

THE CAROLINA WATCHMAN.

WM. H. STEWART, Ed. and Prop.

Published every Tuesday at 120 West Innes street.

Entered as second-class matter Jan. 19th, 1906, at the post office at Salisbury, N. C., under the act of Congress of March 3rd, 1879.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE.

Watchman and Record, one year two papers per week, cash in advance, $1.00 per year; six months, 60c.

SALISBURY, N. C. FEB. 16TH, 1910.

The many friends of sheriff McKenzie were glad to see him at his office attending to his usual duties Friday and since. There was never any danger of his spreading smallpox, but just for the sake of precaution he "stayed close" for a few days. Mr. McKenzie is one of the most prompt and efficient officers the county has ever had and when he is absent the difference is quite marked. The smallpox situation is well in hand and there is no fear of a spread of the disease from those now under quarantine.

Not with the intention of censuring any one, but merely to express surprise at the success of what seems to us a trivial excuse for the adjournment of the February term of the Rowan Superior Court, and the consequent failure to give prompt and speedy trial for those who are kept in suspense, confined and under bond. Of certainly this course was taken as a precautionary measure and may be justified, but as to this no one knows. Of course no one would expect that the prisoners affected should have been brought in and tried, but after the very many precautions taken and a week or more had passed without the development of any new cases of the disease, we question the wisdom of the failure to hold the court.

The Confederate Veteran, published at Nashville, presents what purports to be a list of States in which monuments to the Confederate soldier have been erected with the number of monuments in each State. North Carolina is credited with two monuments, as against seventeen for South Carolina, twenty-three for Tennessee, thirteen for Georgia, thirteen for Alabama, ten for Kentucky, and so on. This makes the Charlotte Observer very angry and that paper rears up on its hind legs and delivers it self thus: "How The Veteran ever permitted itself to make so absurd a mistake and do North Carolina so glaring an injustice, we can't imagine. If there are less than a dozen monuments to the Confederate dead in this State—the Confederate dead as distinguish from individual commanders—we will eat the two which The Veteran names." We hope there are more than two Confederate monuments in North Carolina, but we hope the Nashville paper is not mistaken. That is to say, we would like to see the Charlotte Observer forced to eat two monuments—two very large and hard ones.—Anderson Mail.

There has been considerable anxiety in certain circles here since the above threat was made by the Charlotte Observer, and the advisability of employing a guard to keep watch about our beautiful monument has been hinted more than once. Some people, however, like the quill driver of the Anderson Mail, seem to think it would be a matter of considerable levity to see the Observer gnawing on this handsome pill of stone and bronze which is of no mean proportions. If such should be the Observer's misfortune, we would at least be so fortunate as to have the Observer in our midst for a month or so. But let those who are timid fear not, there are Confederate monuments in North Carolina galore and others are being erected up some frequently.

To Investigate Cause of High Living.

Washington, Feb 6.—Whether the Senate and House will conduct rival investigations into the causes of the high cost of the necessities of life is a question that concerns the Republican political leaders more deeply than any other problem now before Congress. If both bodies conduct an examination they fear that different conclusions may be reached and that such differing reports, on the eve of the Congressional elections, would be likely to prove embarrassing to the Republican majority. Nevertheless the Republicans of the Senate apparently are determined to order such an inquiry and conduct it with the utmost dispatch, regardless of the views of the House leaders on the subject.

MARRIAGES.

Wiggs-Lentz, Frick-Stirewalt, Holsbouser-Jones, Ryan-Smith.

Miss Jessie Ryan, of Chestnut Hill, and Charles M. Smith, a salesman for a Chicago firm, married on Thursday evening, at the Baptist parsonage, Rev. R. L. Motley officiating. The couple left on the night train for Asheville and other points in Western North Carolina.

Miss Bessie Wiggs and Karl Lentz were married at the home of Rev. J. M. McKenzie, pastor of Chestnut Hill Baptist church, on Sunday afternoon. This was another surprise wedding, only a few friends knew of their intentions and those were present when the vows were taken. After the ceremony the happy couple drove to the home of the bride's father, W. H. Wiggs, of East Salisbury, where they will board for the present. Mr. Lentz is a son of H. C. Lentz, of Salisbury, and a nephew of the late Rev. C. A. Rose, one of the leading Lutheran ministers of the state.

Miss Lucy J. Frick, daughter of John H. Frick, of Providence Township and George C. Stirewalt, of Litaker Township, were married at the bride's home, on Sunday, February 18th, by Rev. L. B. Spracher, pastor of Union Lutheran Church.

China Grove had a surprise wedding on Thursday night. Madison McDonald Jones, whose home is at Chester, S. C., came to Salisbury and met H. J. Peeler a half brother of the bride, and drove with him to China Grove, and, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Holsbouser, was married to their daughter, Miss Margaret Sarah Holsbouser. After the happy couple left for Chester where they will make their home.
