He Would Pay.
 It happened at a Christmas party. A pretty young lady had asked one of the male guests to pass a dish of almonds and raisins.

"With pleasure," he replied, "but do you know that what you have asked for is called in the vernacular 'Kiss-miss,' and that the penalty of a kiss attaches to the request?"
 "Is that so?" answered the lady, calmly. "I must consult my husband." And she called across the room to him, and repeated the observation.
 "Quite so," he replied. "According to custom, it is a just debt and must be paid. But is the gentleman aware of the arrangement made when we were married—that I must settle all my wife's liabilities?"

How Germans Attack.
 It has frequently been stated of late that the German troops attack in mass formation even in the face of machine gun and shell fire, a policy little short of suicidal under conditions of modern warfare. A Dutch army officer who has been an observer on the front says that this is not strictly so. He states that the attack has the appearance of a mass attack because it is composed of successive waves of infantry. The rear waves are kept in close formation to heighten the morale of the troops, but the attack is not a mass attack, strictly speaking. The Germans charge in close order when they have located what they consider the weak spot in the line of defense.

RECORDS WILL AID BREEDER

Dairyman Must Answer Various Questions Asked by Prospective Buyer of Herd Sire.

(By L. W. WING, JR., Missouri Agricultural College.)

The present sharp competition in the dairy business and the increased price of feed force the successful dairyman to secure the greatest return possible from his outlay. If he has registered cows he expects more for his progeny than if he had only grades. But to obtain more and enough more to pay to keep purebred stock, the dairyman must be able to answer the following questions from the prospective buyer of a herd sire. Is the sire registered? What is the record of his dam? How many advance registry daughters and proved sons has his sire? And what are the records of his granddams and grandfathers? If the breeder is selling a registered cow he must answer: What is her record; the record of her dams and granddams and the ability of her sire and grandfathers to produce advance registry daughters and proved sons?

VALUABLE HINTS FOR DAIRY

Overfeeding Causes More Trouble Than Underfeeding—Make Change to Skim Milk Gradual.

(By H. H. KILDEE, University Farm, St. Paul.)

In rearing and developing dairy heifers:
 Don't overfeed. Twice as many calves are stunted by overfeeding as by underfeeding.
 Don't change suddenly from whole to skim milk.
 Don't keep calves in damp, dark, crowded, poorly ventilated barns.
 Don't feed milk in dirty pails.
 Don't be irregular as to time of feeding, temperature or amount of milk.
 Don't feed too much alfalfa hay before the calf is three months old.
 Don't let calves suck each other after drinking milk. They should be placed in stanchions and fed grain.
 Don't make calf go without water because it has had milk.
 Don't let calf drink foaming milk just from the separator.

MILKROOM IS A NECESSITY

Particularly Desirable in Warm Weather and Should Be Screened and Kept Clean.

A milkroom is a necessity in dairying, according to W. E. Tomson, instructor in dairy husbandry in the Kansas State Agricultural college. A milkroom is needed at all times, but is particularly important in warm weather, pointed out Mr. Tomson. Milk must be kept away from flies. The room should be tightly screened and kept in a sanitary condition. The milkroom affords good facilities for keeping the milk cool. This is essential because when the temperature of the milk is higher than 5 degrees undesirable bacteria that cause the milk to spoil in a short time are likely to develop.

GOOD TREATMENT FOR COLIC

Disorder is Result of Feeding Materials Not Adapted to Stomach of Young Animals.

Colic in calves is the result of feeding materials not adapted to the undeveloped stomach of the young animal, or the feeding of the regular ration at unusual hours or in unusual amounts. The calf usually suffers violent abdominal pains, indicated by an unusual activity of the animal, frequent and continuous kicking, and, finally, complete prostration. Unless relieved within a short time, death usually follows. A standard treatment is to drench the calf at intervals of two hours with a mixture containing a teaspoonful of turpentine and a tablespoonful of raw linseed oil.

GIVE RIGHT AMOUNT OF FEED

Careful Feeders Study Individual Animals and Keep Them at Their Maximum Production.

Many careful feeders have their cows giving the most milk four or five weeks after the freshening time. They study the individual animals and endeavor to keep them at their maximum production by giving just the right amount of feed and no more.

ESTABLISHED VOGUE FOR SUMMER FURS.

The vogue of summer furs appears to be established and the globe-trotting public is probably responsible for it. The whereabouts of those who finally make fashions appear to be determined by the variations of the thermometer and these fleet and fleeting seekers after comfort and change, carry their furs with them to the four corners of the globe. While we are looking for reasons for wearing furs in summer weather—we are not to overlook the fact that they are amazingly becoming.
 But furriers have seen to it that fur garments for summer wear look very different from fur garments for winter wear. Summer furs borrow a summery look from crepe and silk liberally used in combination with them. They do not take the business of providing warmth at all seriously, but are made up usually in small, loose-hanging capes, worn as if slipping off the shoulders. Scraps of white fox furnish one instance of a fur piece good for both summer and winter wear and scarfs in dark gray or taupe, appear among summer furs that will be useful in winter.
 Small ermine capes and small capes of Hudson seal trimmed with ermine, lead the little procession of summer furs and, next to them, capes of shirred silk or crepe banded with furs are conceded the place of honor. Of course not everything that calls itself ermine is really ermine, nor need we inquire too closely into the pedigree of all the neck pieces that are called white fox; furriers are amazingly clever people. Imitations of white fox are especially effective and there with small capes like those shown in the illustration are inexpensive little luxuries that no one will begrudge the summer girl.

In July and August summer is crowned with millinery in black and white. The reign of the all-black hat is shared with the all-white hat and with the cool sparkle of black and white combined. This summer that darkest of blues, called after the raven's wing, is used with white as a substitute for black and just by way of Live up your sluggish liver! Feel fine and cheerful; make your work a pleasure; be vigorous and full of ambition. But take no nasty, dangerous calomel, because it makes you sick and you may lose a day's work. Calomel is mercury or quicksilver, which causes necrosis of the bones. Your druggist or dealer sells you a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone under my personal money-back guarantee that each spoonful will clean your sluggish liver better than a dose of nasty calomel and that it won't make you sick.

WHISTLER WAS MOST ACTIVE

Observer Marveled at Great Energy Displayed by the Famous Artist in His Studio.

The studio was surprisingly different from the room he previously used in Lindsay row, and entirely unlike the studios usually occupied by other artists, says Hay in "Memories of Whistler." I remember a long, not very lofty room, very light, with windows along one side; his canvas beside his model at one end, and at the other, near the table which he used as a palette, an old Georgian looking-glass, so arranged that he could see his canvas and model reflected in it. Those who use such a mirror (as he did constantly) will know that it is the most merciless of critics.
 I marveled then at his extraordinary activity, as he darted backward and forward to look at both painting and model from his point of view at the extreme end of the long studio. He always used brushes of large size with very long handles, three feet in length, and held them from the end with his arms stretched to their full extent. Each touch was laid on with great firmness, and his physical strength enabled him to do without the assistance of a mahlstick, whilst the distance at which he stood from the canvas allowed him to have the whole of a large picture in sight and so judge the correct drawing of each touch.

The Point.

Former Premier Rene Viviani of the French commission impressed the country with his eloquence. They tell a story of M. Viviani's youth. He had accepted an invitation to address a political meeting, and he launched into his maiden speech with trepidation. But he carried all before him, and when he purposed to sit down, there were loud cries of:
 "Go on! Keep her up! Go on!"
 "Do you really wish me to go on?" said M. Viviani.
 "Yes! Yes! Go on! Go on!" shouted the audience.
 "Then this is the exact point," said M. Viviani, "where a capable speaker sits down."
