DEMOCRACY MUST BE A WORTHY INSTRUMENT

People Trust It, Says Woodrow Wilson, and It Must Make Good.

Sea Girl, N. J.—Woodrow Wilson at the "Little White House" at Sea Girl is daily called upon to demonstrate his ability as a ready speaker.

There is not a day passes but what he meets various delegations who call to assure him of their support.

In speaking of political machines to the Brooklyn Democratic Club Governor Wilson said: "Machines are bad, but an organization may be very essential. For instance, I have been surrounded by an organization here in New Jersey while doing my best work. A machine uses its political opportunities for the selfish ends of its members. No members of our organization would ever think of doing that. Public opinion in New Jersey has drawn the distinction. It has killed the machines, and it is going to keep the organization going."

"It seems to me that we are standing in the presence of something higher than allegiance to the Democratic party. The country has been disappointed in the Republican party, and it is turning to the Democratic party. That party is willing to show the way toward those things which must be realized."

"Some gentlemen seem to find it easy to make personalities out of politics, but it seems to me that whenever that is done politics is debased. "Men who are in search of reform are now resorting to the Democratic party, because, for my own part, I do not know where else they will turn to expect the results. There is no discounting the strength and serviceability of a united party, and the splendid part is that the Democratic party is united."

"Speaking seriously, nothing affords me more genuine pleasure than to receive such greetings from men in Jersey who have at least tested my qualities. Because you have known me at close range and if you will be kind enough to vouch for me perhaps the rest of the country will be credulous of your report."

"New Jersey is known as the mother of trusts—a very troublesome and questionable family—and I had to spend my time outside New Jersey assuring the people of the Union that it had not been the fault or the disposition of the people of New Jersey that there were certain gentlemen who had undertaken to carry the Republican party in their pockets and to administer independently of the rank and file of Republicans in the state."

"New Jersey is progressive, but the United States is progressive, and we have here merely a delightful sample of the people of the United States. "Now, these people are not bent on destroying anything, but they are bent on setting everything in order; they are bent upon justice; they are bent upon seeing to it that the people in general are partners of the government, as I was trying to show the other day. And the Democratic party is now placed under a peculiar responsibility. It has to prove that it is the worthy instrument of that real United States. If it does not prove it now it will never be given another chance to prove it. No party that proves unfaithful to that ideal will ever again be trusted by the people of America. And therefore we are standing at the turning point in our politics. We must make good or go out of business. In the vernacular, it is a case of 'put up or shut up,' because words are going to be discounted. Nothing will be honored except the actual carrying out of such programs as sensible men may unite in for the common benefit."

THE GREAT DUTY OF ADJUSTMENT.

We are servants of the people, the whole people. The nation has been unnecessarily, unreasonably at war with itself. Interest has clashed with interest when there were common principles of right and of fair dealing which might and should have bound them all together, not as rivals, but as partners. As the servants of all we are bound to undertake the great duty of adjustment. From Woodrow Wilson's Speech Accepting the Democratic Nomination.

What We Never Forget

According to science, are the things associated with our early home life, such as Bucklen's Arnica Salve, that mother or grandmother used to cure our burns, boils, sores, or skin eruptions, cuts, sprains or bruises. Forty years ago, it proved its merit. Unrivaled for piles, corns or cold sores. Only 25 cents at all druggists.

KILLED BY HAZERS AT UNIVERSITY.

Boys Under Bond After Coroner's Jury Reported. Gov. Kitchin Orders Investigation

Chapel Hill, Sept. 18.—The coroner's jury which investigated the death of Freshman Isaac W. Raud of Smithfield, which occurred about 1 o'clock this morning while he was being hazed in the athletic field by a body of sophomores, this afternoon made the following report of its findings: "We find that the deceased came to death by being out, caused by a fall upon a broken bottle and died further that the deceased at the time of the fall, was being made to dance upon a barrel by a party of hazers of the University of North Carolina, and that said party was composed of W. L. Merriman, A. H. Styrone, R. W. Oldham, A. C. Hatch and other parties unknown to the jury. We recommend that said W. L. Merriman, A. H. Styrone, R. W. Oldham and A. C. Hatch be held under bond for the next term of court of Orange county for further investigation into his death."

The bond was fixed at $5,000 each. The boys are under custody tonight; bond will be fixed tomorrow.

As developed by the testimony given before the coroner's jury the death of young Raud occurred shortly after midnight while he was being hazed, together with the room mate, on the athletic field.

About one o'clock this morning the four sophomores mentioned named themselves and entered the room of I. W. Raud and R. A. Wellons, two freshmen from Smithfield. Without being given time to dress the two first-year men were taken to the athletic field, a distance of about 800 yards from the dormitory.

The boys were first placed upon an upturned barrel and made to sing and dance. After performing for a few minutes he slipped down from the barrel, and in doing so scratched himself slightly.

Then Raud's turn to mount the barrel came, and he had just begun to perform, when he apparently slipped in the same manner as Wellons. He fell to the ground and laid there. He was picked up and blood was discovered to be spurting from a large cut on the left side of his neck. He had fallen on some pieces of broken glass.

Assisted by the thoroughly frightened boys he walked toward the gymnasium, the nearest building at hand. After going about 100 yards his strength gave completely out and he was carried.

When the gymnasium was reached he was nearly dead. The sophomores left going to their rooms, while Raud was left alone with his room-mate, Wellons. Merriman tried to phone for a physician but failed. Wellons attempted other students by his cries for help, and Dr. McNider and President Venable were summoned. When they came however, Raud was dead.

Governor Orders Investigation.

Raleigh, Sept. 18.—Governor Kitchin this afternoon forwarded the following telegram to Dr. Francis P. Venable, president of the University:

"Am shocked and distressed to hear of the death of young Raud. Have same rigidly and thoroughly investigated and all facts and circumstances connected therewith made public. Make full report to executive committee of the trustees at a meeting to be called for the purpose."

Kitchin's Habit.

Since the Governor is in the habit of making attacks on his chief opponent, whoever that happens to be, the sincerity of his charges against the Democracy of Senator Simmons is to be taken at a discount. Such a thing had no place in the mind of anyone until the Governor became a prospective candidate for the Senatorship.—Stanly Enterprise.

CIGARETTES ARE BAD FOR WOMEN

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson Has Decided Views on Subject.

A CONFUSION OF NAMES

Miss of Democratic Candidate Gives Out Letter to Strong Stance on Smoking Habit.

New York.—The first time since Woodrow Wilson became the Democratic presidential candidate has Mrs. Wilson appeared. She attended in person her husband's daily conference with reporters, although heretofore she has made special requests that she be not quoted nor written about in the papers.

What Mrs. Wilson wished to have fully understood was that if she becomes the first lady of the land she will not, as has been said in a widely distributed interview, have packages of cigarettes in her personal desk at the White House and indulge in smoking them with her callers.

Through Governor Wilson, Mrs. Wilson asked that publicity be given to a letter she had written to the editor of the State Journal at Columbus, O., regarding an alleged interview with her in which she defended cigarette smoking for women. The interview had come to her in a letter signed "American Citizen," which said:

"Dear Madam—I can scarcely think of any greater calamity to the young women of the nation than to read such a preachment as your interview affords. I am a workingman, and I see men lose their jobs almost every day because they are incapacitated for work by the use of the cigarette. If smoking does this for strong men what will it do for girls and women?"

The "interview" was indeed a cordial endorsement of the woman smoker. Here are some of its assured phrases, all credited to Mrs. Wilson: "A woman writer for a syndicate of Sunday newspapers asked Mrs. Woodrow Wilson if she agreed with Gertrude Atherton's opinion of the smoking of cigarettes by women. She smilingly exhibited three cigarette boxes piled in the corner of her desk. It was the 'interview' which she had given to the reporter."

"Why shouldn't a woman smoke if she enjoys it?" she queried. "Why hasn't she just as much right to a cigarette as a man? Certainly I agree with Mrs. Atherton that any existing prejudice against woman smoking is to the last silly and absurd."

"Smoking cigarettes is a question of manners, not morals. It promotes good fellowship. "Some women feel that a cigarette calms their nerves and helps their brains into working order. Personally smoking diffuses my thoughts instead of concentrating them. I enjoy it as I enjoy after dinner coffee. Both are pleasant ways of ending and finishing off; both add to conviviality and good fellowship."

The editor of the Ohio State Journal, it was clear, had been much incensed at the apologies for the cigarette habit among women attributed to Mrs. Wilson, as he wrote on Aug. 10 an editorial in which he called for the defeat of Governor Wilson or a repudiation from his wife. If there was no mistake about it, he wrote, "Mrs. Woodrow Wilson shouldn't be mistress of the White House."

If the Ohio editor was emphatic, Mrs. Wilson was certainly not less so. After the reporters had said they would gladly publish her letter to the Ohio editor she asked for an hour's time in which to write one. This was what she prepared:

"Dear Sir—I have just received a copy of the Journal with your editorial entitled 'Smoking Women,' and I beg leave to deny indignantly the statement that I approve of women smoking cigarettes. The interview upon which your editorial was based is a pure invention. I intensely dislike the cigarette smoking habit for women—in fact, so strong is my feeling on the subject that my real danger lies in being unjust and unkind in my judgment of those who differ with me in this respect."

"But certainly no woman in our household ever has or ever will smoke. Apart from the bad taste of it, I believe with you that it has an extremely injurious effect on the nerves."

"ELLEN A. WILSON. ("Mrs. Woodrow Wilson.")

Governor Wilson, in approving the letter sent out by Mrs. Wilson, offered what he thought might prove an explanation for the interview.

"I do not think it was maliciously invented," he said. "There is a rather well known writer who signs herself Mrs. Wilson Woodrow, and she no doubt has been confused with Mrs. Wilson."

Mrs. Wilson Woodrow was formerly married to a relative of Governor Wilson, and it is understood that her views on the matter of women who smoke are different from those held in the household of the Democratic candidate.

The Democrats are not taking the election of Wilson for granted. They are working and working harder than in a score of years and working as a united party.

Farmers have awakened to the folly of the so-called blessings of a protective tariff.

ALLEN AND EDWARDS CAUGHT.

Detective Tells of How His Stealths Got Onto Trail Through Young Woman.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 15.—Hounded, guarded by three stalwart detectives and accompanied by the girl who unconsciously gave the police the clue to their hiding place, Sidney Allen and his nephew, Wesley Edwards, who took part in the shooting up of a court at Hillsville, Va., March 14 last, and who were arrested yesterday, arrived here tonight from Des Moines on their way back to the scene of the crime. The trip proved uneventful, Chief Detective Baldwin stated that the prisoners were in a dejected frame of mind. With the exception of Miss Maude Iroler, whose love for Wesley Edwards led the detectives to his hiding place, the entire party apparently relished their food and even the exchanging of jokes was not infrequent on the trip.

The youngest of the two prisoners as well as the girl herself were solicitous in having a rumor denied, that she had deliberately betrayed her sweet heart, Wesley Edwards. Detective Baldwin corroborated their statements and told the story of the events leading up to the capture to prove that the girl was no traitor to her lover. He said that when Edwards left Mount Airy, N. C., the girl's home, he had left $50 with her to be used to join him when he was safely released. The money was stolen and then replaced and in this manner Miss Iroler's father learned of it. Detective Baldwin stated that he had two of his men working on the Iroler farm; this way learned of a correspondence between the girl and Edwards.

"The remainder is easy," said Baldwin. "We watched her. When she left, those two men, Lucas and Monday, followed her, and I was right behind them on the next train. You know the story of the arrests and that is all there is to it."

The party left for Roanoke at 8 o'clock tonight over the Norfolk and Western Railroad, expecting to arrive here tomorrow at noon.

With the exception of desiring to correct the statement concerning Mrs. Iroler, neither Edwards nor Allen would talk tonight, confining their conversation to: "It's too warm to talk."

REWARD FOR CAPTURE

Richmond, Va., Sept. 15.—Governor Mann was officially advised today that Sidney Allen and Wesley Edwards were in the custody of Virginia officers. A telegram from Detective W. G. Baldwin, who made the arrest at Des Moines on Saturday, stated: "Have both men safe. Will arrive in Roanoke on Monday morning."

While expressing the utmost gratification over the capture of the so-called leaders, Governor Mann declined to say that Allen and Edwards were betrayed by the latter's sweetheart, Maude Iroler, of Mount Airy, N. C., who expects to claim the reward. It is generally understood that more than $3,000 will be paid for the capture of the prisoners, although the authorities declined tonight to say exactly what amount is now standing. The prisoners will be formally arraigned at Hillsville. Governor Mann indicated that Judge Walter B. Staples, who presided heretofore at the trials of Floyd, Claude, Fred and Victor will be designated to try them. It is the general idea in official circles here that the defense will ask for a change of venue, in which event Allen and Edwards will be placed in trial in Wytheville. Unless future developments should warrant it, the Governor will not provide any special guard to watch over the prisoners, as there is no danger of mob violence. They will be under careful scrutiny on

ROLLA WELLS IS EARLY ON THE JOB

Democratic National Treasurer Is After Small Contributor.

THE PEOPLE ARE TO HELP

There is to Be No "Tainted Money" Used in Electing Wilson and Marshall.

New York.—A small, smooth shaved, middle-aged man with a coat of tan that gave evidence of much outdoor life recently came into the Waldorf carrying a suit case early in the afternoon and registered as "Rolla Wells, St. Louis, Mo."

The smooth shaved little man, who is to be the watchdog of the Wilson campaign money from now on, was asked for vital statistics, whereupon it was learned at first hand that he is a banker and ex-mayor of St. Louis, is fifty-six years old, was graduated at Princeton in 1876, or three years before Governor Wilson was graduated; that he has two sons who are Princeton men and a grandson who some day will be a Princeton man; that he had no notion of seeing New York this summer until the Wilson organization selected him as its treasurer and that just at present the one thing that sticks out in the appointment in his mind is that the new job cut in seriously upon a most beautiful vacation which he and Mrs. Wells had been enjoying in a camp at Little Traverse bay, Michigan.

Mr. Wells believes in getting at his desk at 8 o'clock in the morning. "We are going to raise our campaign fund through the small contributions," said Mr. Wells.

"I am sure that a large part of the money will be raised by popular subscription. "The people have confidence in Woodrow Wilson, and they will give what they can of their means to elect such a man president."

"I am a great believer in publishing broadcast, before and after election, the various contributions made. "There are men who can well afford to give the committee $5,000, but I want to assure the public that we are not going to have any tainted money."

"We are appealing to the people, and we are relying on them to help elect Wilson and Marshall."

"I have two boys who have been graduated from Princeton, one five years ago and one seven. But it is not because ours is a Princeton family that I like Governor Wilson. He is a great big man and the type that we should have in public life."

Woodrow Wilson says this is not a time to be afraid to "speak out in meeting." That he was not afraid is demonstrated by his logical speech in accepting the Democratic nomination.

Roosevelt was willing to crawl from the White House to the capitol in 1908 if he could help his friend Root. Today he would like nothing better than meeting Root up a dark alley.

Their arrival in Roanoke tomorrow, however, and again when they are taken from Roanoke to Hillsville to plead.

NEW VERNER GIVEN SURRY COUNTY FARMER

Greensboro, Sept. 15.—A new version of events just preceding the shooting up of the Hillsville court house was given here tonight by a Surry county farmer who claims to have talked with Sidney Allen right after the tragedy and while Allen was hiding in the North Carolina mountains. "Sidna told me," he says "that the day before they shot up the courts Floyd Allen called the boys together and told them that if he was sentenced the next day they must do some shooting or else answer to him. Sidna says he pled with Floyd against such action, warning him that it would mean the death of all and urging some other method of keeping Floyd out of jail in case he was sentenced."

According to the story attributed to Sidna, Floyd Allen resented his remonstrances and once turned on him and, after prefacing his statement by a vile epithet, said:

"We went to Greensboro to get you out and if you let me go in tomorrow I will kill you when I come out, brother or no brother."

Sidna offered no further objection, said.

"We went to Greensboro to get you out and if you let me go in tomorrow I will kill you when I come out, brother or no brother."

Sidna offered no further objection, said.

Sidna Allen was tried in the United States courts here for counterfeiting, was convicted and later granted a new trial, this being pending at the time of the Hillsville tragedy.

RESPONDING TO CALL FOR FUNDS.

Charges of Alleged Fraud in South Carolina Primary to Be Probed.

Columbia, Sept. 8.—Contributions from men and women from every walk and vocation in life, and from the mountains to the seashore, are pouring into General Willie Jones, the treasurer of the committee, in response to a call for funds to carry on the probe of alleged fraud in the recent primary election and issued by John Gary Evans, the State chairman. In one day over $400 came in and more is arriving in every mail. It is believed the fund will amount to thousands of dollars by the end of next week and the letters accompanying the donations testify to the widespread and deep concern which the people in every section of the State are manifesting in the investigations of the allegation of fraud.

Pending the outcome of the probe of the sub-committee which is required to report to a full meeting of the State committee to be appointed by the chairman, the second primary for State officers is indefinitely delayed. The State committee took the ground that they have original jurisdiction over State officers and as such could order a second primary if necessary and when they decide, throw the whole primary out and order a new primary, or just as their judgment dictated. Acting on this they ordered a thorough probe of the charges of alleged fraud by a sub-committee, indefinitely delayed the declarations of results of the first primary, and requested that the second primaries for county officers not be held on the first take place next Tuesday.

One county, Newberry, has declined and states that they will wait and hold their second primary the same date as the second State primary. So far as known all other county committees will comply with the request of the State committee and hold the second primaries next Tuesday.

The tangle over the result of the first primary continues and while Governor Bleasor on the face of the returns had a majority of about 4,000 votes, no results has as yet been declared because charges of alleged wholesale frauds were made. Judge Jones contested every box in the State and Governor Bleasor charged in a speech from the State House steps that the Jones forces had stuffed the boxes to the extent of 20,000 votes. In the face of the enormous vote, 140,000, and the charges of fraud the State committee determined to sift the charges of wrong doing to the bottom before declaring any result. This is the object for which the sub-committee was appointed.

TARIFF HAS NOT HELPED FARMERS

Senator Gardner Gives Reason For Supporting Wilson.

NOW IS TIME FOR REWARD

Too Long Have They Been Fooled by False Gods—Rallying to Democracy's Banners.

The reasons why those engaged in agricultural pursuits should support Governor Woodrow Wilson for President are strongly set forth by Senator Obediah Gardner of Maine, in an address to farmers.

Senator Gardner is a practical farmer, one who farms his own farm, and he is probably in closer touch and sympathy with country life and its environments than any other man in public life.

For twenty-five years Senator Gardner has been actively interested in the National Grange and for ten years he was the master of the State Grange of Maine. A few years ago he came within a close margin of being elected Governor of the Pine Tree State.

A little less than a year ago, when Senator Frye, who had represented Maine in the Senate for thirty years, died, Governor Plafied honored Mr. Gardner, and recognized the agricultural interests of the country by appointing him to the United States Senate, where he has made a most creditable record, devoting particular attention to the welfare of the great rural population of the country. He is now a candidate for re-election and will undoubtedly be successful.

In his address Senator Gardner says:

To the Farmers of the United States, Greeting: Being one of you, and for the greater part of my life having been a farmer, I feel that I am in a position to speak for the farmer's needs, and it is solely because of this that I am prompted to address you.

For years farmers have justly complained of the tariff, and the fact is that the tariff has done more to injure the farmer than to help him. At the present time the farmers are charged with being the cause of the high price of food, and the amount invested in the tariff is being devoted to hand labor, and everything connected with the details of agricultural life—every acre of the poorest paid class of people in this country, while relatively the most important.

During all recent years farmers have been told that a great blessing has been theirs through the so-called protective tariff and yet to find that their principal crops they have had to compete with the world's produce at the price is fixed. But suddenly it is discovered that the farmer has the cause of the high price of food, and the amount invested in the tariff is being devoted to hand labor, and everything connected with the details of agricultural life—every acre of the poorest paid class of people in this country, while relatively the most important.

Now, the farmers of this country have an opportunity to benefit themselves that has never appeared within my recollection, as the Democratic party, by a vote of any that has been nominated or elected since Lincoln. A man of the type of a personal acquaintance with and a knowledge of his life as a man of great natural ability, splendidly equipped for every condition with which he is confronted, an "infinitely better" man, the right and above all a great broad tendency with and sympathy for all classes.

He will make one of the most accessible Presidents ever in the White House, and through whom the best interests of the hearing, however humble, nor fail to receive justice at his hands. He is truly a marvelous man and I wish every person in the United States could know him as I know him, and supplementing all these qualities is the addition that his home is one of perfect beauty.
