

COULD SCARCELY WALK ABOUT

And For Three Summers Mrs. Vincent Was Unable to Attend to Any of Her Housework.

Pleasant Hill, N. C.—"I suffered for three summers," writes Mrs. Walter Vincent, of this town, "and the third and last time, was my worst. I had dreadful nervous headaches and prostration, and was scarcely able to walk about. Could not do any of my housework. I also had dreadful pains in my back and sides and when one of those weak, staking spells would come on me, I would have to give up and lie down, until it wore off. I was certainly in a dreadful state of health, when I finally decided to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I firmly believe I would have died if I hadn't taken it.

After I began taking Cardui, I was greatly helped, and all three bottles relieved me entirely.

I fattened up, and grew so much stronger in three months, I felt like another person altogether."

Cardui is purely vegetable and gentle-acting. Its ingredients have a mild, tonic effect, on the womanly constitution.

Cardui makes for increased strength, improves the appetite, tones up the nervous system, and helps to make pale, yellow cheeks, fresh and rosy.

Cardui has helped more than a million weak women, during the past 50 years. It will surely do for you, what it has done for them. Try Cardui today.

FAITH.

Venus was at the Peeler re-nun- tion at Crescent and took dinner there with the largest crowd of Peelers he ever saw. It was a great success, the table was thirty-one steps long and everybody enjoyed the day very much. The Rockwell band furnished music for the occasion. People were there from far and near.

We heard that there were more people at Granite Quarry now than was ever there before. One boarding house there has something like thirty-five or forty boarders. The granite belt is growing.

The first farmer that we have seen picking cotton this year was at James Ritchie's farm near Faith.

Henry Risher of Hendersonville, N. C., is on a visit at Faith shaking hands with his old friends. He is at his post in John Corl, now.

Mrs. J. R. Brown and little daughter are spending a week with Mrs. Brown's sister-in-law, Mrs. P. A. Peeler.

Rev. and Mrs. R. L. Brown are visiting their daughter, Mrs. P. A. Peeler.

J. T. Wyatt shipped a three and-a-half foot pair of mill stones today to Doughton, N. C.

J. T. Wyatt has been awarded a contract for one hundred and eleven granite posts. They are to be used to support a nice ornamental iron fence around a cemetery in Davie County.

Miss Maud Deal is visiting her sister, Mrs. Cal Deal, a few weeks. Robert Cauble of Salisbury is visiting his aunt, Mrs. Andy Casper.

Rans Beck and his brother and their sons are working up near Faith for J. T. Wyatt in the quarry and they are good quarrymen.

Mr. and Mrs. Bolick left in their automobile for Lincoln County to visit Mr. Bolick's people after visiting Mrs. Bolick's parents here.

O. E. Wagoner of Gold Hill is visiting his brother, Luther Agner, of Faith.

Another new boarder came in at the Brenton boarding house. He is from Burlington, Va.

Rev. J. R. Jordan will preach a special sermon to the Jr. O. U. A. M., No. 100, at Faith in the Junior hall Thursday night, September 8th, for the members of the Junior Order only.

Young gentleman at John Jones' August 19th.

James Jones has bought a motorcycle.

Young gentleman at Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Emery's at Granite Quarry, July 8th.

Daniel Alexander Parks, son of John Parks, was born February 21st, 1889 and departed this life August 18th, 1914, age 25 years and six months. He was married August 24th, 1912, at Athelmarie, N. C., to Miss Lula May Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Green. He leaves a wife, father, mother, one brother and two sisters to mourn his death. The funeral was conducted at the Baptist Church at Faith Saturday, August 22, Rev. J. R. Jordan officiating.

Venus took dinner at Mr. and Mrs. L. I. Cauble's Sunday, August 23rd for the first time. Mrs. Cauble is one of the finest cooks in the county, she has put up 148 jars of fruit this year and is not done yet, she has made fifteen gallons apple butter. Mr. Cauble has a large farm and the biggest pile of wheat we have seen. He will have wheat to sell. We had watermelons and cantaloupes a plenty to eat there.

M. A. Holshouser furnished a big two horse load of watermelons for the Lutheran Sunday school picnic of Faith recently held at Lutheran Chapel near China Grove.

M. A. Holshouser made this year seven hundred and twenty-four bushels of wheat and oats with three horses. Who ever beats that with three horses trot 'em out.

John Goodman and family of Rockwell visited at L. I. Cauble's Sunday.

M. A. Holshouser has one acre of the finest sugar cane in this part of the county.

Rev. O. P. Fisher was called to Lowerstone Reformed Church Friday, August 21st, to officiate at the funeral of Frank Isenhour. Mr. Isenhour died from the effects of heart trouble the day before. He was a member of Lowerstone and was a splendid citizen. He was sixty-one years old. Venus.

TRADING FORD.

August 29—Still a little warm and dry in this section.

The protracted meeting at Trading Ford Baptist Church closed Friday night. Eight joined the church and were baptized Sunday.

A. P. Miller has a very sick child at this writing.

L. H. Eller has torn down all the gates and fences at and his place, wearing his hat on one side, singing old sweet home at the top of his voice, feeling twenty years younger and declares himself much better looking. You see it, a boy.

The Woodmen had a good attendance at their meeting Saturday night. They are still growing.

G. A. Peacock, P. N. Peacock and T. R. Garner of Salisbury returned home Saturday from an extended trip through western and northern North Carolina. They walked about 90 miles on their journey and viewed the great mountains of that section. This was one of the most exciting trips the writer ever took. We spent one night in Sparter, on night over in Ashe County, one night at Boone, one night at Blowing Rock and other places too numerous to mention. I will never enjoy a better trip.

Labour day is soon here and we all hope to enjoy the day. The Woodmen expect to take part in the parade. Let everybody attend.

The Farmers Have Big Meeting in Raleigh

The program for the farmers' convention and round-up institute, as recently published in THE WATCHMAN was fully carried out at Raleigh last week, beginning Tuesday and closing Thursday. As the farmers left for their homes, all declaring this convention, while not as large in point of numbers as was desired, was the best yet held by the organization.

Dr. H. Hill who has been nursing in his efforts to make the convention a success stated just before adjournment that all told there had been in attendance on the convention in the three days that it had been in session 522 people and that next year it was hoped that one thousand or more would lend their presence to this important gathering.

The outstanding feature of the final session was the election of officers to serve for the ensuing year. The committee on nominations made their report, a vote was taken on the report as a whole and the following officers were declared elected; President, B. F. Shelton, Edgecombe; first vice-president, W. S. Pharr, Mecklenburg; second vice president, J. B. Sellars, Robeson; third vice-president, E. B. Whitford, Craven; secretary and treasurer, T. E. Brown, West Raleigh.

Mr. Shelton, the newly-elected president of the association, is a prominent farmer of Edgecombe county, giving special attention to the raising of cotton and live stock and is also quite an extensive lumberman. He owns one of the largest herds of Hereford cattle in the State. Mr. Shelton has been a member of the Legislature from Edgecombe county and is an enthusiastic believer in good roads. He is also a member of the Tar River Live Stock Association. He is a man of means, having made his money in raising cotton, cattle and in the lumber business. He is married and has several children.

Caught a Bad Cold.

"Last winter my son caught a very bad cold and the way he coughed was something dreadful," writes Mrs. Sarah E. Duncan, of Pipton, I. Va. "We thought sure he was going into consumption. We bought just one bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and that one bottle stopped his cough and cured his cold completely."

looking out across the river, with his glasses in his hand. I got as close to him as anybody else did, and I reckon I stood about 15 or 20 minutes right by his side. He was about six feet tall, stood straight and erect, and was about 65 years old, and his hair was partly gray. He had on a light dove colored hat, a broadcloth mantle carried a satchel on his wrist, and wore number 10 shoes. He had with him his wife and family, 500 mounted soldiers and some eight or 10 or more ambulances. These ambulances were made something like our wagon beds are today. In one ambulance was Mrs. Davis and her three daughters, the oldest about 16 years of age, the second about 14, and Miss Winnie, a baby in her arms. This ambulance was drawn by two mules, driven by the oldest girl. I never could imagine why that girl was driving those mules. The family crossed the river before the President did, and while crossing the lead mule jumped into the river, and such screaming among the ladies I never heard in my life. I told the men who were helping me what to do and they got the mule out safe. The President was riding a beautiful, fine wild horse, and he led his horse on the boat and held him and talked to him and patted him all the way across. I happened to touch his horse with my pole and he asked me not to do that again. I was afraid some of the other men might happen to touch his horse with their poles and I asked them not to touch the President's horse and the President repeated the request after me and asked them not to touch his horse. I have never understood why he was riding that wild horse unless he thought he could outrun the Yankees if they tried to get him, and he sure would have given them a chase with that horse. One of the ambulances was drawn by four as fine mules as I have ever looked at, and a mighty nice man was driving them. When he drove these fine mules upon the boat he said to me, this is the heaviest load you have had yet, ain't it? and I told him that it was. I told him that I had one that had weighed 16,000 pounds but that his mules were the heaviest load yet. As I have just said, there were eight or 10 or more ambulances in the escort, and some were loaded with corn, some flour, some bacon, and I think one had silver and gold in it. I am sure it did. The President and his family were on their way from Richmond, Va., to their home in Mississippi. He gave me a dollar for setting them across the river, and I kept that dollar, which I was very proud of and prized very highly, until my horse was barred and it was melted in the fire.

While we were guarding the railroad bridge on the Yaddin River the Yankees sent some spies to our side, and in less than an hour they were on us. We fought them and killed a pile of them. They got in the ferryman's house, which was a pretty good framed building and shot at us out of the window. We had two artilleries and we loaded them and shot up the house, and what the balls didn't kill the timbers of the house did. Not one of them lived and not one of our men got killed. We got a fine telescope from one of them. Yankee. Colonel Moss said his men behaved pretty in that fight. General Beauregard's son, who was about 22 or 23 years old, and a fine boy, had been with us guarding the bridge, but they decided that they needed him worse at Salisbury to help guard about 1,000 Yankee prisoners, and he was taken prisoner there by the Yankees.

It was a sad sight to see the soldiers crossing the river on their way home. Some were wounded and bloody, some had broken arms and scratched up pretty bad. I stayed there and helped them cross the river because I felt like that I could not do enough for them.

SAISBURY PROOF.

Should Convince Every Salisbury Reader.

The frank statement of a neighbor, telling the merits of a remedy, bids you pause and believe. The same endorsement by some stranger far away commands no belief at all. Here's a Salisbury case. A Salisbury citizen testifies. Read and be convinced.

William A. Baker, 1015 S. Fulton St., Salisbury, N. C., says: "I had backache and my kidneys were out of order. A friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I did so. They helped me immediately and a couple of boxes stopped the trouble."

Mr. Baker is only one of many Salisbury people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you—don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Baker had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c. all stores.
