DR. CHASE ELECTED HEAD STATE UNIVERSITY

The Idea of Electing Only North Carolinian Frowned Upon.

Raleigh, June 16.—Dr H W Chase, chairman of the faculty of the university, tonight received 41 votes for the presidency on the second ballot, on the third the posse comitatus gave him unanimous election, and the trustee meeting was over.

The sudden termination of the most interesting university contest in more than a century came when Governor Bickett called for Judge James S Vanning's construction of the statute. The attorney general had been asked for his opinion of the act restricting eligibility of trustees of state institutions to hold office while holding trusteeships. Judge Manning unhesitatingly gave his office to the view that no trustee could go up. Down went Secretary Josephus Daniels and R D W Connor.

Until that time the Connor men believe they could have polled 45 of the 70-odd votes in town. Their show of strength was not so impressive. The construction of Judge Manning was put to test and a liberal Connor contingency stood against it. The noise over the thing stood by Manning and the ballots began.

On the initial ballot Chase received 26, Dr H E Rondthaler, of Winston-Salem, 22; Frank Le rod, of Kentucky, 9; Henderson 4; Ivey Lewis, 2; Herman Harrell Horne, 2. On the second ballot Chase took 41 and the game was over. The third ballot was unanimous choice and the trustees, who had been in session since 3 o'clock, adjourned for tomorrow night when they hold their regular meeting on the Hill.

The election of Dr Chase follows four months of active administration which has been a surprise to his friends. The faculty sentiment for him was strong. It may be said that the North Carolina idea was not potent. The trustees seemed to resent the suggestion that only a North Carolinian should be chosen. They did not "fall for" the southern man argument and they chose a Massachusetts citizen.

The meeting had its humors. No newspaper man got nearer than George Washington's statue, but occasional outbursts were audible over town. Gus Price nomination Archibald Henderson and casting one of the six votes in vain sought to interest the assembly of 76 in the most distinguished man of letters grown in North Carolina in 100 years. "Elect him Yale and Harvard Cambridge, Oxford, Paris, the educational world will acclaim your wisdom" Price thundered, but the trustees were adamant.

AMERICAN TROOPS INTO MEXICO.

Calvary and Infantry and Part of 92 Artillery Crossed Sunday Night.

El Paso, June 15.—The 24th infantry, fourth battalion crossed the international border to Juarez at 11 11 o'clock tonight. The fifth and seventh cavalry regiments crossed at three fords east of El Paso.

A battalion of the 92 artillery crossed east of the stock yards. There were approximately 3,600 American troops on Mexican soil, ten minutes after they were ordered to make the crossing.

Bullets tonight struck many down town buildings.

An additional battalion and two companies of the 19th infantry, one battalion of which now is here tonight was ordered to entrain at Douglas, Ariz, and proceed to El Paso.

The reinforcements are expected to arrive tomorrow. They will be used for patrol duty along the river front.

Standing in Water to Their Knees Troopers Attack Villa Forces.

El Paso, June 16.—American troops that participated in the punitive expedition to the Villa rebels in and near Juarez last night and today were billeted in Barracks and camps on the American side tonight after 24 hours of campaigning.

Seven ragged Mexican prisoners were herded toward the Fort Bliss stockade by a detachment of the fifth cavalry while another cavalry detachment drove a herd of 100 captured Mexican horses and ponies to the remount station.

It was unofficially stated tonight at Fort Bliss that approximately 50 of Villa followers were killed.

One American of the seventh cavalry Corporal Chigas was shot through the lung by a Mexican rebel.

After crossing during the night the cavalry column supported by a battalion of the 82d artillery, advanced and at daybreak began a scouting tour. Capturing the seven prisoners before reaching the Villa camp the cavalry was enabled to proceed, dismounted, to a short distance of the adobe headquarters when fighting was begun by the Americans standing in water up to their knees. Four Villa men were killed in the first assault and the entire force, mounted and escaped toward the southwest with the cavalry in pursuit. The rebels scattered into small bands, the fifth cavalry pursuing one band 35 miles.

In the meantime the seventh cavalry deployed to the south east and pursued another band. Troops A and C executed a mounted pistol charge from the saddle and killed a number of the rebels. The artillery placed shrapnel directly over the heads of the flying Villa force and many were killed. After the pursuit the two cavalry forces formed a junction and returned to the American side of the river, accompanied by the artillery and eighth engineers.

Principles of Original Conditions Upheld in the Final Reply.

Versailles, June 16.—The reply of the allied and associated governments to Germany's counter proposals to the peace treaty tonight are in the hands of count von Brockdorff Rantzau, who is on his way to Weimer there to present to the German national assembly the final words of the victors in war.

Few changes have been made in the revised peace treaty. The original contentions of the allied and associated powers have virtually been maintained intact. Five days was the allotted period originally fixed for the Germans to answer yes or no to the demands of the allies. But two days additional have been granted because of the insistence of the German delegation that not sufficient time had been allowed for proper consideration of the revised terms. This will extend the time limitation to Monday, June 23. If Germany's reply is yes the treaty will be signed, if the demands of the armistice will be automatically terminated and the allied armed forces will take whatever steps they deem requisite to the occasion.

With the revised treaty, containing interlineations in red ink where changes had been made in it, was a covering note written by Premier Clemenceau, president of the peace conference. It had been impossible to reprint the treaty in time for its presentation today.

The covering notes severely castigate Germany for protesting against the treaty on the ground that the treaty conflicts with the terms of the armistice. Clemenceau says Germany fails to understand the position she occupies today in the estimation of the world for being responsible for a war which was "the greatest crime against humanity and the freedom of the people that any nation, calling itself civilized, has ever consciously committed."

Good Advice for Cities and Countries as Well as Individuals.

Marshall Field, some years ago, said: "Careful saving and careful spending invariably promote success. Economy is one of the most essential elements of success, yet most wretchedly disregarded. The 5 and 10 cents squandered a day, if saved, will in a few years amount to thousands of dollars. If a man is not competent to manage a small income or a small business, he is not competent to manage a large income or a large business."

Though the bodies of the Villa rebels who fell in the two days fighting in and around Juarez still lie unburied in the suburbs, the refugees who sought safety on the American side of the border are slowly returning to their homes.

There are 60 Villa prisoners at Fort Hildago whose fate has not yet been determined by court-martial which will begin tomorrow.

CLEAN CUT FLIGHT MADE IN 16 HOURS.

Brief Description of Flight Tells of Adventurous and Hazardous Enterprise.

London, June 15.—The final goal of all ambitions which flying men have ventured to dream since the Wright brothers rose from earth in a heavier than air machine was realized this morning when two young British officers, Capt. John Alcock and Lieut. Arthur W Brown landed on the Irish coast after the first non-stop flight across the Atlantic ocean.

Their voyage was without accident and without unforeseen incident, so far as can be learned. It was a straightway, clean cut flight achieved in 16 hours and 12 minutes, from Newfoundland to Clifden, Ireland, a distance of more than 1,900 miles.

But the brief and modest description which comes from the airman at Clifden, tells of an adventurous and amazingly hazardous enterprise. Fogs and mists hung over the north Atlantic and the Vickers-Vimy biplane, climbed and dove, struggling to extricate herself from the folds of the air plane's worst enemy.

She rose to 17,000 feet, swooped down almost to the surface of the sea and at times the two navigators found themselves flying upside down only ten feet above the water.

Before coming to earth near Clifden wireless station Alcock circled the wireless aerials, seeking the best spot to reach earth so he chanced it in a bog.

The wireless staff rushed to the aid of the aviators. They found Brown dazed and Alcock temporarily deafened by the force of the impact. As soon as they were able to be escorted to the wireless station they telegraphed the news to their friends then had breakfast.

"That is the best way to cross the Atlantic," said Lieutenant Brown, after he had eaten.

The landing was made at 9:40 o'clock, British summer time. In taking the ground the machine struck heavily and the fuselage plowed into the sand. Neither of the occupants were injured.

Much of the flight was made through a fog, with an occasional drizzle. This hampered the airmen considerably during their journey.

Captain Alcock explained the silence of his radio instrument during the trip by saying that the wireless propeller blew off soon after the airplane left Newfoundland.

"We were much jammed by strong wireless signals not intended for us," he added.

All Worn Out.

Does morning find you with a lame stiff and aching back? Are you tired all the time—and work a burden? Have you suspected your kidneys? Salisbury people endorse Doan's Kidney Pills. You can rely on their statements.

Mrs E F Klutz, 504 E Kerr St., Salisbury says: The first symptom of Kidney trouble in my case was a tired worn out feeling. My back was weak and it felt as if there were a heavy weight on my shoulders. Sharp knife-like pains shot through me when I tried to lift or bend over and I could hardly straighten. Blinding dizzy spells came over me and I had nervous headaches. My kidneys were weak and annoyed me, too. I tried different remedies but didn't get help until I used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at the Smith Drug Co. It was no time before Doan's cured me entirely.

WHY PROTESTANTISM SHOULD BE PREACH

Protest Against Popery, Opportunity as Well as Duty of Protestant Clergy to Lead.

This fashionable talk about tolerating popery because Protestants and papists should dwell together in harmony is the sickliest kind of illogical sentiment. Sincere party Republicans can dwell together in harmony with their equally sincere neighbors who are party Democrats, but that personal relation does not forbid Democrat from opposing Republicanism or Republican from opposing party Democracy.

It is a pertinent matter of principle that is involved; and Americans, who understand the situation, oppose popery just as they would any other form of autocratic and oppressive imperialism. It is only the fanatic who makes it a personal matter for whom liberal patriots are in no wise responsible or to blame.

Such sentiment is prompted and propagated by agents of the intolerant papacy with purpose to disarm, emasculate, and anaesthetize an already over-tolerant people. We might for a time live in harmony with the children of an aggressive enemy, but not perpetually. To ignore the inevitable is to put off till tomorrow what can be done today.

Our only means of paving for the civilization which preceding generations have given us is to preserve that civilization and pass it on untarnished to the future—improved if possible, but not corrupted. It is our duty to challenge its adversaries and resist their attacks upon such distinctively American in solution as the non-sectarian public school.

The so called Roman Catholic church consists of two distinct elements—its "children" and its "fathers," its vast body of supporting laymen on the one hand and its select body of aristocratic rulers and directors on the other. Differentiation between these two elements is as necessary to a correct understanding as distinction between honest and simple German peasants who would prefer peace but go to war when ordered, and their imperial and aristocratic war lords who use peasants as pawns in military aggression for conquest.

Rome consists of some millions of members whose business it is to obey orders, and of some thousands of priests and prelates whose business it is to administer that huge body under imperial direction of their pope. There are the clergy, with the pope at their head, who rule Rome, who dictate its permanent policies and temporary expedients, and there are the laity who have no part in its rulership but function solely as believers and doers of what they are told.

It may be difficult to grasp that stupendous fact which religious pretense is utilized to cover and conceal. The real nature of papal system is a monster of such hideous mien that to be hated needs only to be seen, but how can the people see unless they look and how can the indifferent be induced to look unless their attention is directed?

Cut This Out and Take It With You.

A man often forgets the exact name of the article he wishes to purchase and as a last resort takes something else instead. This is always disappointing and unsatisfactory. The safe way is to cut this out and take it with you so as to make sure of getting Chamberlain's Tablets. You will find nothing quite so satisfactory for constipation and indigestion.

J. WILL NEAVE SUICIDES.

Salisbury Shocked, Mourns the Death of a Splendid Citizen.

Heartfelt regrets of all Salisburyans were evident on all sides this morning when it was learned that J Will Neave, son of K B Neave, and Superintendent of The Salisbury Water Works for many years, had committed suicide.

Mr Neave left home yesterday afternoon in an automobile for the water station at the river, it was thought on business, but as he did not return and his wife became uneasy as to his whereabouts, a party went in search of him. His automobile was found and search was made for him, when, about 1:10 this morning, his body was found in the woods one-half mile or more this side of the water station. His coat had been taken off and was lying as though it had been used to rest his head on, but a foot or so distant, a hole in his right forehead, the pistol still in hand and under his breast as he lay partly on his right side. The situation was self explanatory, he had deliberately taken his own life.

No cause other than trouble is attributed to such a rash act. Mr Neave has been superintendent of the Salisbury Water Works for a number of years and has been a most competent official. He was interested in the building of the new plant at the river and owing to its failure to supply the amount of water expected, was naturally much worried and has suffered melancholia more or less for a year.

Mr Neave was forty-odd years old and leaves a wife, several children, a brother, two sisters and his parents. He was a native of Salisbury and was making good as all Salisbury boys do when given an opportunity to do so. Everybody liked Will Neave and were glad to have his friendship and all deeply regret his passing away.

The funeral will likely be held tomorrow, the hour for which has not yet been fixed.

Claim Soldier Committed Suicide.

Corporal Virgil A Lawrence, aged 23, a member of 317th field signal battalion was taken to a local undertaker's Friday morning, his body having been taken from a troop train here Lawrence's throat was cut from ear to ear, and it was said by those on the train that he committed suicide after the train had left Greensboro. No weapon was found in the stateroom of the sleeper where Lawrence died, but it must have been a heavy sharp instrument, for a deep gash was made, arteries and veins being severed. Lawrence had been in service overseas, and the troop train was carrying him and his comrades to Camp Pike, Ark, to be mustered out. A sister living at Cushing, Oklahoma, requested that the body be sent there.
