Entered as second-class matter Jan. 19th, 1906, at the post office at Salisbury, N. C., under the act of Congress of March 3rd, 1879.

Salisbury, October 22, 1913

Sulzer seems to be coming to the front and is being met with ovations where ever he goes.

Theodore Roosevelt has arrived in Brazil, a chance for that country to place a bull moose in its zoo.

Ashely Horn, a well known North Carolinian, died at his home at Clayton yesterday. He was a candidate for governor five years ago.

Mrs. Pankhurst, the noted English suffragette, has arrived in New York and will start on a lecture tour Friday. There should be no objection to Mrs. Pankhurst delivering lectures in this country so long as she confines herself to reasonable argument.

Some one has started a boom for Governor Craige as a proper successor to Senator Overman in 1915. In our opinion the fellow who started such an idea hasn't got his brain working right. In the first place Senator Overman will succeed himself and in the second place an anti-Bible reader need not show up for anything.

Next week is trade in Salisbury week and everybody west of Monroe, east of Asheville, north of the South Carolina line or south of the Virginia line is cordially invited and expected to be in Salisbury to do their shopping. Look over the advertisements in THE WATCHMAN and while in town make it a point to give these live merchants a call. And don't forget THE WATCHMAN is the paper. Give us a call and be welcome.

The trial of Thos. E. Watson, editor-author and a former presidential candidate, for sending obscene matter thorough the mail was quashed in the United States Court at Augusta, Ga., yesterday. Mr. Watson is the publisher of a magazine and a weekly paper and has been making some onslaughts on the Roman Catholic church and reprinted some of the filth to be found in their books of instructions to priests, for which some Catholics desired to have him prosecuted, or rather persecuted. The indictment was thrown out on the ground that it was not possible to pick out a phrase here and there and find one guilty thereon. The entire publication must be obscene to convict on such a charge. This is a great victory for the freedom of the press and the propaganda against Romanism.

It used to be that those who objected to the reading of the Bible were considered persecutors and tyrants, but now since our Baptist brethren have arranged a Bible all for themselves and fear that should a Bible be read in the school other than this new one, the positions are reversed and those who want the Bible read are the tyrants, according to A. Johnson, of Charity and Children. We submit that if the desire to have the Bible read without comment is tyrannical then what is the missionary spirit? Did the Master assume the role of a tyrant when he said go ye and preach the gospel to all the world? This appears strange, since no one objects to a convert being immersed, if he so desires, that our brethren seem to make this point the one requisite to salvation. This opinion of the Baptists' position seems to be strengthened by the fact that only a few leaders who know of this new Bible oppose the reading of the Bible in school, while the rank and file, unaware of this recent invention, are heartily in favor of its being read therein.

To Prevent Blood Poisoning apply at once the wonderful old reliable DR. PORTER'S ANTISEPTIC HEALING OIL, a surgical dressing that relieves pain and heals at the same time. Not a liniment. 25c, 50c, $1.00.

THE WATCHMAN regrets to see the new method of tax collecting adopted for Salisbury. It is one of those peculiarly freak measures with which the country is suffering and assists, with others of similar ilk, in making the rich richer and the poor poorer. It saves money for the wealthy, those who can take advantage of the arrangement, and takes money from the poor who cannot meet the requirements. As the poor is the under dog in the fight and bears all the burdens any way, this measure is particularly unjust. Oh that we could find some statesmen, men without selfishness, men with justice in their souls and brains in their head to occupy the posts in the law making bodies of our land! In this day of paternalistic tendencies it is surprising such a measure could have been made into law, and this right at the time when the nation is trying to assist the poor and make the rich pay their just portion of the national revenue in the way of an income tax. Who daddied this outrage?

MARRIAGES

The marriage of Miss Maude, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Seaford, of Granite Quarry, and R. C. Jones, at one time cashier of the bank of Granite Quarry, and now of Washington, D. C., took place in the Lutheran Church at Granite Quarry last Wednesday evening, Rev. R. R. Sowers, the pastor, officiating. Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple left for a tour of northern cities.

As announced last week the marriage of Miss Annie Laurie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Ramsay, and Thos. M. Hines, son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Hines, of Rocky Mount, now a resident of Salisbury, took place in the First Presbyterian Church last Wednesday evening. The church was handsomely decorated for the occasion and a special choir furnished appropriate music. Six young men acted as ushers and were the first of the bridal party to enter the church, then came four young ladies, the bridesmaids, Mrs. Claude Ramsey, dame of honor, and Miss Elinor Ramsey, maid of honor, entered and proceeded to positions near the altar, then followed the bride with her father, James H. Ramsay, who gave her away. Miss Ramsey was met at the altar by Mr. Hines accompanied by his best man, Jim Hines, of Rocky Mount. Rev. Byron Clark, D. D., pastor of the church, then read the marriage ceremony and pronounced the couple man and wife. The bridal party then proceeded to the Ramsey home where a very pleasant reception was held. The house was also decorated and quite a number of invited guests called. Receiving with the bride and groom were Mr. and Mrs. Jas. H. Ramsay, parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hines, of Rocky Mount, parents of the groom, and Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Ramsay, of Seattle, Wash. During the evening refreshments were served and all present enjoyed the hospitality extended very much. The happy couple later left for New York where they will spend a week or so and will then return to Salisbury and make this place their home.

A beautiful home wedding will take place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. H. Shaver this evening, when their daughter, Miss Laura May, will become the wife of Conrad K. Howan, Rev. M. M. Kinard officiating. After the ceremony there will be a reception.

The marriage of Miss Euta Belle Sheeley and George Fisher took place this morning at 5 o'clock. They left immediately for Cincinnati, Ohio, where Mr. Fisher is employed as transportation agent for the Southern Railway Company. Rev. O. A. G. Thomas officiated.

After Missing Arms.
The Venus of Milo explained. "I sewed my arms off making clothes for my summer vacation," she cried. Thus we see the ancient substitute for nervous prostration.—Harper's Bazar.

Have you ever wanted a collar badly and found those just returned to you badly worn and broken? Did you ever start to dress in a hurry, put on your collar, start to tie your four-in-hand and have your tie stick? What did you do? Give the collar a yank, have it come unbuttoned or buckle up and creak at the joints? If after the struggle you succeeded with the tie did you whistle merrily or did you
