Poor Apple Crop Forecast For Season

Late freezing weather this spring and heavy frosts produced for two years under unfavorable seasonal conditions has brought about a situation in the apple orchards of North Carolina that causes a poor crop to be forecasted for this fall. H. R. Niswonger, extension horticulturist at State College, predicts a 25 percent crop. He has recently been working with the apple growers in the Brushy Mountain section and in the Henderson county area. One of the most productive orchards in Wilkes county, which has not missed a crop in 17 years, has only a few scattering fruit buds. The Limbertwig variety is one of the most popular apples in the section and always blooms heavily. Yet many Limbertwig trees are showing not a single blossom this season. Mr. Niswonger attributes the heavy yields for two years coupled with the unfavorable growing conditions as the reason for this condition. The trees are weakened, he says.

SUGGESTIONS FOR MEDICINE CHEST

Medicine chests should not be allowed to become storage closets for a lot of old prescription bottles. The quality of medicine changes with time and it often spoils and loses its power to cure. A prescription meant for one person should not be used for another. Throw out old stale medicine and unlabeled bottles. To keep labels clean, pour medicines from side of bottle opposite label. Label every bottle clearly. Look twice at the label before giving medicine.

Dahlias Add Beauty To Any Farm Home

A soil that will produce good vegetables will grow dahlias and no more beautiful spot can be had about any home than a dahlia garden. Locate it in a sunny spot with partial shade in the afternoon and protected from the drying winds of summer for best success. These, in brief, are suggestions made by Robert Schmidt of the horticultural department at State College to those who wish to have some of these beautiful flowers about the place this season. If the soil is rich, no fertilizer treatment is needed when the clumps are planted but if the soil is poor and run down, it may be wise to turn under a liberal application of well-rotted stable manure. Whatever the treatment at planting time, when the dahlia plants get about 15 inches high, top-dress them with a good potato fertilizer but do not let the fertilizer come closer than about 6 inches from the hill.

DUGOUT DOPE

(This column published weekly in the interest of the Ex-service men of Rowan County).

The Flag Escort attended the Spring Jubilee at Kinston on Thursday, April 21st, and report an enjoyable occasion. The Escort was well received by the large crowds, much applause being noted on the line of march, which covered some three miles. Barbecue, Shad Stew and the other essentials were served after the parade, a dance was given in one of the large tobacco warehouses starting at ten o'clock, due to the long distance few members of the Escort remained to dance.

The Escort again paraded in Salisbury in honor of the Baraca-Philathea Convention on Sunday, April 24th.

Frank P. Buck has been appointed Chairman of the Memorial Day exercises to be held Sunday, May 29th, his committee is composed of the following Legionnaires, Tom Cook, Fred Young, Nick Yantsios, with S. Holmes Plexico and Charles L. Coggins as advisory committeemen. If you have any suggestions as to the program for that occasion get in touch with any of the committee and outline your idea, it will be given every consideration. It is the desire of the Post to make this the most outstanding Memorial Day exercise ever held by the Post. Come on, do your part now, don't wait until afterwards and say I could have shown them how to put on a real show, remember that every member of the Post is on a committee, those specifically named are merely the ones held responsible for the success or failure of a plan.

Chairman Roberts of the Flag Escort wants every member of the Music section of the Escort to meet at 7:30 Monday, May 2nd, at the Legion Club Rooms, for practice. He asks that you bring any member who would like to learn to play a bugle or beat a drum. Any one who thinks he could learn to beat a bass drum is invited to try out, as the Escort needs two bass drums and extra drummers. Come out, gang, the time is well spent and the payment is in the fun you get when on one of the many trips the Escort takes each season. There is always room for more men, and if sufficient men turn out additions to the Escort will be made, giving every man a permanent place on the Escort. Don't forget the Asheville Convention will be in July and the Escort expects to take part, you want to be there.

At that convention we propose to elect Bryce Beard Department Commander or BUST.

THE LANCE CORPORAL.

Graze Velvet Beans With Beef Cattle

An economical way to winter or fatten beef cattle is to graze them on velvet beans planted in corn. A double purpose of improving the soil and fattening the animals is thus served. L. I. Case, beef cattle expert at State College, recommends the Hundred Day Speckled as the best variety for this purpose. This bean is also known in some localities as the Early Speckled or Ninety Day Speckled. The bean seed may be planted in the corn when it is first planted or between the corn rows at the first cultivation. The latter plan allows the corn to make some growth ahead of the beans and is therefore not pulled down by the bean vines to such a great extent later in the season.

U. S. Men Dislike Their Wives' Hats; Rave Over Others

New York—When it comes to hats, American women are in terror of their husbands, Robert Dudley, millinery designer, announced.

"They haven't the spirit of adventure in clothes," he said. "They are afraid of being stared at. A Parisienne doesn't mind people staring at her. She is insulted if they don't."

American husbands are notoriously conservative about their wives' clothes, Dudley believes—although not about those of other women.

"It isn't unusual," he said, "for a woman to report to me that her husband disapproved heartily of her new hat, but every other man who saw her in it declared it ravishing."
