possible. But he promised to be no trouble-maker. He was going to file his dissent. Mr. Haymore looked more seriously at the mat tor. He declared that he holds himself not particularly bound as a minority party man to make good the work of a majority party man.

The debate on the homestead exemption produced merriment all the morning. The amendment looking to a reduction to $1,000 for married men and none at all for single men, was lost.

It was this assurance that representative Haymore championed so passionately. Hr. Haymore's fore. peroration pictured a steady exodus from North Carolina to other States which have had the machinery in operation so long that they have forgotten it.

"Why, Mr. Speaker," the Surry statesman shouted. "I wonder that this measure of such gigantic wisdom did not come from Ohio. I am sorry that it didn't Nearly everything else that we have had has been brought here from that State which has more turmoil in it than any other. But if the Legislature in their gigantic wisdom passes it, I shall have nothing to say.

"We are fixing a way to run North Carolina young men away It's a gross discrimination. Let it get out that North Carolina does not think enough of its young men, the State's best asset, and men will leave in droves if they knew there is no protection for them when they are unfortunate."

Senator A. D. Ivie, of Rockingham, who spoke for the measure often, but finally voted against a change, interrupted to suggest that a man needn't leave the State to get the exemption, that he might remain and marry some good North Carolina woman. "He would then have protectica," the Senator said.

"That is all right," retorted to make a bargain,"

"Oh, no; not with the distinguished Senator from Reckingham," Representative Haymore said, as he paid this devilish compliment to the Democratic bachelor.

wise an obligatory thing. The old question of taking the fines and forf-itures collected in municipalities and applying them to the schools of such town, likewise the fines and forfeitures of the county courts for the county schools, came in for long debate. It looked as though this would win. Strong arguments were made and religions liberty, and they for such division, the commission never will. being told that this is the essence

But the proposition to incorporate a six-months school term in the constitution; had unanimous endorsement. It had not sailed so smoothly in the former meetings, but had no fight yesterday to make.

Those who thought the law would be a nullity took the ground that unanimity would help and withdraw any opposition before made. The six months will now supersede, in declamation, the four months, first made a real accomplishment under Governor Aycock.

A full list of the propositions that the commission has reported to the G_vernor and the General Assembly in the form that they be submitted to the people for ratification as part of the Constitution is as follows:

"Substitute the phrase "War Between the States for the word "R-bellion,"

"Forbidding the prohibition of the use of the Bible in the public echools."

"Increasing the compensation of the General Assembly." "Initiative and referendum."

"Restricting local, private and special legislation." "Fixing the day for the in auguration of the Governor." "To enable the General Assem-Senator Ward, "but it takes two bly to provide emergency judges and to restrict rotation of Superior Court judges."

"To enable the General Assembly to provide an intermediate court of appeals." To eliminate certain obsolete sections of the Constitution." To revise and reform the system of revenue and taxation." ganoral la

Near Whitney, Stanley county, last week W. O. Parker, foreman for the H. B. Hardaway Company was attacked by one of the negro laborers employed on the contracting force and it is said he was forced to shoot him in selfdefense. Five shots are said to have taken effect in the negro while he was cutting the foreman. A coroner's jury investigated the case and exonerated Mr. Parker. Dave Lester, of Spring Hope, died las Wednesday evening as a result of a mule kicking him that morning. Mr. Lester was "snaking" logs for J. J. Sanders. The mule's feet got out of the traces, when Mr. Lester whipped him to make him get back in the traces. The mule kicked with fatal effect. Mr. Lester was a young man and has only been married about a year.

The little fellow had been placed ou the top of the load of hay and was riding to the house. He fell under the wheel which ran over his abdomen, badly crushing him. Pleading guilty to two charges of murder in the second degree, Jack Burton, alias Jack Berry, colored, charged with killing two women of his race in a dance hall in Asheville has just been tried and sentenced to serve a term of sixty years at hard labor in the State penitentiary by Judge Frank Oarter, presiding at the criminal term of Superior court. There were two seutences of thirty years each imposed by the court. In passing upon the cases, the court held that the trial docket of the Superior court is quite congested with criminal cases, and that the State of North Carolina would save money by accepting the plea.

During his entire life of 85 years the hybrid was the property of Mr. Mewborn and two years ago, when he became too feeble for work, the venerable beast was retired to finish his existence in a pasture, petted and pampered and free of care. The mule was known throughout the countryside, and years ago the neighbors of Mr. Mewborn ceased to speculate upon the animal's demise, for it seemed that there was little change in the faithful fellow's condition until recently and his extreme age ceased to be a subject of curiosity.

The International Bible Students' Association which will hold daily sessions for a week in Asheville, held its first meeting Sunday afternoon with over a thousand registered delegates, reprecenting nearly every State in the Union, in attendance. The features of the day's proceeding was an address by Pastor O. T. Russell, the president of the association. His subject "Beyond the Grave" was directed mainly along a line tending to show that there is no hell. He paid his respects to the creeds of the various denominations, declaring that few ministers today can defend the creed which they profess. There are quite a number of Negroes in the bunch.

The train was composed of Pullmans carrying people from Birmingham and Atlanta to Wrightsville, and, although running at high speed, was stopped by the time it ran half its length. The aged lady was wearing a sun-bonnet and started to cross the track without looking up.
