Red Devil Lye
EATS UP FILTH
Stop the Fly Host
FILTH MAKES FLIES AND OUT-DOORS ARE FILTH FACTORIES
Make Your Out-Door Sanitary
The odor arising from privies are stinking and unbearable, particularly in summer. They are also the breeding place for flies and other vermin. Flies carry disease germs direct from such places to the baby's milk, the meats, vegetables, pies and other foodstuffs. Typhoid fever is invariably transmitted from germs that originate in out-houses and such breeding places, and these germs are usually carried to the house and kitchen by flies that take an air route.
RED DEVIL LYE, plentifully sprinkled in privies every two or three days, will eat up the filth deposits, keep such places sanitary, and wipe out the pestiferous fly.
The cost is trifling, while the benefits can not be measured in dollars and cents.
Use Red Devil Lye for this important purpose, you will be amazed to find how it actually eats up the filth. Do it at once, and get rid of the filth, flies and odors.
RED DEVIL LYE is Death to the Fly
BIG CANS 5c. and 10c., pulverized, ready to sprinkle. Write for Booklet "PREVENT."

The organized Bible class, A. B. Saleeby.
Song, "Work for the Night is Coming."
Miscellaneous business.
Election of officers.
Adjournment.

Why is it Thus?
Since Frank Holt placed a bomb in the Capitol at Washington and shot J. P. Morgan, a campaign for the prevention of such occurrences has been inaugurated, one of the principal points of which is this: "Every threatening letter reported to the Postoffice authorities will be given to Chief Inspector Koons with instructions to trace it to the author and enforce the postal laws covering such offenses."
Writers of threatening letters are liable to have their liberty snatched from them if this ruling is enforced, but it seems to make a difference whose goat is sought by writers of threatening letters. At least the effort made by The Menace to secure prosecution of offenders of this kind has signally failed. We have religiously submitted threatening letters to the proper authorities and have always been informed that the law had not been violated.
We have letters now on file which are threatening in the extreme, and if the above ruling is of any effect, if it is applicable to all cases, if a criminal threat is a criminal threat, regardless of who is threatened, then there ought to be prosecution.
If the courts, press, legislatures and public places were not so saturated with papal poison there would be more justice done and less of crime. It makes a difference whose goat is annexed by the writers of threatening letters, but if Chief Inspector Koons wants something to work on while the Holt case is developing, we can furnish a bunch of letters that will make his hair curl, and shock his sensibilities.
But the hounds are on another trail!—The Menace.

Is He Sincere?
Frank Johnson, Attorney General of Mississippi, a convert to Catholicism, recently said: "In the midst of the intellectual rooklessness and activity of the twentieth century, when every claim and theory is questioned the Catholic church stands immovable. It has an answer to every question and a solution for every doubt concerning faith and morals, and its theologians are ready and armed and equipped to repel every assault on the Christian religion and the Catholic church."
Johnson may be sincere. We do not question his right to such a belief, but the armed and equipped papists who were active in Marshall, Tex., in February; the faith and morals which found expression at Niagara, Wis., in the person and practices of Priest Phelan, and other notoriously disreputable activities of Romish rule or ruin brigade which have followed each other in rapid succession in our country are not especially admirable as religious expression. They seem particularly obnoxious and repulsive as the doings of men who claim to be models of virtue.
Show us something with a cleaner record, with a deeper regard for the rights and feelings of others,

They Are Passing.
Take a walk through any of the cemeteries throughout the country and you will believe with us that fools are passing away.
With silent tread you pass the last resting place of the individual who blew into an empty gun.
The modest tombstone of the hired girl who lighted the fire with kerosene, and the grass-covered mound that cover the remains of a boy who took a mule by the tail.
The tall monument of the man who jumped off the car to save a ten rod walk.
Side by side lay the remains of the aetherial creature who always kept her corset laced up to the last hole and the intellectual idiot that rode a bicycle nine miles in ten minutes.
Here reposes the young doctor who was foolish enough to take a dose of his own medicine, and the old fool who married a young wife.
Right yonder in the northeast corner, where the goat's breezes sigh through the weeping willows, lies the fellow who told his mother-in-law she lied.
Down there in the potter's field with his feet sticking out to the rude blasts of the winter and the blistering rays of the summer's sun, stretches all earthly remains of the misguided regulator who tried to lick the editor, while the broken bones of the man who wouldn't pay for his paper lay piled in the fence corner.
Nearby his grave unmarked reposes the mouldering dust of the editor who starved to death trying to run a first class paper in a second class town.
Right there in the path directly in front of the entrance, obstructing the way, is the grave of the man who tried to run the town.—Ex.

Whenever You Need a General Tonic Take Grove's
The Old Standard Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic is equally valuable as a General Tonic because it contains the well known tonic properties of QUININE and IRON. It acts on the Liver, Drives out Malaria, Enriches the Blood and Builds up the Whole System. 50 cents.

It Always Helps
says Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky., in writing of her experience with Gardui, the woman's tonic. She says further: "Before I began to use Gardui, my back and head would hurt so bad, I thought the pain would kill me. I was hardly able to do any of my housework. After taking three bottles of Gardui, I began to feel like a new woman. I soon gained 35 pounds, and now, I do all my housework, as well as run a big water mill.
I wish every suffering woman would give
GARDUI
