N. C. Farm Bureau Of R. F. C. To Move Here FRANK R. BROWN IS DISCHARGED

Offices Will Be Located In Federal Bldg.

Moving Offices From Raleigh

J. W. Kirby Will Be In Charge Of This Bureau; R. C. Jennings Transferred TO City

Approximately 75 Persons Connected With This Bureau; Handles N. C. Farm Loans

The state offices of the farm bureau branch of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, located in Raleigh will move its headquarters to Salisbury in the near future, according to information reaching The Watchman late Thursday night.

It is understood that the bureau will occupy offices in the federal post office, this city.

This bureau, it is stated, is now occupying rented headquarters in Raleigh and this move will eliminate this item of expense in connection with the operation of the bureau. Four large rooms in the federal building have been allotted to this bureau for its offices.

The farm bureau supervises the farm loans in this state, as handled through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Including field men and the office force, the total number of employes connected with this branch is approximately 75, it is stated.

Mr. J. W. Kirby is in charge of this bureau for this state. R. C. Jennings, former acting postmaster for Salisbury, now located in Fayetteville, as bureau representative for several counties, has been transferred to Salisbury and will have offices in the federal building and will be in charge of the field men in the state, it is reported.

Ends Long Pen Stretch In Raleigh

Still Faces Two Year Road Term

This Last Sentence Dependent Upon Action of Solicitor Zeb Long; Effective If Prayed

Mr. Brown Now Residing In Greensboro; Petitions Opposed His Parole Or Pardon

Frank R. Brown, former secretary-treasurer of the Perpetual Building & Loan association, this city, who was sentenced to serve not less than seven nor more than 10 years in the state prison for embezzlement, was discharged from this institution August 11, according to information received by The Watchman from Geo. Ross Pou, prison Superintendent.

Mr. Brown actually served four years, seven months and 25 days in prison and had to his credit two years, four months and five days accumulated time for good behavior, according to Mr. Pou.

He was convicted of forgery and of embezzling large sums of money while in charge of the Perpetual Building & Loan association, at that time the oldest building and loan association in the state, and which institution is now defunct.

Numerous petitions have been forwarded from Rowan county to state officials in Raleigh from time to time, opposing a pardon or parole for Mr. Brown. He was required to serve his sentence and obtained his discharge by completing his prison term, less time off for good behavior.

The following letter was received this week by The Watchman from Geo. Ross Pou, prison superintendent: Mr. E. W. G. Huffman, President The Carolina Watchman Publishing Company, Salisbury, North Carolina.

Dear Sir: Replying to yours of the 29th beg to advise Frank R. Brown was duly discharged from this Institution August 11, 1932. He actually served four years, seven months and twenty-five days in the Prison and had to his credit two years, four months and five days accumulated gained time for good behavior. His term of sentence was seven years as minimum to ten years as maximum.

With much respect, I am Yours very truly, Geo. Ross Pou, Supt. At the May term of the Superior court, 1927, the court was of the opinion that there was probable grounds to believe a fair and impartial trial could not be obtained in Rowan county and removed the cases against Brown to Iredell county for trial. Judge Michael Schenck presided.

In addition to the pen term, Mr. Brown was sentenced to two years on the roads. The records of this sentence were not available in Rowan county as the case was tried in Iredell. Whether or not the solicitor, Zeb V. Long, will invoke this additional sentence could not be ascertained Thursday night by The Watchman.
