

All Offers To Cut Cotton Acreage Are Accepted

To Authorize Early Plowing

Much Of Land Expected To Be Planted In Feed Crops

Farm administrators this week ordered acceptance of all contract-offers signed by cotton growers to reduce their acreages which have been approved by county agents and county committees in the campaign to reduce the output of the staple in the sixteen growing states this year by 3,500,000 bales.

They authorized county agents to issue permits to farmers to begin plowing up their cotton crop, whenever it was covered by a contract which has been approved, so that farmers may plant feed crops for home consumption without waiting for formal acceptance of each individual contract.

Last week administrators said they intended to forward an individual acceptance to each farmer and warned them against plowing up their crop until this had been received.

The message sent to the county agents said:

"The secretary of agriculture has authorized acceptance and approval of all producer contracts where same are approved by county agents and county committees.

"Printed instructions and emergency permit blanks are on the way to be used by farmers to secure permits from county agents to immediately destroy cotton without having to await approval or formal acceptance blanks.

"Instructions and emergency permit should reach you Friday. In no event shall producer begin the destruction of his crop until his application has been approved and permit issued by county agent."

Trade-Ins Not To Carry Sales Tax When Sold Again

When a new article is sold and a second-hand article taken in exchange, the new article is subject to the full 3 per cent general sales tax, but when the second-hand or used article received in the exchange, or when articles are re-sold by the merchant, such sales may be excluded from the sales tax, provided a separate record is kept of each transaction, in compliance with rules announced by Commissioner of Revenue A. J. Maxwell and Division Director Harry McMullan, as follows:

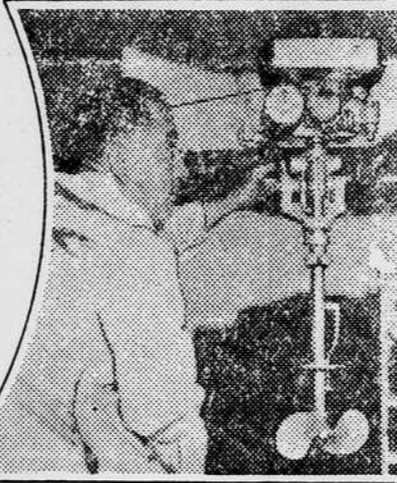

"Merchants taking in exchange for a new article, a second-hand or used article or merchants repossessing articles sold by them, shall in all cases keep in book form, at all times available for inspection by this department, a record showing the following:

- "1. The date on which such transaction is made.
- "2. The name of the person from whom such second hand or used article is taken in part payment or the name of the person from whom the article is repossessed.
- "3. If a repossessed article, the date on which such article is sold to the one from whom it is repossessed by the merchant claiming such exemption.
- "4. A description of the second-hand or repossessed article.
- "5. If sold, the date and name of the party to whom such new article, used or second-hand article, or repossessed article is sold.
- "6. The merchant shall keep a record of all sales of new articles, second-hand or used articles and repossessed articles and credit for articles of second-hand or used articles or repossessed articles, shall be allowed only when the records kept clearly disclose the history of the handling of such article.
- "7. Merchants are required to attach to such second-hand or used article or repossessed articles a tag or label on which shall be stated the date such article was taken from the person from whom same was taken and whether payment is in part payment on a new article sold or whether a repossessed article.
- "8. All second-hand or used articles or repossessed articles on hand by any merchant on July 1, 1933, are liable when sold to the 3 per cent sales tax if they are sold at retail and the wholesale rate if sold at wholesale.
- "9. Credit for sales provided in section 404, sub-section #1, applies only to transactions occur-

Farmers Required To Sign Affidavits As To Wheat Use

Farmers who bring wheat to mill in order to have it ground into flour will not be required to pay the processing tax of 30 cents per bushel which has been imposed by the federal government provided the flour is to be used for consumption by them, their own families, their own employees and their own household, providing they sign an affidavit to that effect. This is the substance of an announcement sent millers in Salisbury and Rowan county by C. H. Robertson, collector of revenue. Local millers state that some of the farmers are unable to understand why they must sign affidavits, and this explanation is given in order that the farmers may understand why they are required to do so. The mills are required to keep a strict record of the grinding which they do, and where affidavits are not secured the tax of 30 cents per bushel must be paid.

Absentee Ballots Not to Be Allowed In Repeal Election

"Absentee ballots will not be permitted in this (the repeal election November 7) election, nor will markers or assistants be allowed," Attorney General D. G. Brummitt points out, referring to section 10 of the act of 1933, submitting the proposal to a vote of the people, in a statement just issued. "Only a person physically unable to enter a booth or mark un-ballot can receive assistance for that purpose, and then only from some election official," he adds. "The registrars who acted at the last general election in 1932 will act as registrars at this election next November," he states, referring to section 5 of the act. "County boards of election will appoint new poll holders or judges of election. One of these poll holders must be a person generally known to be in favor of the repeal amendment, and one of them a person generally known to be opposed to this amendment. "I think that the other provisions of the act assure a fair election, insofar as that can reasonably be done. In some cases, the registrar will be for the repeal amendment, and some against it, but in any event, each side is assured fair representation, in that it will have one of the poll holders or judges of election, which, of course, should be the case, insofar as possible, in all primaries and elections," Mr. Brummitt states.

20000 Merchants In North Carolina Get Tax Laws

Copies of the general sales tax law enacted by the 1933 General Assembly and copies of the rules and regulations promulgated in compliance with the law by Commissioner of Revenue A. J. M. well have been sent to more than 20,000 North Carolina merchants, Harry McMullen, chief of the sales tax division of the revenue department, announces.

GOOD SAMARITAN ARRESTED

Evansville, Ind.—Foster Lewis found in his backyard a red bird with a broken leg. He mended its broken limb, and fed and nursed it. The bird became attached to its benefactor and followed him about. Edwin W. Alson, Evansville warden, obtained a warrant charging Lewis with "illegal possession of a redbird." Evans pleaded guilty and was bound over to the federal grand jury.

Licenses To Hunt And Fish To Cost Less Than Usual

Combination hunting and fishing licenses will cost North Carolinians $3 this fall, as compared with a cost of $4.50 last fall, and as compared with $4.20, or $2.10 each, if the hunting and fishing licenses are purchased separately, Director J. W. Harrelson, of the department of conservation and development, points out, as a result of the 1933 legislative action.

All classes of hunting licenses were substantially reduced, the new fees being as follows: resident county hunting license, $2.10; resident state-wide, $2.10; non-resident, $10.10. Last year these were $1.25, $3.25 and $15.25.

Fishing license remain the same as last year, except for the provision for a daily permit for non-residents at 60 cents. The other rates are: resident county, when adopted by the county, $1.10; resident state-wide, $2.10; non-resident, $5.10. In counties enforcing the county fishing license a daily permit is granted county residents at 50 cents. State-wide fishing license are required of all residents of the state going outside their home county.

Licenses for trapping fur-bearing animals remain as they were; resident county, $2.25; hunting and trapping license established by the department will not be issued next season because to few of them were desired, Director Harrelson said.

"Is it true that mosquitoes weep?" "It's possible, I've seen a moth."

Art of 'Thumbing' Is To Be Studied

Student Writes Raleigh Officials For Permit To "Bum" Through North Carolina

Hitch-hiking deluxe is in order in North Carolina. The famous practice of 'thumbing' is in order in North Carolina in the future, if plans made by a student of a large eastern city materialize, as unfolded in a letter to the Department of Conservation and Development.

The student, he outlines, desires information regarding the legality of hitch-hiking in North Carolina when the hiker is "carrying plenty of money." In event hitch-hiking is not permitted in the State, he wants to know if special permission might be obtained.

Since he is a student of science in a leading university of the country, the prospective visitor said he wishes to make observations throughout the State at the time he is thus seeking recreation.

His success as a hitch hiker in North Carolina will depend upon the generosity of the motorists, he was informed by the department. A bill introduced in the 1933 General Assembly died at birth and the new vocation is not governed by statute.

MAN LIVES TO 72 ON MILK, WHISKEY

London.—For 15 years Charles Edward Booth, seventy-two, of Holmdene avenue, Hentley Hill, lived without eating one bite of food.

This was revealed at a Chamberwell inquest when a doctor stated that Mr. Booth was unable to take solid food.

A nephew declared that his uncle had three quarts of milk and a half bottle of whiskey a day.

"And yet he managed to live to seventy-two," remarked the coroner.

The verdict was "death from natural causes."

KEEP MARRIAGE SECRET FOR SEVEN YEARS

Canon City, Col.—Marathon records for secret marriages topped recently when James T. Locke, sixty, district attorney for the eleventh Colorado district, announced that he married the former Inez Pearl Sampson of Three Rivers, Mich., at Syracuse, Kan., in June, 1926.

Mrs. Locke was employed in a physician's office in the same building in which Locke had his offices, and the secret was kept from even the closest friends and relatives for seven years.
