NEW STATION INAUGURATED.

Electric "Juice" Turned on at Salisbury That Will Supply Neighboring Towns.

At midnight Tuesday night power was turned on at the Southern Power Company's station here over the new steel tower line via Albemarle and the $100,000 voltage transformer put into service. In the future Concord, Kannapolis, China Grove, High Point, Winston and other points will receive their power from what is known as the "booster station" here, said to be the most important of the company's stations. In the future should the line from Salisbury to Concord get out of working order the current can be cut off and power turned on from Charlotte, and vice versa, or if between Salisbury and Albemarle trouble arises the power can be furnished over the old line. The voltage is reduced by this new transformer from 100,000 to 50,000, and the current is distributed. From now on all points north of Charlotte will get power by the line from Lancaster to Monroe, Albemarle and Salisbury, except in case of this one becoming disabled, then the old line from Charlotte will be put into service. It almost eliminates any possibility of points north of Charlotte being caught without power at all.—Charlotte Observer.

The Terrors of Science.

It is a serious question how the civilized person of the future is going to pick his way in safety among the traps set for him by science. We are just at the beginning of the electric age. We are running our street cars by electricity and making some use of electric lights, but most of our houses are still lighted by gas; we do our cooking and heating with coal, and we run our railroads and almost all our factories by steam. Before many years all this work will undoubtedly be done by electricity. The distracted earth will be quivering with the mighty currents pumped into it by every waterfall and coal mine. But now it is becoming hazardous to exist in the presence of the forces that are already loose among us.

The other day four people and a horse, at Pittsburg, were killed by stepping into a puddle of water that had been charged with electricity by a broken electric-light wire. Nobody acquainted with modern conditions think of leaning against an iron trolley-pole. Even children know enough to dodge a broken wire. But you never can tell from what direction the danger is coming. You may be careful not to step on a third rail, but how can you tell when a short circuit is going to catch you as you enter a street car? A crossed wire may load you with a few hundred volts when you pick up your telephone receiver or move your drop light. You may even be nailed when you sit in your easy chair and put your feet on the fender. Your water-pipes may carry a deadly electric charge and your demure iron gate may be waiting to murder you when you put your hand on its latch.

And now, not content with charging the earth and the water, they are going to send electric power without wires through the air. If you go out in a shower of rain, every drop may be loaded with electricity. Electric currents have been carried by a stream from a horse; so why should they not come down in the rain? It will be equally dangerous to go out-of-doors and to stay in the house. Perhaps the scientific men are turning loose a genie they would be glad a little later to put back into his bottle if they could. Possibly before they begin setting many more million volts of electricity adrift it may be worth their while to try to find some way of enabling us to live with those we have.

Contempt Case Against Labor Leaders Affirmed.

The District Court of Appeals today affirmed the decree of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia adjudging President Samuel Gompers, Secretary Frank Morrison and Vice President John Mitchell, of the American Federation of Labor, guilty of contempt of court in the Buck's stove and range case. Chief Justice Shepard dissented from the court's opinion on constitutional grounds.

The lower court had imposed sentences of 12 months' imprisonment in the Gompers case, 9 months in Mitchell's case and 6 months in Morrison's case for their failure to obey the order of the court directing them to desist from placing the Buck Stove and Range Company of St. Louis, Mo., on their unfair list in the prosecution of a boycott against the corporation.

Gompers will make an attempt to appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States and no action toward the arrest of the men will be taken until the matter of appeal is determined. The court in its decision held that if "an organization of citizens," however large, "may disobey the mandates of the court, the same reasoning would render them subject to individual defiance. Both are subject to law and neither above it. If a citizen, though he may honestly believe that his rights have been invaded, may elect when and to what extent he will obey the mandates of the court and requirements of the law as interpreted by the court, it is pursuing the orderly course of appeal, not only courts but the government itself would become powerless and society would be reduced to a state of anarchy."

Gaynor is Now Mayor of New York

New York, Nov. 3.—Complete returns of the vote for mayor are: Gaynor, Democrat, 250,678; Bannard, Republican-Fusion, 177,662; Hearst, Independent, 158,848.

Gaynor's plurality is 73,016. Forces of fusion will be in practical control of New York city's government after January next, although the Democratic candidate for mayor, was elected.

With the exception of the mayor, the fusion sweep was complete. Not another Democratic candidate on the city or county tickets won success.

The fusion forces, by electing their candidates for comptroller and president of the board of aldermen, together with victories or fusion and anti-Tammany candidates for presidencies of all five boroughs, will give the opposition to Tammany 18 out of 16 votes in the important board of estimate. This board will have during its term of office the expenditure of practically one billion dollars.

On the county ticket the fusionists elected their candidates for district attorney, sheriff, county clerk, register and city court judge, which with their other victories, will place nearly every bit of patronage in the greater city in their hands.

The board of aldermen will be composed of 42 Democrats and 26 fusionists.

From present indications the state assembly will have a Republican majority of 48, and a Democratic gain of five.

Murdered for Her Money.

Manassas, Va., Nov. 21.—Murdered for her money and her body incinerated in the ruins of her home is the fate that overtook Miss Ella Smith some time last night. Miss Smith's charred body was discovered in the smoking wreck of her small house on the Bull Run battlefield this morning. The authorities are looking for a negro who lived close to the Smith home, but who now is missing. Miss Smith received a considerable amount of money within the last few days, the proceeds of the sale of poultry, and it is thought that she was robbed, murdered and the house burned to destroy evidences of the crime. Some years ago Miss Smith was attacked by a negro in her lonely home, but fought off the assailant.

A Murder at Lincolnton.

Lincolnton, November 20.—Wood Rogers, son of Mr. William Rogers, a respected carpenter of this place, was shot and instantly killed about 2:30 o'clock this afternoon by Earl Caldwell, aged about 18, just outside of Lincolnton. Caldwell, Rogers and his brother had been hunting and were returning. Alphonse Rogers, brother of the one killed, was walking a few steps in front of the others and he states that he heard his brother tell Caldwell to shut his mouth. Caldwell answering that he would not do so. He then heard the click of a gun being cocked and turned around. Caldwell was holding the end of his gun barrel against the left side of his brother. Caldwell fired and Rogers fell dead with hardly a gasp. The gun used was a 16-gauge.

Rogers was a young man of peaceable disposition. Caldwell is little known here. Mrs. Caldwell, the mother of Earl, is almost completely prostrated with grief. The boy was taken into custody pending the coroner's inquest.

Proposed Railroad for Mt. Pleasant.

Get down your map. Northern Chesterfield, western Union, eastern Cabarrus and western Stanly constitute a vast territory largely without railroad development. Add to this southern and northern Union county, and there lies before you a section of rich country that would richly support a northern and southern line of road from Jefferson, S. C., to Monroe, thence by Mt. Pleasant and on to Salisbury and ultimately to Winston. Such a line would give Monroe connection with all of the three other great systems mentioned above and result in untold development of the country through which it would pass. The Jefferson and McBee road, now operating twenty miles from a point on the Seaboard to Jefferson, forms the nucleus upon which may be constructed a road that would broaden the horizon to Monroe, hold out the hope of revolutionary progress, and carry to the sections above mentioned their only chance of railroad facilities. The Jefferson and McBee has been reorganized, stripped of entanglements and in the hands of people who are willing and anxious to bring it to Monroe, thence to Mt. Pleasant and some point on the Southern, all of which upper country is always ready to extend the glad hand to the enterprise.—Monroe Journal.

Cattle Ticks Lessen Yield of Beef and Milk

A cattle tick that has reached the engorged stage weighs about 5 grains, and about 1,500 such ticks weigh a pound. As cattle in the tick region often carry many thousand of these blood-sucking parasites, and as each tick during the period of its attachment to an animal draws considerably more than its own weight in blood, it can be seen that these ticks constitute an enormous drain on the cattle which they infest. This accounts for the fact that under such conditions it is impossible to fatten cattle even on rich pasture and with an abundance of good feed. A large part of the nourishment that should go toward producing beef and milk is consumed by the ticks. In addition to the loss of blood and nourishment there is the never-ceasing irritation caused by the ticks, so that the existence of the infested cattle is beset with continuous suffering, and this of course also tends to keep them in poor condition.

The shrinkage in the milk production of a cow harboring many ticks will average one quart a day, and the loss occasioned thereby at 3 cents a quart for the 875,000 ticky dairy cattle out of more than 4,000,000 below the quarantine line would amount to $26,250 a day. Counting 300 milking days for each cow to the year would make a loss from this cause $7,875,000 per annum.

Full information as to how to get rid of the ticks, including directions for the preparation of dips and sprays, and arrangement of pastures, etc., may be obtained free upon application to the Bureau of Animal Industry, Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.
