FAITH.

July 21—The proceeds of the ice cream supper of the Reformed Church Saturday night at J. A. Peeler's amounted to forty one dollars and forty eight cents. How is this for results.

Below Faith a young granite cutter at James McComb's July 13th.

Mrs. G. B. Fink and children and Miss Annie Holsinger of Salisbury are visiting Mr. Fink's parents and other relatives a week or two.

Venue took dinner with W. M. McComb Sunday for the first time they are good cooks they set a fine table they have 9 children, their names are: Lena Sarah Isabella, Ella May, Clara Irene, Harless Adam, Luther Craven, John William, Charlie Heller, Loy Macon, Kathleen Jane. Mr. McComb has a lot of property, a store, a steam saw mill, corn mill, cotton gin, farm, horses, cattle, farming tools. And is one of the firm of Fisher & McComb granite works, a hard worker and good liver.

Last week at and near Rockwell was the hardest rain that fell this year, they say it was a real gully washer.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawson Saffrit and little son who farms at Caleb Cruse's in Cabarrus county, were visiting at Harvey Wyatt's Sunday.

Mr. Patrick Boger has come over to Faith to work for Jack Brenton at Cauble's granite quarry where big money is being made.

Billy Bruce and James Morry were visiting at Granite Quarry Sunday.

Mutt and Jiff are working at the Cauble pasture quarry at Faith.

Mr. and Mrs. Shuping are visiting Mrs. Shuping's brother for the purpose of Milton Hoffner seeing their little twin girls.

Will Ritchie is down with the mumps.

J. T. Wyatt shipped another car load of street curbing today.

All the Brown's of this place will go to the Brown reunion at Granite Quarry July 25th.

In George Fesperman's yard is a cedar tree six feet high in a circle, who ever can beat that trot out your cedar tree.

A young man, a farmer and his wife drove to Faith today hunting a farm to rent for next year.

Miss Nellie Misamer of Ebenezer settlement is spending a few weeks here with her aunt, Mrs. John Rinehardt. Mrs. Rhinehardt has been sick a week or so, but is getting better now.

D. A. Frick of Plum Branch, S. C. drove up to Faith in his automobile to visit his sister-in-law Mrs. Paul Barger. He was accompanied by his daughter and Miss Sadie Sell.

Angustus Peeler is teaching a subscription school here at the public school house.

William Foil put on the furrows and balladed a pair of millstones today. He is one of the finest cabinet workers and machinists in this county excepting John Rinehardt.

Mr. and Mrs. John Brenton have a lot of borders now.

Eleven pigs at Ivey Basingers of a fine stock.

Miss Annie Winterspoon is visiting Miss May Peeler here.

Miss Edith was a welcome visitor at Mrs. W. S. Barger's Sunday.

There will be preaching at the Reformed Church Sunday at the usual hour. The sermon will be preached by Rev. Harvey Fesperman of Charlotte.

Miss May Peeler leaves to morrow for Burlington where she will visit her room mate, Miss Fannie Clapp, she will visit other friends in Greensboro and High Point while she is away.

Alford Rasher from Hendersonville, N. C., is in Faith today shaking hands with his old friends. He is visiting at David Rasher's and will visit other relatives while here. He is looking well and he formerly lived near St. Paul's Church.

Sampson Shaping is in Faith today and we believe he has the largest mushrooms in the county and the most of them.

M. G. M. Fisher is in Faith today having the well cleaned out at the big boarding house he has rented to Mr. Brenton.

Mrs. Col Deal has gone down to visit her parents near Misenheimer's for three or four days.

Some body came along and tacked up a lot of cards that read like this meet at China Grove August 10th. A big crowd from here will go.

Our mail carrier is selling his big imported geese to the citizens of Faith. Mrs. J. A. Peeler has one.

Prof. G. F. McAllister, principal and Prof. of North Carolina College at Mt. Pleasant N. C., was a visitor at Faith last week. While here he visited the curiosities of J. T. Wyatt and was much pleased with them. He left us one of his catalogues and it is interesting to read. He is out in the interest of his college. Venus.

Planning Farm Work Ahead.

As this is read the active season so far as the production of our staple crops is concerned, will be drawing to a close. It is true that some cultivation still remains to be done; but as at the farmer can do little more henceforth toward making the crop. If the present outlook is poor if stands are bad, and if unfavorable weather conditions appear to have out yields, we believe in many cases the trouble may largely be attributed to a lack of vegetable matter—hums—in the land and to a lack of adequate preparation. Now that the less trouous days are here and we have some time to look about and plan the next year's work, the progressive farmer will begin to see some way of avoiding a repetition of the losses sustained this year.

Right now one of the most profitable bits of planning any farmer can do is to arrange to plant some clover this fall. If a small patch was grown last year the acreage this fall should be increased, and if none has hitherto been grown, by all means a small patch should be planted. Bear in mind that here we have reference particularly to bur and crimson clovers, two great winter builders that have proved successful on practically every well drained soil type in the South.

We want to emphasize, too, the importance of getting clover seed early, as it seems almost certain now that the demand will far outrun the supply.

We are here emphasizing this matter of a cover crop of clover because, as we have often said before, it is only the farmer with a rich, clover covered humus filled soil that is ever to make anything farming. These cover crops offer such a cheap and splendid means of filling the soil with fertility that we believe no man is realizing on his opportunities who fails to grow them. Get in touch with reliable growers and dealers at once and prepare to become a clover grower and soil builder.—The Progressive Farmer.
