

Buy a Mechanical Drudge

ANY a winter day of back breaking labor has the average farmer spent stooping over the old buck saw, z-r-p, z-r-ping its way through tough wood for the kitchen stove supply. But the wise ones don't do it now. They have a handy engine to run the saw, while they rest and plan for next summer's work.

That engine is about the busiest and most convenient machine the wise man has on his farm. It pumps water for him, runs the separator, washing machine, feed grinder, corn sheller, and grindstone. Often it runs a hay press, ensilage cutter, small thresher, or a repair shop. The year round it drudges for him, saving the man's strength for more profitable things. And the wisest man has an because it does most for him at least cost. Its simplicity renders it almost trouble-proof. Its construction makes it easy to start and to operate, and it is most economical in fuel consumption. It is made of best material, and when necessary it will deliver 10 to 30 per cent above its rated horse power. I H C responsibility for the engine lasts all the years it is in service. I H C engines are made in all styles—vertical and horizontal, portable, stationary and skidded, air and water cooled. There are pumping, sawing and spraying outfits. Sizes from 1 to 50-horse power, to operate on gas, gasoline, naphtha, distillate, kerosene, and alcohol. Oil tractors, 6-12 to 30-60-horse power for plowing, threshing, etc.

The I H C local dealer will show you the engines and tell you all about them. Get catalogues from him, or write the FAITH.

Oct. 4.—Mrs. J. Shaping has returned from Savannah, Ga., where she went to see her little sick grand-daughter, but the little girl died before she got there.

M. G. M. Fisher has just sown fifteen acres in crimson clover, oats and rye. He was using a little machine to sow his seeds that looked to Venus like a little coffee mill, but it made the seeds fly.

Albert Miller, three sisters and his aunt, Margaret Houck, of the Grace Church settlement, came down in his large new automobile and spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. M. G. M. Fisher. While here they took a spin over the granite belt with Hilbert Fisher as chaperon. They were highly pleased with the many fine quarries. They also visited the Faith Lutheran Sunday School, the largest one in the county.

Marsh Holshouser had a corn shucking Wednesday night and had a large crowd. Who ever had a corn shucking this early? Trot out your corn pile.

H. A. Fesperman and A. T. Ritchie have just returned from the United States army, having served their time out. They are looking fine and are shaking hands with their old friends.

Venus was in China Grove Wednesday and saw the new knitting mill. W. W. Ricks, the superintendent, showed us around over the mill and it was the finest one we have ever seen. We visited the Pattern Manufacturing Company's cotton gin and J. H. Blackwelder, the ginmer, showed us around. He is the best ginmer in the county. He has four gins running and they turn out a bale of cotton every fifteen or twenty minutes. Twenty-two wagons loaded with cotton were waiting their turn. The gins are run by electricity.

H. A. Fisher returned to the naval academy at Annapolis, Md., Sunday, after visiting his parents a month.

We visited A. C. McDaniels. He has a fine lot of registered Berkshire hogs. He ships them all over the country. He bought the old Lion mill and made a barn out of it. He has two large trees at his shop, both eleven feet around.

Venus spent Wednesday night with J. J. Bostian, above China Grove. He has a fine farm, the largest turnips, finest fields of cotton and the largest rolling barn door we ever saw. We find they all take our Salisbury and Concord papers all over the country. They say they like to read after Venus.

J. T. Wyatt shipped a large granite chimney cap-stone today to Morganton, N. C. It was six out dress and was a beauty. He also shipped three pair of mill-stones today.

Venus took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. George Misenheimer Thursday near Mt. Hope. They have a fine farm and Mrs. Misenheimer sets a fine table.

Venus took dinner at Mr. and Mrs. M. G. M. Fisher's Saturday. They have the very best of everything.

Milas Stirewalt is some better. He can sit up in the bed some, but his wife is sick and he thinks she is taking the fever.

J. T. Wyatt will sell his gentle work horse, or swap it for a colt. It don't notice an automobile and children can drive it with all safety.

Business is good in Faith and cotton is selling well. VENUS.

DUNN'S MOUNTAIN.

Oct. 4.—Autumn is here and every one is busy gathering corn and cotton.

Mrs. James E. Dry, who has been confined to her bed for some time, is able to be up.

A series of revival services is now going on at Dunn's Mountain Baptist Church, the pastor, Rev. John R. Jordan, is being ably assisted by Rev. J. L. Kirk, of Chestnut Hill, and much good is being done.

W. L. Loftin, of Dunn's Mountain, has just returned from Asheville and reports a fine time. The writer wishes all the P. P. A.'s to never give him up, for he stays still back in the jungles of his tent.

In reference to what one of our lady correspondents said about the churches, I believe in the course of time there will not be as many denominations as we now have, as they are becoming more and more alike, except of course the Catholics.

W. L. Loftin, who has been sick with typhoid and gastritis, is able to be up and will soon resume his duties with the Southern Railway Company's supply department at Spencer.

M. S. Earnhardt has just erected a new addition to Chas. Dry's dwelling.

Miss Susan Hartman is going to have a new house soon. She already has the lumber on the ground for the contractor.

Avoid Sedative Cough Medicines.

If you want to contribute directly to the occurrence of capillary bronchitis and pneumonia use cough medicines that contain cocaine, morphine, heroin and other sedatives when you have a cough or cold. An expectorant like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is what is needed. That cleans out the culture beds or breeding places for the germs of pneumonia and other germ diseases. That is why pneumonia never results from a cold when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used. It has a world wide reputation for its cures. It contains no morphine or other sedative. MYCOTIC STOMATITIS AMONG COWS.

A Spreading Disease that May Kill Cattle. How to Treat It.

We are beginning to receive reports of some diseases that spread over the entire State last fall, Mycotic Stomatitis, or the sore mouth and feet of cattle. This is a disease caused by cattle eating feed containing irritating fungi, which causes an inflammatory condition of the mouth, togsue, nostrils, udder and teats.

The disease is the result of cattle eating feed containing irritating fungi, the fungi is usually found on the grasses during an unusually hot, wet season, immediately after heat and moisture being conducive to its growth.

The first symptoms usually noticed is a dripping of saliva from the mouth; inability to graze, sluggishness of the cattle, a slight stiffness of gait and inclination to lie down most of the time. Upon making a careful examination, the mucous membrane would be found inflamed and red, or, if the disease has progressed far enough, small ulcers may be found. The first portion usually affected is the dental pad, which takes the place of the front teeth in the upper jaw; this becomes inflamed and raw, consequently, the cattle are unable to graze, not being able to cut the grass blades, but could eat feed already cut. From this point, if not properly treated, the inflammation will spread until the entire mouth and tongue are involved, becoming raw, making it impossible for the cattle to eat anything. In some cases the outer portion of the lips and nostrils are involved.

In milch cattle, there is a great decrease in the milk flow, heavy milkers may completely dry up in a few days. Small red spots may be seen in the udder and the teats. A temperature of 105 degrees F. to 107 degrees F. is frequently seen. If the feet are examined carefully small red spots or ulcers may be seen at the top of the hoof or between the toes.

If the affected animals are on pasture they should be moved to some place where they can be properly treated and fed on bran, mash, or other easily masticated food and given plenty of fresh water. In each gallon of water put one teaspoonful of chlorate of potash. The mouth should be well washed two or three times a day with a three per cent water solution of carbolic acid, or crocinol or some other reliable antiseptic. The cattle should be kept in a dry, clean place, in order to keep the feet as free from dirt as possible. The feet should also be washed several times a day with an antiseptic solution. One of the most important things is to see that the cattle get something that they can eat. If constipated, give a pound of Epsom salts dissolved in one quart of warm water. If properly treated, the loss should not exceed one or two per cent.—Bulletin from Agricultural Department.

COULD SCARCELY WALK ABOUT

And For Three Summers Mrs. Vincent Was Unable to Attend to Any of Her Housework.

Pleasant Hill, N. C.—"I suffered for three summers," writes Mrs. Walter Vincent, of this town, "and the third and last time, was my worst. I had dreadful nervous headaches and prostration, and was scarcely able to walk about. Could not do any of my housework. I also had dreadful pains in my back and sides and when one of those weak, sinking spells would come on me, I would have to give up and lie down, until it wore off. I was certainly in a dreadful state of health, when I finally decided to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I firmly believe I would have died if I hadn't taken it. After I began taking Cardui, I was greatly helped, and all three bottles relieved me entirely. I fattened up, and grew so much stronger in three months, I felt like another person altogether." Cardui is purely vegetable and gentle-acting. Its ingredients have a mild, tonic effect, on the womanly constitution. Cardui makes for increased strength, improves the appetite, tones up the nervous system, and helps to make pale, sallow cheeks, fresh and rosy. Cardui has helped more than a million weak women, during the past 50 years. It will surely do for you, what it has done for them. Try Cardui today.
