

THE CAROLINA WATCHMAN
SHORT LOCAL ITEMS

Policemen Eagle, Jordan and Siesloff arrested a man by the name of P. nett here on Saturday, on charge of horse stealing sent here from Roids ille, and policemen Davis came over from there Sunday and got him.

Ex-Sheriff D. R. Julian, who has been very sick for this past week seems to be rapidly sinking and is reported to be in a stupor this morning.

Cotton is bringing 1487c on the Salisbury market to-day.

Sunday, October 31st, was Jubilee day with the Lutherans the country over, being the anniversary of the establishment of Lutheranism in the world. The day was fittingly observed by the Lutherans here, Dr. C. G. Voight, of Charleston, S. C., one of the leading men of the church preached morning and night to large audiences at St. John's Church, in this city. In the morning his text was from Neh. 8: 18. In evening he delivered an address on Lutheranism as a religious force in the United States. Dr. Voight is a splendid speaker and his words were received with close attention by his hearers.

Mrs. E. Frost, of Caus, Davie county died in Salisbury Wednesday morning, at 1:45 o'clock, and her remains were taken to Caus on the morning train. Mrs. Frost came here some time ago for treatment for an incurable disease and it was this to which she succumbed. She is spoken of as a most estimable woman. She leaves a large number of kindred and friends, among whom is E. Walber Tatam, of this city.

News was received here on Wednesday of the burning of Milus Miller's barn, seven miles east of Salisbury, early Wednesday morning. All the stock in the barn was saved, but a wagon and quite a lot of feed stuff was burned. Mr. Miller does not know what caused the fire. He was insured in the Farmers Mutual of Rowan for $25 00.

The engine on No. 29, which arrived here at 1:50 a m jumped the track at the switch at the end of the passenger station Thursday morning and run about an engine length on the cross ties, tearing the track up pretty badly. The engine did not turn over, but was damaged pretty badly and was sent to Spencer for repairs. No one was hurt.

A social meeting of the membership of St. John's Lutheran church was held at the church on Wednesday night, and a large crowd was present. The object was to have the congregation to come together and become better acquainted. Light refreshments were served and the occasion was thoroughly enjoyed by every one that was so fortunate as to attend.

Harvey Yancey, formerly of Gold Hill, has bought from W. T. Rainey his house and lot on South Main street. Mr. Rainey is today moving to his house on West Bank street, which has been occupied by Dr. R. V. Brawley.

A dwelling house on the farm of J. C. Black, about 2 1/2 miles south of town, was burned early this morning. The house was formerly occupied by Moses Mesimer, but we have not been able to learn whether any one was living in it at the time the fire occurred.

Two Small Fires.

There was a small fire at the home of Douglas Mahaley on east Council street about 11 o'clock on Monday morning. The firemen responded promptly and it was soon extinguished, only a portion of the roof being burned. The loss was probably $150 from fire and water.

An alarm had been sent in from the south ward earlier in the morning which drew the firemen out, but it proved to be only some leaves that some one was burning on East Bank street.

A Modern Job in Shelby.

Shelby has a modern job in the person of John Hartgrove, who has had 112 boils on his person since he was last, and the end of his affliction has not yet seem to be in sight. Notwithstanding his affliction Mr. Hartgrove has continued at work, although the boils varied in size from that of a partridge egg to as large as a hen egg—Shelby Star.

WORK OF THE REAPER.

F. V. Barrier and Lewis E. Vogler are His Latest Victims.

News was received here Friday of the death of L. E. Vogler at Berkley, Va. No particulars were given. Lewis Vogler, as he was commonly known to the town and country friends, is as well known in this and adjoining counties as any man in it. He has been a successful produce trader on the streets and through the county for more than 40 years and his honesty and good nature made him friends where ever he went. He was about 60 years of age and leaves a wife and eight children. His remains were interred at Berkley.

It was with profound regret that the city heard of the sudden death of F. V. Barrier, which occurred Friday afternoon at his home, corner of Council and Jackson streets, at 2:30 o'clock. Mr. Barrier had been up town in the morning, but not feeling well went home about 11 o'clock. He left the table before dinner was finished and went to his room on the second floor. Shortly afterwards, Mrs. Barrier hearing a noise in his room, went there and found him very sick. She summoned a physician and every effort was made to survive him without avail. Death was caused by acute indigestion. Mr. Barrier was 56 years of age. He came to Salisbury from Cabarrus county 20 years ago, and has been engaged in business here since that time. He is survived by his wife and one daughter, Mrs. C. M. Brown, of Salisbury, and two brothers, Jno. D. Barrier, of Charlotte and Eugene Barrier, of Rimer, Cabarrus county.

The funeral was held from St. John's Lutheran church, at 2:30 Sunday afternoon, and was attended by a large delegation from Winona Council, No. 18, Jr. O. U. A. M., of which he was a member. The interment was at Chestnut Hill cemetery.

The Standard Oil Company of Indiana—a branch of the trust, of course—was fined $65,000 at Austin, Texas, Tuesday for violating the Texas anti-trust law.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COUNTY COURT.

Negro Woman Sent to the Roads for six Months. - Festival Crowd Fined

Lou Hill, a colored lady of a light hue who has figured quite frequently in the county court, was charged with robbing William Pratt, a white man, of a purse containing, so he claimed, some forty odd dollars. Nobody sympathized much with the white man, but Judge Miller evidently believed he told a straight tale and bound Lou over to the Superior Court in November, in a bond of $100, which was not given. Lou had been found guilty some time ago on two charges, one for vagrancy and one for disorderly conduct. Judgment had been suspended in both, but owing to her continued bad conduct she was given 90 days on the road on each of these counts, so she will be missed from her usual haunts for that time. What the Superior court will do for her remains to be seen.

Will Jones was fined $50 and cost for his bad marksmanship. He having fired four shots which missed Geo. Knox, with whom he had an affray at Spencer.

Fanny Williams, disorderly conduct. Guilty, 80 days on the roads.

T. H. Vanderford, Jr., plead guilty to the charge of simple assault and judgment was suspended upon payment of cost.

T. H. Vanderford, Jr., and Sam Carter assault, $5 00 and cost as to Vanderford, judgment suspended on Carter upon payment of cost.

Your foods are in two classes: Foods that please you by their taste, and foods that you depend on because of what they do for you. Quaker Oats has all the good qualities of both classes.

Bill Owens, was fined $5 00 and cost for disorderly conduct.

W. G. Kester was fined $8.00 and cost on the same charge.

A crowd of eight or ten negroes were up for engaging in a free for all fight, at a festival at the home of Dock Savage in which Dock got a cut on the head, necessitating the attention of a physician. J. B. Blair was pulled for $20.00 and cost, Levi Savage got off for $10.00 and cost, and judgment was suspended on Irene Savage and June Bigger.

Judgment was suspended on Will Jones found guilty of carrying concealed weapons.

Henry Whiteside was convicted of running a gambling house at Spencer and was given eight months on the roads. Henry was proprietor of the place that was pulled about 10 days ago by Sheriff McKenzie and his deputies, when 11 negroes were arrested for gambling.
