

Save Legume Seeds Against Higher Prices

Buying Likely To Be Costly

Farmers Advised to Save All Cowpeas, Lespedeza and Soybeans Possible.

Prices of all farm seed have advanced during the past two months, and will probably be higher next spring than they were last spring. Locally grown seed of some crops may be scarce, particularly Korean lespedeza.

Farmers should save their own planting seed whenever possible. Occasionally seed of certain crops may be bought more cheaply than the farmer can grow them, but this is an exception. A few crops require expensive harvesting machinery but most of our farm crop seeds can be harvested with equipment already on the farm. Any surplus of seed over and above that needed at home may be disposed of to neighbors or to the commercial seed trade at a fair to good price, as there is usually a good demand for these seed. A surplus of seed for sale brings in some cash in the spring, instead of having to pay out cash for seed.

Farmers are advised to save all the cowpea, soybean and lespedeza possible this fall. Cowpeas require no harvesting machinery. They may be eaten, planted or sold. There is usually a good demand good with the exception of one or two years in the past 10.

Large quantities of soybean seed are sold for planting in the state each year. There is always a good demand for Ootootan, Laredo, Virginia, Herman and Biloxi seed for planting purposes, prices will probably be better next spring than they have been for two years. Two soybean oil mills in Norfolk will need bushels of the yellow seeded varieties, so there is very little danger of the farmer having seed left on his hands.

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKING

The saying that its never too late to mend, doesn't apply to physical property.

In these days, every community has its share of homes and business buildings which have been allowed to depreciate to the point where they are ready for the wrecking crew. Their degeneration may be laid to the door of false economy. While a dollar was "saved" temporarily, many dollars were lost because of it.

There are hundreds of thousands of properties which can still be put in good condition at a moderate cost, but which will be gone beyond redemption if work is put off much longer. Today we can still get in on bargain prices for most supplies and commodities—tomorrow will tell a different story. The wholesale price level has been skyrocketing, and now the retail level is beginning to follow. You don't have to take anyone's word for it that this is the time to build and repair—the cold and unprejudiced statistical tables tell you that, and they permit of no argument.

Build now, improve now—provide jobs and purchasing power—remember that investment and employment are cheaper than charity, and that they make charity unnecessary.

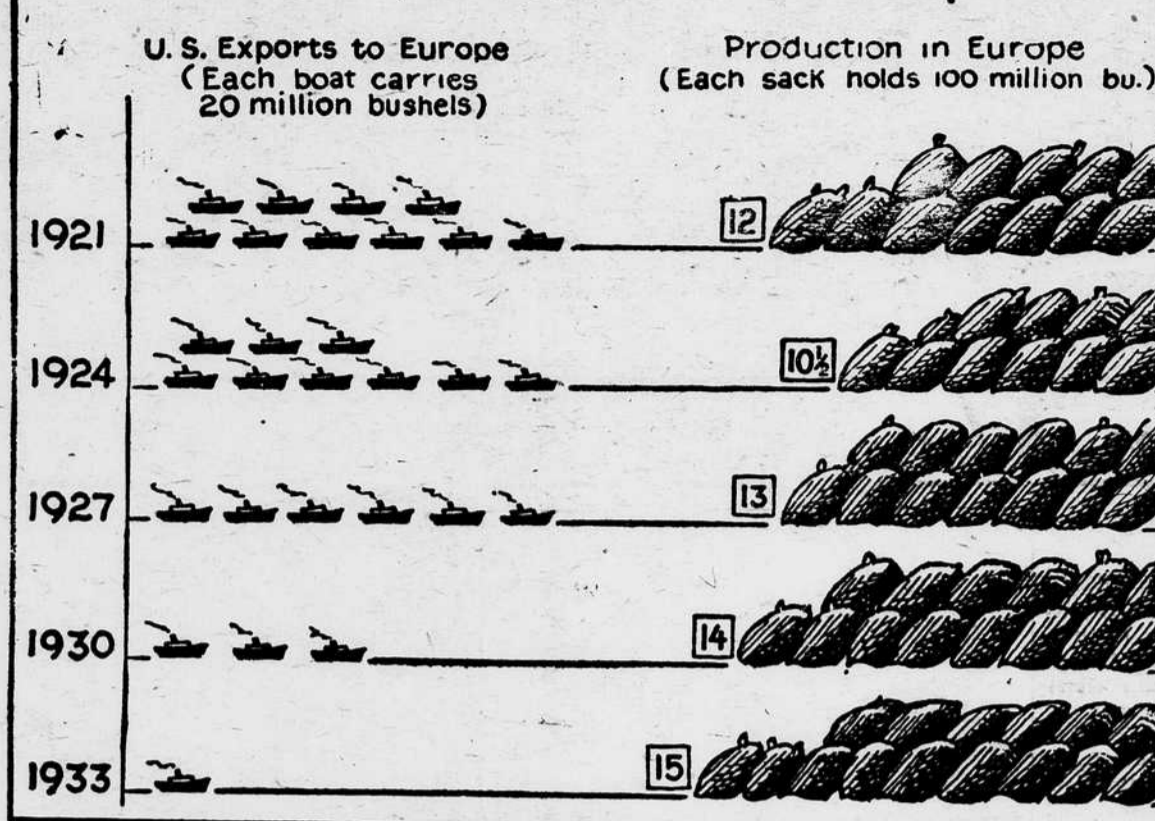

"BABY" MARKET

Tulsa, Okla.—A "baby" market, which sold for adoption infants born out of wedlock, was accidentally uncovered by a children's bureau worker who found that sums ranging from $70 to were paid as "cost of hospitalization."

CUT HELPS COTTON

Washington.—Cotton would sell at four or five cents a pound without the cotton acreage reduction program which eliminated 4,247,000 bales, according to C. A. Cobb, chief of the Cotton Production Section of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Wheat: U. S. Exports to Europe and Production in Europe

WHEN Europe produces more wheat for herself she buys less from the United States. That is the feature of the world wheat problem that this chart shows. For instance, in 1921, when many wheat ships were busy carrying the bread grain to Europe, that continent produced only 1,200,000,000 bushels. Since 1927, European countries have been producing more and more of their own wheat and the wheat traffic across the Atlantic has slowed up. In fact, efforts of European countries to supply their needs, and their buying wheat from other countries has just about cut off our wheat exports, as the lone boat for 1933 represented in the chart indicates. The United States doesn't want to withdraw from the export trade, but rather than have grain pile up in the United States or be sold at less than cost, the Agricultural Adjustment Administration has begun a wheat plan which will reduce acreage in the United States and bring production down to the point where it can be marketed at a profit to the farmer.

Financial Statistics Of The State Government Of North Carolina For 1932

The Bureau of the Census announces a summary of the financial statistics of the State of North Carolina, for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1932. The per capita figures for 1932 are based on an estimated population of 3,232,000. These statistics were compiled by Mr. Darnell Thomas.

The payments for operation and maintenance of the general departments of North Carolina amounted to $31,992,723, or $9.90 per capita. This includes $17,230,765, apportionments for education to the minor civil divisions of the State. In 1931 the per capita for operation and maintenance of general department was $7.26 and in 1917, $1.96. The increased per capita for 1932 was due to additional payments for apportionments to the minor civil divisions of the State for schools. The payments for operation and maintenance of public service enterprises in 1932 amounted to $27,626; interest on debt, $8,064,993; and outlays for permanent improvements, $6,922,730. The total payments, therefore, for operation and maintenance of general departments and public service enterprises, for interest and outlays from nonbusiness licenses comprise were $47,008,072. The totals include all payments for the year, whether made from current revenues or from the proceeds of bond issues.

Of the governmental costs reported above, $9,940,450 was for highways, $3,697,069 being for maintenance and $6,243,381 for construction. The total revenue receipts were $44,061,761, or $13.63 per capita. This was $3,976,419 more than the total payments of the year, exclusive of the payments for permanent improvements, but $2,946,311 less than the total payments including those for permanent improvements. Property and special taxes represented 28.4 per cent of the total revenue for 1932, 20.2 per cent for 1931, and 50.2 per cent for 1917.

The increase in the amount of property and special taxes collected was 321.5 per cent from 1917 to 1932 and 5.3 per cent from 1931 to 1932. The per capita of property and special taxes collected was $3.87 in 1932, $2.55 in 1931, and $1.20 in 1917. The increased per capita and percentage of total revenues reported for 1932 were due to receipts from the recently imposed ad valorem tax of 1-1-2 mills on the dollar, for state-supported schools.

Earnings of general departments, or compensation for services rendered by State officials, represented 8.3 per cent of the total revenue for 1932, 11.7 per cent for 1931 and 20.4 per cent for 1917. Business and nonbusiness licenses constituted 52.3 per cent of the total revenue for 1932, 52.5 per cent for 1931, and 19.4 per cent for 1917. Receipts from business licenses consist chiefly of taxes exacted from insurance and other incorporated companies, privilege taxes, and of sales tax on gasoline, while those from nonbusiness licenses comprise chiefly taxes on motor vehicles and amounts paid for hunting and fishing privileges. The sales tax on gasoline amounted to $9,042,552 in 1932 and $9,767,371 in 1931, a decrease of 7.4 per cent. These amounts do not include the gas tax apportioned to the counties.

The total funded or fixed debt outstanding June 30, 1932 was $175,878,800. Of this amount $108,037,000 was for highways. The net indebtedness (funded or fixed less sinking fund assets) was $164,472,664, or $50.89 per capita. In 1931 the per capita net debt was $52.92 and in 1917, $3.85.

The assessed valuation of property in North Carolina subject to ad valorem taxation was $2,830,758,190; the amount of State taxes levied was $4,461,697; and the per capita levy, $1.38. In 1931 there was no levy of the general property tax for State purposes, but in 1932 and 1933 the per capita levy was $1.07.

LIGHTNING WRECKS PLANE

Dover, Dela.—An all-day search revealed a wrecked monoplane and part of the body of H. E. Mahon, whose plane was caught in an electrical storm. The wreckage was sinking in the marshland and would have disappeared. The explanation that a bolt of lightning, struck the plane was generally accepted.

CURE FOR PROFANITY

Johnny, who had acquired the habit of using profane language quite extensively, was warned by his mother never to say such words again or she would pack his clothes and turn him out.

Johnny promised his mother that he wouldn't, but it was not very long until she heard him swear and she immediately packed his clothes and put him out of the house.

The boy stood on the steps for approximately an hour, his mother watching him from the window, and finally she opened the door and asked him why he did not leave. "I was wondering where the hell I would go," he replied.

ASKS ALIMONY FROM WIFE

Chicago.—Albert Baxter, 60, who lives near Elgin, asked the circuit court to order his wife to pay him temporary alimony while he sues her for divorce. "I'm out of a job and have nothing to buy food," he pleaded. Attorneys for Mrs. Margaret Baxter objected, and the case was set for hearing.

A SCOTCH INDIAN

A Scotchman, walked into a telegraph office and, picking up a blank, asked the clerk, "How much will a message to Chicago cost?"

"Twenty-five cents," replied the clerk, "for the first ten words and five cents for each additional word, and no charge made for the signature."

"All right," said the canny Scot, "send my signature."

"I'd be glad to, what is it?" After a moment's hesitation, the Scot answered, "Well I may not look it, but I'm an Indian and my name is 'I Won't Be Home Till Friday.'"—The Texas Outlook.

Science says Today use a LIQUID Laxative

If you want to GET RID of Constipation worries—

Any hospital offers evidence of the harm done by harsh laxatives that drain the system, weaken the bowel muscles, and in some cases even affect the liver and kidneys.

A doctor will tell you that the unwise choice of laxatives is a common cause of chronic constipation.

Fortunately, the public is fast returning to the use of laxatives in liquid form.

A properly prepared liquid laxative brings a perfect movement. There is no discomfort at the time and no weakness after. You don't have to take "a double dose" a day or two later.

In buying any laxative, always read the label. Not the claims, but the contents. If it contains one doubtful drug, don't take it.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a prescriptional preparation in which there are no mineral drugs. Its ingredients are on the label. By using

The liquid test:

This test has proved to many men and women that their trouble was not "weak bowels," but strong cathartics:

First. Select a good liquid laxative. 2. Take the dose you find is suited to your system. 3. Gradually reduce the dose until bowels are moving regularly without any need of stimulation.

Syrup Pepsin has the highest standing among liquid laxatives, and is the one generally used. It contains senna, a natural laxative which is perfectly safe for the youngest child. Your druggist has Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.
