per year ; six months 50 , 3antbbuby, N. C. Feb. 9тt, 1910 WHERE THE SOUTH IS IG NORED.
The bureau of statistics at Washington a few weeks ago statod that "cotton is the largest item in the United States bill of lading that the South, with this one pro duct, does more to keep the hal-ance of trade in favor of the United States than does any other section. It would be hatural to suppose that the Washington administration, recognizing this fact, Which meaus such close commereial relations between the South Europe, representing such vast trausactions, would, in the appointment of its representatives to those foreign countries, turn to the South for sume of the men to fill those positions. But in tht list of America's ambassadors and ministers there does not occur the ministers there does not occur the name of a single man from the States formerly ${ }^{*}$ composing th Southern Confederacy as cecapying a post of any conseqnence whatever. In this matter the President has ignored the Scuth President has ignored the Sc a it If not intentional on his part it is strange that he should make time expressing such his saction and so great desire to onvince the Southern people that tions alike-to convince the South by his actions as well as words part of the-Union as any other consideration as the others.-
Charlotte Observer. The South has been treated, ev or since the har, as a kind cf cap ad to pay tribute to the trusts, monopolies and in the way of pensions long enough. The South is now becoming rich, populous and powerful, hence, in order to keep have been pat forth, and will continue to be, to break the solid soutr. Nothing bat a few honey ed phrases from office hunters i all we are likely to get until we go in solid phalanx, and demand of jpat portion of all things. The Southern States should have her just portiou of all the appropriations made, gifts, subsidies and honors, and, pensions. The South y a United States soldier, he, he surrender, at, once became United States citizen on an equal footing with the citizens of any other section. He has been so considered as a tax-payer and hould be an equal beneficiary in he funds collected and disbursed. Astion us we are tired of this action being handed a half-loaf and being expected not only to be thankful, meek and humble, but turn over all our politics and rights or the condescension. The South now nearing the point of success ably and with so many sacrifices.
勧 would be the height of follow to to dividy, either from dissenfons within or the contriving of those withont. The reatest boon is in standing togeth is and her greatest oruse for fear in a possible division. We fear internal distensions more than external effort, but if our leaders ternal effort, but if our leaders people and seek their welfare all ill be well and the South will on ocme into her 8 wn . It is better for these offices to others while thosel with the up pointre power have no real dasire or our welfare. It is also just as od discontinue their pretensions. The people of the Soath are not blinded by them and realize full hat these offices are giveu only to thcse who will serve the "grand old party," in short they are mony with which to buy the purchas. able, in the great effort to break cammulates the strength and means to claim and take that May every true son of the Soth be on his gard.

It is rather amusing to the na ot hunting without hate, also algaging in their other sports without any headgear shatever harlotte Observer.
