Believe in Yourself.

Believe in YOURSELF. It means courage and fortune. It makes CONFIDENCE at a time when belief in your own powers is valuable. It means LIFE TO THE BLOOD and SPARKLE TO THE EYE when your vigor and sincerity are under the microscopic test of hostile examination. The poise of the orator, the self-trust of the swimmer, the vim and aggressiveness of the good fighter, come from self-reliance; and NO MAN WHO BELIEVES IN HIMSELF IS EVER AFRAID OF LOSING HIS JOB. Fear is the arch-enemy of power; and fear of circumstances and of men is simply another name for lack of confidence in self. To get others to believe in you, FIRST BELIEVE IN YOURSELF, not as a matter of logic, but through pure self-confidence, for the world knows that no man can accomplish anything without faith, and FAITH BEGINS IN THE SOUL before it finds its way into the mind. To believe that you can do a thing BEFORE you have done it is necessary to growth. The mind of the man who has no faith that he can do a thing unless he has done it before is doomed to perpetual Lethargy and decay. And he who even limits his faith to what OTHERS have done, will never add much to the real progress of the world. The lion-hearted man is he who has the courage to ATTEMPT WHAT HAS NEVER BEEN DONE BEFORE and the faith to believe HE CAN DO IT. To enroll among the immortals it is necessary to do a new thing only ONCE. But the man who accomplishes the untried ONCE never stops; for HE has learned the secret of growth. Those who NEVER grow are the helpless and inanimate who are not willing to believe that they can do a thing ONCE.

Out of the Singer Jar.

The fast man is pretty apt to fall behind. What three vowels express trouble? I. O. U. It will probably never be known what the hand-saw. Be sure you are right and then don't make a fuss about it. There is many a man who isn't worth what it costs him to live. Every dog has his day, and too many of them have their nights also.

The blacksmith may be an expert forger without being arrested for it. Nature is a good doctor, but she makes her patients pay, to the last cent. What the corn heard with its own ears, the potato saw with its own eyes.

Few men know what is good for them until some wise woman has told them. The money that the woman spends is never for the bonnet, but always for the fancy things. The milliner puts on it.

The rich are known by their dollars, but the humble onion is known by its scent. The farmer who lost his half-bushel measure was in more than a peck of trouble.

The foolish trust to the safety-pin, but the wise see to it that the buttons are well sewed on. It is easier to climb down a tree than to climb up, which explains why the top is never crowded and why there is always room there.

We are none of us any better than we ought to be and many of us are a great deal worse. The farmer has good many months to feed; he is even obliged all through the winter to feed his cow.

Sometimes when a man is pretending to be looking for a wife he is merely looking for a good cook. Beware of such.—From October Farm Journal.

New Dispensaries in the State Campaign Against Hookworm Disease.

The State and county dispensaries for the free treatment of hookworm disease are attracting widespread attention. Fifteen eastern counties have made the necessary provision to have them. In four of these counties, Robeson, Sampson, Columbus and Halifax, the work was completed about three weeks ago and an average of 8,000 victims of the disease were treated in each county. The counties of Wayne, Onslow, Cumberland and Northampton now have dispensaries in operation. About one hundred people are being treated daily at each of the dispensaries. Pender, New Hanover, Brunswick, Craven, Pitt, Warren and Hertford counties have made provision for the dispensaries and will be entered as soon as possible. Bladen and perhaps two or three other counties will take action the next few weeks. The dispensaries remain in a county usually six weeks. The good results of their work are so apparent that after the dispensaries move to new fields the local doctors are kept busy continuing the treatment.

A Dreadful Sight

to H. J. Baerman, of Freeville, N. Y., was the favor, some that had plagued his life for years in spite of many remedies he tried. ENFORCING TRUST LAW.

Trusts Trying to Get Right in Eyes of the Law.

Washington, Sept. 22.—Recent reports that attorneys for large combinations of corporations and their principals also were hoping for some general understanding with the government authorities concerning the application of the antitrust law, and that some of them went to the attorney general to ascertain what action, if any, may be necessary to make them stand right in the eyes of the government, was the subject of much discussion here. The Associated Press is in position to state the following, as the attitude of the department of justice: "The attorney general's position, as frequently stated by him, is that since the supreme courts decision in the oil and tobacco cases, the area of uncertainty in the law had been greatly reduced, and the meaning of the statute in its application to great monopolistic corporations, made clear. This makes it necessary for those combinations to resolve themselves into a number of distinct and separate entities, no one of which shall be in itself a combination and their counsel must work out. Government's law department is preparing to bring before court all combinations with the government's view, they will doubtless follow the supreme court's precedent and give it reasonable time to reorganize in conformity with the law."

"How this shall be done, is, of course, a separate problem in each case, a problem which in the first instance those in control of combinations and their counsel must work out. Government's law department is preparing to bring before court all combinations with the government's view, they will doubtless follow the supreme court's precedent and give it reasonable time to reorganize in conformity with the law."

"The department of justice makes it clear that the burden of reorganization, framing of plans and demonstrating their sufficiency and adequacy must be assumed by those interested in the combinations and not by the department of justice officials."

COPPER PRODUCTION DECREASED.

Silver and Gold Output Increases in North Carolina in 1910.

North Carolina regained first place among the Eastern States in 1910 in the production of gold. The year's mine production, according to the United States Geological survey, was 8,291.88 fine ounces, valued at $68,045, an increase over the output for 1909 of 1,845.56 fine ounces and of $27,715 in value. The yield of silver, recovered in refining the gold and copper produced, was 9,068 fine ounces, valued at $4,888, an increase of 8,564 ounces and of $4,899 in value. The copper production was 140,614 pounds, valued at $17,845, a decrease of 88,998 pounds and of $11,841 in value. The total value of the production of gold, silver, and copper in North Carolina in 1910 was $90,778, an increase over the corresponding value for 1909 of $21,108.

There were 28 placer mines in operation in 1910 and 18 deep mines. The deep mines produced 14,914 short tons of ore, of which 12,698 tons were gold quartz ores, with an average total recovered value in gold and silver of $4.42 per ton, and 2,221 tons were copper ores, with an average precious metal value of $2.51 per ton, and yielding 68.2 pounds of copper per ton. The placers of North Carolina yielded 497.84 fine ounces of gold and 48 fine ounces of silver; the siliceous ores produced 2,745.77 fine ounces of gold and 456 fine ounces silver; the copper ores yielded 48.57 fine ounces of gold and 8,564 fine ounces of silver. The notable production of silver from North Carolina in 1910 was therefore from copper ores. The production for Orange, Person and Rowan was, gold 246.18 fine ounces valued at $5,088, and silver 8,459 fine ounces valued $4,588.

Iron in Water.

What would you consider one of the most powerful agents with which to flavor water? Would it be iron? A half part per million of iron in water is detectable by taste and more than 4 or 5 parts make a water unpalatable. In some mineral springs iron is the constituent which imparts a medicinal value to the water, but ordinarily it is undesirable. More than 2.5 parts per million in water used for laundering makes a stain on clothes. Iron must be removed from water from which ice is made or a cloudy discolored product will result. An iron content of over 2 or 3 parts per million in water used in the manufacture of paper will stain the paper. Iron is harmful in water used for steaming, for it is in equilibrium with acids which inside the boiler becomes dissociated, with the result that the free acids corrode the boiler plates; but the amount of iron carried in solution by most waters is so small that the damage it does to steam boilers generally amounts to little.

Waters having high iron content have in some places caused an immense amount of trouble and expense when used as city supplies, for they favor the growth of Orenothrix to such a degree that the water pipes become clogged with the iron sheaths of the organism. The removal of iron from water is sometimes easy and sometimes very difficult.—Water Supply paper 278, U. S. Geological Survey.

Flight Across Atlantic Aim of Danish Aviator

New York, Sept. 21.—The most ambitious exploit yet undertaken by an aviator, is contemplated by a Danish airman, who describes his plans in a letter to The Nord Lyset, a Danish newspaper of Brooklyn. This aviator writes that he has enlisted the necessary financial aid and made arrangements to fly next spring from Copenhagen to New York, resting only at London and Queenstown, and upon ships stationed at intervals across the North Sea and the Atlantic ocean.

At the aviator's request his name is withheld from publication at this time. He says he will use a biplane of American manufacture and expects to fly at the rate of about 56 mile an hour.

Forced to Leave Home.

Every year a large number of poor sufferers, whose lungs are sore and racked with coughs are urged to go to another climate. But this is costly and not always sure. There's a better way. WOMAN ESCAPES OPERATION

Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Elwood, Ind.—"Your remedies have cured me and I have only taken six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was sick three months and could not walk. I suffered all the time. The doctors said I could not get well without an operation, for I could hardly stand the pains in my sides, especially my right one, and down my right leg. I began to feel better when I had taken only one bottle of Compound, but kept on as I was afraid to stop too soon."—Mrs. SADDIE MULLEN, 2728 N. B. St., Elwood, Ind.

Why will women take chances with an operation or drug out a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion, and nervous prostration. If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be absolutely confidential, and the advice free.
