

The Carolina Watchman.

A Home Newspaper Published in the Interest of the People and for Honesty in Governmental Affairs.

VOL. VII NO. 2.

SALISBURY N. C., WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 28TH, 1910.

WM. H. STEWART, EDITOR.

CATHOLIC TRUTH SOCIETY.

Endeavoring to Make the United States a Haven for Any Except Protestants.

This organization has its headquarters in New York city. Its purpose seems to be to defend the Catholic church against the assaults of truth. Its knowledge consists largely of things that are not so. Recently we called attention to a pamphlet which they are circulating, which contains the basest slanders of the character of Father Obiniquy, who died an honored member of the Presbyterian Church of Canada. Now they are calling attention to certain indignities, in the way of gibing and jeering, to which a Jesuit was subjected during the recent revolution in Portugal. This followed with an explanation of the word Jesuit. "It is a derivative," they say, "from the word Jesus, and means a follower of Jesus; just as the word Christian means a follower of Christ." Next they parallel the treatment of the Jesuit by a scene from the sufferings of the Saviour: "Then the soldiers of the governor, taking Jesus into the hall, gathered together unto Him the whole band. And stripping Him, they put a scarlet cloak about Him. And plaiting a crown of thorns, they put it upon His head, and a reed in His right hand. And bowing the knee before Him, they mocked Him, saying: hail King of the Jews! And then they add: "Thus ancient history repeats itself in our day."

For bare-faced, unblushing audacity, the above is hard to beat. Can you prove from the derivation of his name that a sycophant is concerned with the exportation of figs? Wish just about as much certainty as you can prove by the derivation of his name that a Jesuit is a follower of Jesus. In less than half a century from the founding of the "Society of Jesus," and its sanction by one Pope, it had rendered the name Jesuit so that another Pope, Sixtus V., decided that the society should no longer be permitted to decorate the holy name of Jesus. "Society of Jesus!" he exclaimed, "Ah, indeed! what kind of man are these fathers that one cannot name them except with uncovered head!" We are told that a decree, demanding that the obnoxious title should be relinquished received the signature of the general of the order, and nothing but the beath of the Pope prevented the publication of the decree.

To know what the standard of morals was among the Jesuits of the Seventeenth Century one has but to read the "Provincial Letters" of Blaise Pascal. The author of these letters was a devout Roman Catholic, but a sincere follower of Jesus. Such being the case, he felt that he could not consecrate his transcendent genius to a nobler purpose than holding up to scorn and utter destination the moral maxims of the leading Jesuit theologians. Should these Jesuitical maxims gain general currency they would loose the bonds of society and make civil government impossible. There is hardly a crime under heaven to which they do not lead their sanction.

Their most distinctive principle is an abject, unqualified and unquestioning obedience to the Pope. At critical periods, they have made themselves indispensable to the Papacy. "With Protean variety of appearance, but unvarying identity of intention, these soldiers of St. Peter are as relentless to others, and as regardless to themselves as the body-guard of the old Assassins. No degradation is too servile, no place too distant no action too revolting, for these unreasoning instruments of power. Willfully surrendering the right of judgment and the feelings of conscience into the hands of their superior there is no method by law or argument of regulating their conduct. The one principle of obedience has

A Unique Advertisement.

The mercantile Club of Kansas City, Kans., publishes a full-page advertisement in the daily papers to answer the statements of the brewers to the effect that Kansas City, Kansas, is a "frightful example" of the business evils which follow prohibition. At the top of the page is the quotation, "Lard Angus, thou hast lied," and the brewers have brought it on themselves. Figures are given showing the increase in population, in taxable property, in bank deposits, in the value of school property and number of pupils, in business building, in rentals, in expenditures on streets, parks, and boulevards, river control, and improvements. The claim is made that the city is without a saloon, a gambling house, or brothel, and that it has more money invested in manufacturing establishments than any other city of its size in the world. The final answer to the brewers and a warning to them in their new campaign of attempting to prove by a fake organization that Kansas desires the resubmission of the prohibition question is this sentence: "We trust the simple facts as they now exist in Kansas City, Kans., will be sufficient to convince the opponents of prohibition that in the future it will be just as well for the liquor interests to let Kansas City, Kans., alone and to go about their own business of making paupers and drunkards, if they so desire, while Kansas City, Kans., goes about her business of making happy homes, hopeful children, contented wives, and good citizens, and continuing to improve and develop her resources."—Northwestern Christian Advocate.

swallowed up all the rest, and fulfillment of that duty enables the inquirer to see by which it is shown." The order of Jesuits has been described as a "sword whose hilt is at Rome, and whose point is everywhere."

It is but natural that the Popes should befriend and honor such faithful servants. As a rule such has been the papal policy. But from time to time, so great has been the outcry raised by governments that were suffering from the plots and intrigues of the Jesuits that the Popes have been compelled to curb them. They were banished from Portugal in 1759, from France in 1767, and from Spain in the same year. Bear in mind that all these countries were intensely Roman Catholic at the time. So great was the general clamor against them that Pope Clement XIV. issued a bull on July 21, 1773, abolishing the order. It was restored on the fall of Napoleon in 1815; and since that time they have been banished for a longer or shorter period from Italy, Spain, France, Russia, Switzerland, Belgium, Bavaria, Austria, the German Empire and various Roman Catholic States in America. The United States is a kind of heaven for them. Here they are permitted to flourish in peace, but if they ever gain sufficient power to have their own way, the United States will not be a heaven for other people.—Presbyterian Standard.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

TWO KILLED IN SWAIN.

Brothers Dead in a Christmas Shooting Scrape at Dorsett's Postoffice.

Asheville, Dec. 26.—A double tragedy was enacted at Dorsett's postoffice in Swain county, several miles from Bryson City, Saturday evening when Oscar Clark shot and almost instantly killed D. J. Calhoun and then turning his pistol on the slain man's brother, J. P. Calhoun, shot him twice, inflicting wounds from which he died at the Mission hospital here last night.

According to the best information obtainable today a number of men had gathered near the postoffice where there was some drinking and carousing, among the number being Clark, an unmarried man probably 30 years of age. It is said that Clark was amusing himself by standing on a porch with revolver in hand shooting over the heads of some men not far distant. D. J. Calhoun, familiarly known in that section as Dan Calhoun, a married man 25 years of age, went to Clark and demonstrated with him, insisting that he stop the shooting. The two became involved in a wordy battle, when Clark suddenly drew his pistol and shot Dan Calhoun, the wound causing almost instant death.

J. P. Calhoun, known as Phil Calhoun in Swain county, went to the scene, when Clark turned the weapon on him, shooting him twice through the abdomen. Clark then, it is said, turned and made his escape. A message today stated that Clark had not been captured; that it is thought he has escaped to Tennessee. Philip Calhoun was brought to Asheville yesterday morning accompanied by his father, W. I. Calhoun and a cousin.

Saved From Awful Death.

How an appalling calamity in his family was prevented is told by A. D. McDonald, of Fayetteville, N. C. B. F. D. No. 8. "My bad consumption," he writes, "was very thin and pale, had no appetite and seemed to grow weaker every day, as all remedies failed till Dr. King's New Discovery was tried, and so completely cured her, that she has not been troubled with a cough since. Its best medicine I ever saw or heard of." For coughs, colds, lagrippe, asthma, croup hemorrhages all bronchial troubles, it has no equal, 50c. $1.00. Trial bottles free, guaranteed by A. J. Druggists.

What A Song Did.

A Scottish youth learned from a pious mother to sing the old psalms that were then as household words to them in the kirk and by the fireside. When he had grown up, he wandered away from his native country, was taken captive by the Turks, and made a slave in one of the Barbary states. But he never forgot the songs of Zion, although he sang them in a strange land and in heathen ears.

One night he was soaching himself in this manner, when the attention of some sailors on board of an English man-of-war was directed to the familiar tune of "Old Hundred," as it came floating over the waves. At once they surmised the truth, that one of their countrymen was languishing away his life as a captive. Quickly arming themselves, they manned a boat and lost no time in effecting his release. What a joy to him after eighteen years passed in slavery, and in it strange that he ever afterwards cherished the glorious tune of "Old Hundred."—Exchange.

Banks On Sure Thing Now.

"I'll never be without Dr. King's New Life Pills again," writes A. Schmeck, 647 Elm St., Buffalo, N. Y. "They cured me of chronic constipation when all others failed." Unqualified for Biliousness, Jaundice, Indigestion, Headache, Chills, Malaria, and Debility. 25c at All Druggists.

The Most Curious Fatality on Record.

Death came on Christmas morning to Walter Ross, a well known colored driver for the Southern Express Company, in a manner so unusual as to be almost unexplainable. It was an accident suicide by strangling, resulting from a fall while he was intoxicated.

It happened in the Wadesworth stables on North Tryon street some time between 9:30 and 1 o'clock yesterday. It was the former hour when Ross and another express driver came in with two horses belonging to the express company. That was the last time Ross was seen until his lifeless body was found in the front of the delivery wagon of the Ben Vonde Dying and Cleaning works, his head over the dashboard on which his throat rested. It is supposed that he fell from a post in a state of insensibility. Breathing was made impossible by the weight of his body pressed against the dashboard at his throat and he died without regaining sufficient consciousness to pull himself out of danger.

The death is one of the most curious on record. Had his senses not been absolutely benumbed nature would have asserted itself and the extrication of his throat from the perilous position would have been an automatic, subconscious act. So thorough was his intoxication, however, that even the shock of the fall and the pain of suspended breathing did not arouse his sluggish and stupefied brain.—Charlotte Observer.

W. R. Cromartie Abandons Search for Lost Father.

Hamlet, Dec. 25.—W. R. Cromartie of Soperton, Ga., who has been in Hamlet since November 12, directing the search for his father, Editor John A. Cromartie, who wandered away from a local hotel and was lost, left for home Wednesday, abandoning the search for his father.

Something like $500 has been spent and every effort put forth, but no trace of the missing man has been found.

Something Just as Good

Can only be the case when it is another bottle of Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey. Every bottle the same. Look for the bell on the bottle.

The Ketchies Come to Town.

There is always quite a flock of Ketchies in Rowan, among whom are some of our best people, but like lots of other families they have become somewhat scattered. They live in the north, west, and south and here, but wherever they may be they keep a warm spot in their hearts for old Salisbury, the good old county of Rowan and our people. Saturday W. L. Ketchie, who now lives in Macon Ga., dropped to see us. He is a son of B. R. Ketchie, of Salisbury. Later we were agreeably surprised by a visit from John D. Ketchie, Jr. and Lee M., sons of B. C. Ketchie, one of the county's splendid citizens. John D. has just returned from a few months stay at DeSoto Ill., with his brother Henry L., who is visiting friends and relatives here for a few weeks. Lee M. lives on route 4 and is a hustling farmer of Providence Township. Another brother, Chas. B., who has been living in the west, was recently married.

Wants To Help Some One.

For thirty years J. F. Boyer, of Fertile, Mo., needed help and couldn't find it. That's why he wants to help some one now. Suffering so long himself he feels for all in distress from Backache, Nervousness, Loss of Appetite, Lassitude and Kidney disorders. He shows that Electric Bitters work wonders for such troubles. "Five bottles," he writes, "wholly cured me and now I am well and hearty." It's also positively guaranteed for Liver Trouble, Dyspepsia, Blood Disorders, Female Complaints and Malaria. Try them. 50c at All Druggists.

ATTENTION, BOYS AND GIRLS.

Prizes of $5.00 Each Offered for Essay On Hookworm Disease and General Sanitation.

Mrs. W. N. Hutt, chairman of the Health Department of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, has offered three, and may perhaps offer more, prizes of five dollars each to be given for the best essay on hookworm disease and general sanitation. The prizes will be offered as follows:

Five dollars to the boy or girl under 15 years of age for the best essay on hookworm disease.

Five dollars to the boy or girl over 15 years and under 21 years for the best essay on hookworm disease.

The grading of essays on hookworm disease will be as follows: English composition, 15 points; style and neatness, 15 points; knowledge of the disease, how it may be acquired, the harm it may produce, where it may exist, etc., 35 points; originality displayed in proposed scheme for curing the sufferers in your county and correcting existing conditions so that those who are free from the disease may not be exposed to it, 35 points.

The contest will open January 1st, 1911, and close March 1st, 1911. All who enter the contest should send in their essays to Mrs. W. N. Hutt, chairman Raleigh, N. C. The grading of the essays on general sanitation will be similar to the grading of the essays on hookworm disease.

It is hoped that all local clubs or other civic leagues will make similar offers for their own counties. Wherever this is done the children in that county, realizing that there will certainly be one prize for their county and a chance for one or more of the State prizes, will be stimulated to increased efforts. The State Board of Health, Raleigh, N. C., will furnish free illustrated literature on hookworm disease on request.

Killed Under a Train.

Hamlet, Dec. 25.—Somewhere between 4:10 and 5:30 yesterday morning John Erwin, S. A. L. car inspector, lost his life under a freight train in the North Hamlet yards.

Mr. Erwin had been ordered by the foreman of inspectors, W. R. Mints, to inspect a train of box cars made up and ready to go southward. To reach his train from the shanty he had to crawl over or under several lines of box cars. There were no eye witnesses to the accident, but it is presumed that he was attempting to crawl under a flat car when the shifter engine, in making up a train, struck the car and caught him in a fearful death-trap. The right foot was cut off, the skull was crushed and the brains strewn along the tracks. Mr. Erwin leaves a young wife and three small children.—Charlotte Observer.

Richmond College Suffers From Early Morning Fire.

Richmond, Va., Dec. 25.—The north wing of Ryland Hall, the main building of Richmond College, was gutted by fire at an early hour this morning. Estimated loss is $60,000, which is covered by insurance. There were many individual losses, however, on the part of students, in the way of clothing, books, etc., on which there was no insurance and which fell heavily on the losers. Many of the students also had narrow escapes from losing their lives in the flames, but fortunately nobody was hurt. The cause of the fire is as yet unknown.

Ends Winter's Trouble

To many, winter is a season of trouble. The frost bitten toes and fingers, chapped hands and lips, chilblains, cold sores, red and rough skin, prove this. But such troubles fly before Bucklen's Arnica Salve. A trial convinces. Greatest healer of Burns, Boils, Piles, Cuts, Sores, Eczema and Sprains. Only 25c at All Drug-gists.

Destructive Fire at Dunn.

Dunn, Dec. 25.—What was the most destructive fire in the history of Dunn, occurred yesterday morning at 1:30 o'clock, when the stock of dry goods of the Harnett Dry Goods Company, E. Goldstein, manager, was destroyed.

The building, a large two-story structure, belonging to G. F. Pope, in which the business was conducted, was damaged to the amount of several thousand dollars. The fire originated, it is thought on the second floor in the millinery department. The flames spread to the store of J. W. Draughon & Bro., adjoining, the second floor of which was occupied by Mrs. J. W. Bancom for millinery. Her stock was a complete loss, with very small insurance.

The stock of dry goods and gent's furnishings of Draughon Bros. was badly damaged by fire and water, but through the excellent work of the fire company the lower story of the building received only slight damages. However, the top and second story of the building was entirely destroyed. The fire occurred right in the business center of the town and many of the best and most valuable buildings of the town were exposed. The property loss, together with the merchandise, is estimated to be around $25,000, partly covered by insurance.—Charlotte Observer.

Tragedy in Asheville.

Asheville, Dec. 25.—During the progress of a drunken row between fifteen or twenty negroes on Sycamore street this afternoon about 1 o'clock, Will McDonald shot and instantly killed Henry Lyles. After killing his man McDonald ran towards the mountains and although the officers were not more than ten minutes in reaching the scene of the tragedy the murderer succeeded in making his escape. It is said that the negroes were all drinking beer and that McDonald and Lyles were in a dispute; that Lyles was in the act of placing a bottle of whiskey in his pocket when McDonald pulled a pistol and shot him through the head.

White Peacemaker Brutally Killed By Negro Combatant.

Camden, N. J., Dec. 25.—Albert Hibbs, a white man, aged 80 years, was murdered today while returning to his home on South Eighth street. Hibbs saw two negroes fighting and attempted to separate them. The larger of the fighters threw Hibbs to the pavement and drawing a razor almost severed his head, killing him instantly. Clement Ridgeway, who lives in a negro settlement, in South Camden, was arrested on suspicion of knowing something about the murder.

Make Up Your Own Mind

When in the need of a cough medicine. If you buy Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey we guarantee you get the best.

Negro Woman Dies at Advanced Age.

McCall, S. C., Dec. 25.—Probably the oldest woman in the Carolina died a few miles from McCall this week. The relatives of Gelia McLaurin, once the slave of John D. McLaurin, Sr., claim that she was 111 years old, but the best-informed white folks positively assert that she can be no less than 107. She was an aged woman when the civil war began. To the last she retained memory, sight, and hearing, but was bent nearly double, and so feeble that she was unable to care for herself. She was found dead last Wednesday at the fireplace—her feet badly burned. It is supposed that she was warming, and fell in the fire.—Charlotte Observer.

Try It, Try It.

Try Dr. Bell's Antiseptic Salve for all skin troubles. It is as pleasant as sweet cream and guaranteed to give satisfaction in worst cases. 25c a box.

IRON WORKS PLANT WRECKED.

Concern That is Victimized Has Been Involved in Trouble With Union Labor.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 22.—The Llewellyn Iron Works were partly wrecked by an explosion, presumably of dynamite, early today. The force of the explosion smashed windows for more than a block and awakened persons more than two miles away. J. E. Asbury, the watchman, was slightly injured.

Who placed the supposed charge of dynamite is unknown to the police, but it is believed to have been the outcome of general labor troubles, in which the Llewellyn company has been involved. A hold 18 inches deep and about 6 feet in diameter bears witness to the place of the explosion.

About seventy-five feet of the front of the main building, a three-story frame structure, was shot to pieces, and its contents of furniture and paraphernalia were piled together in apparently ruin. The heavy machinery building apparently was undamaged.

The Llewellyn Iron Works has long been prominent in the fight against the recognition of union labor in this city, and is one of the concerns involved in the metal workers strike, which went into effect on June 1. The strike has been characterized by great bitterness on both sides.

The strike was called originally to enforce a demand for an 8-hour day for all metal workers and a uniform wage scale of 50 cents an hour. The struggle was precipitated by a notice from the men engaged in the metal trades in San Francisco that the employers there had made concession to their employes on condition that they should not thereby be placed at a disadvantage in competition with non-union Los Angeles firms.

Officials of the Llewellyn company are of the opinion that the supposed charge of dynamite in their plant is the outgrowth of their differences with labor, and the police are working on this theory.

Fred C. Wheeler, president of the Los Angeles Central Labor Council has issued a statement defying any one to fasten the responsibility for the crime upon the organization of which he represents.

Apparently the police have no definite clue to the perpetrators. In view of The Los Angeles Times dynamiting outrage, in which twenty-one men were killed last October, today's explosion created extraordinary interest. The grand jury is expected at any time to hand in its report on the Times case.

Granulated Eye Lids are easily cured—Caustic is not necessary. Sutherland's Eagle Eye Salve is Painless and harmless and is guaranteed to cure. Has never failed on a case, costs 25c.

Despoiled a Graveyard.

Recently it was reported in The Dispatch that a party of parties unknown had entered the churchyard at Clarkberry and broken many tombstones, carrying some of them out into the public road and smashing them into fragments. Windows were broken out of the church and benches were broken and torn up. Authorities worked quietly on the case and last week Leo Black, son of Francis Black, and Ed. Black, son of Levi Black, and Harvey Grubb were arrested for the offense and taken before A. S. Miller, justice of the peace. The two Black boys waived examination and were bound over to court under bonds of $20 each. Grubb was given a hearing and was released for lack of evidence to hold him.

Eczema

Is considered hard to cure. Try Dr. Bell's Antiseptic Salve and you will change your mind. You will see an improvement from the first application.