jacoby, at 115 North Main street, for his brother, Harry Deitz. These gentlemen will continue the business at the same stand, next door to Saleeby's Candy Kitchen, but will improve and enlarge the business at once.

Mr. Jacoby sold out his business on account of his health, but will continue to be a resident of Salisbury.

Mr. Deitz and brother come highly recommended and we bespeak for them a cordial welcome Aug. 9th, '09. 4t.
