

274,375 Men In Forest Corps

President Roosevelt's instructions to place 250,000 unemployed men at work in the nation's forests by July 1 have been carried out, Robert Fechner, director of emergency conservation work, advised the Chief Executive.

In all a total of 274,375 men were enrolled at conditioning camps, Fechner said in a letter to Mr. Roosevelt. Twenty-five thousand war veterans are being enrolled as an addition to the corps.

Praising the work of the war department which co-operated with his staff in organizing the 1350 forest camps, Fechner said:

"The reports show that the war department, to succeed, had to eclipse the mobilization record made by the army during the early period of the World War."

The gigantic task was completed in 10 weeks, Fechner said reports received at his office indicated the mobilization of the forest army "has gone a long way toward breaking the back of the depression."

"Business conditions throughout the whole country," he advised Mr. Roosevelt, "have been tremendously stimulated through the expenditure of funds needed for the feeding, clothing housing and working of such a large number of men."

The government spends $85,000 each day on food for the forest workers, Fechner said. The men consume the beef procured from 350 steers and nearly 225,000 one-pound loaves of bread daily.

Plans to construct temporary wooden barracks in sections where cold weather is expected early in the fall are being considered. Arrangements are being made to pipe water into the camps from springs or streams or to sink wells.

Water heaters are being provided for the shower baths. It is planned to furnish electric lights either by connection with nearby power lines or by the installation of small generating sets.

POPULATION 125,000,000

The population of the United States now is approximately 125,693,000, an increase of 2,917,954 over April 1, 1930, the Census Bureau estimated.

New York's population was estimated to have increased from 12,588,066 in 1930 to 12,695,000; of Pennsylvania, from 9,631,350 to 9,787,000; of Illinois from 7,630,654 to 7,826,000; of California from 5,677,251 to 6,062,000 and of Texas from 5,824,715 to 6,023,000.

Nevada continues the least populous state registering 91,058 inhabitants in 1930 compared to 93,000 at the present estimate.

Got Over Weak, Painful Condition By Taking Cardui

"I was weak and run-down and suffered quite a bit with pains in my side," writes Mrs. Nick Baranco, of Beaumont, Texas. "I was nervous. I did not rest well at night, and my appetite was poor. My mother had used Cardui with beneficial result, so I decided to take it. I surely am glad I did, for it stopped the pain in my side and built up my general health. I took seven bottles in all."

For over 50 years, Cardui has been helping women just as this Texas lady describes above. Cardui is sold at all drug stores.

WORLD'S FAIR BEAUTY SPOT

Health Expert Tells How To Keep Cool

A new set of directions for keeping cool during burning summer weather was drawn up by Miss Daisy Pitts, health education secretary who said that while she was primarily concerned with the girls and women under her care, the rules would apply just as well to men and boys.

"First of all," she said, "avoid eating rich foods. They are not made for summer consumption. This particular season demands the predominance of green vegetables and fruits in the diet."

Her next rules were as follows:

2. Avoid eating between meals, or overeating at meals.
3. Wear loose-fitting clothes.
4. Avoid getting excited.
5. Avoid over-exertion, especially in the early afternoon hours when the sun is at its hottest.
6. Drink such cooling drinks as iced lemonade or iced limeade.

Woman Hater Weds; Queer Wagers Laid

Renton, Wash.—Strange goings on have happened here—the result of a bet.

Lew Cross, somewhat robust, climbed a flagpole.

Bert Olson rode a kiddie car around the streets.

Benny Richards paraded for three hours in the business district in a bathing suit.

Fred Steiner, town barber, married an Airedale.

It all came about when Armond Phillips, a well-known "woman hater" told the boys the first of the week he was going to be married. They laughed: "Ha! Ha—We'll bet!"

And he was married to Miss Myrtle Carey of Issaquah.

HEN THIEF CONSIDERATE

McAlester, Okla.—John Chatham had 39 chickens now he has three—a rooster and two hens. Pinned to the henhouse door when the farmer discovered his loss was the following note:

"I steel from the rich, and I steel from the poor. I will leave the old rooster to raise some mor."

60-Day Test Is Set For Industry

A 60-day period was set by the counsel for the industrial recovery administration as a test of whether American business will raise to the direction of private industry.

"If the industrial control plan should fail," Donald R. Richberg told the New York Merchants association "it will not be a failure of government; it will be the failure of an industrial system."

"It will mean either that the system is fundamentally unsound, or that the present managers of private industry are incapable of operating it successfully."

If the program is not rolling silk petticoats.

forward within the next 60 days because of the holding back by either group (business or labor), they will be indicted for incompetence by the suffering millions who are now giving to industrial leadership one more chance—perhaps the last—to justify its existence."

Political control of private industry was termed inevitable by Richberg in the event business fumbles this opportunity. Industry has no choice, he said, between intelligently planned and controlled operations and a return to "the gold plated anarchy that masquerades as rugged individualism."

This age has its charms, but it hasn't produced anything with the million-dollar sound of swishing

Consolidations Of Schools Predicted

New School Law Opens Road For Further Consolidations In Many Small Districts

MARTIN TELLS OF PLAN

Raleigh.—Many more consolidations of small schools over the State will be accomplished under the new school machinery law that could have been achieved under the former law and hundreds of small districts will be eliminated and the pupils transported to better buildings and teachers, LeRoy Martin, secretary of the State School Commission, said.

The plan will be to set up districts on the high school basis, each district having a high school and each district having one committee, handling the affairs of the one or more elementary schools in the district, as well as the high school, Mr. Martin said. He pointed out the advantage of one committee scattered over the district having charge of all schools in the district, high and elementary. Also, there will be advantage in having one superintendent or principal over all of these schools, the elementary units all being feeders to the high school unit topping the district system. The courses of study and methods of teaching in the elementary schools would be under direction of the high school head, he said.

One county, with 40-odd districts at present, has mapped out a plan for a consolidation into nine districts, each having or expected to have in the completed program, a high school to top off the district. Until the high school is provided in each district, pupils may be transported to high schools in other districts, he pointed out. Eliminating many local boards will also eliminate much of the local school trouble, it is believed.

END FINANCIAL RACKETEERING

Washington.—The Roosevelt administration has put an end to far profits for American industry as well as the financial racketeering of the last decade, according to the consensus of economic experts who are studying the new industrial planning scheme as it develops swiftly here.

... NO TIME TO WAIT—

SOMEONE is ill... get the doctor at once—no time to wait... that is when you want a telephone.

You want to talk with a friend across town or in another city—and that is when the telephone serves you well.

After all, life is made up of major and lesser incidents like these—when you need to speak to someone, or they want to call you.

If you try to determine the value of telephone service, a good way it might be measured is by its protection in emergencies when a swift summons must be sent to the doctor, the police, the fire department. Or its value may be summed up in the many little errands it runs for you every day.

But whatever the yardstick, most folks agree the value of telephone service is so great and the cost so reasonable that it really doesn't pay to try to do without it.
