

What Do You Mean?--Busted

We folks here in North Carolina, claim we're broke.

We put up, a continuous howl about our tax burdens and about the high cost of living. Money is scarce and extremely hard to get. To hear us talk the entire state is on the verge of bankruptcy.

What a joke.

We're wealthy. Our people have more money than they know what to do with. Two weeks ago, for example, they came to Raleigh and spent more than $150,000, taking in the attractions at the State Fair. During the past three weeks, they spent more than $250,000 taking in the sights of Barnum & Bailey's circus. They're buying new automobiles and new radios at a greater clip than ever before. Look about you, as you walk up and down the streets of your town, and you'll see that they're better dressed than ever before. Now homes are being built and old homes are being improved. Busted? Broke? Bankrupt? How do you get that way? The people of our state are sitting on top of the world, so far as finances are concerned. We've got money to burn; and we're spending it with a free hand. Our pockets are filled with cash, sufficient to satisfy most of our wishes for extravagance and luxuries. The only slight hitch is when it comes to putting out a few dollars for such things as taxes, grocery bills and church dues. That's when all this talk about being busted begins to manifest itself. So long as we're spending money for something we really want—whether we need it or not—there always is plenty of money. But when it comes to spending money for some obligation that we HAVE to meet—well, that's a horse of a different color. But we're not broke. We're far from broke. Anybody who says that we are, just naturally doesn't know what he's talking about.—The State.

INCREASE IN DRUNKEN DRIVERS

Raleigh—A decided increase in both the number of drunken car drivers and the number of pedestrians during the past two months is shown in the reports of the state highway patrol, Captain Charles D. Farmer, commander, pointed out in making public the patrol report for October. The report shows 115 drivers were arrested for drunken driving and that 101 pedestrians were also arrested for being drunk on the highways. In September 115 were arrested for drunken driving and 96 pedestrians for being drunk on the highways.

"How long are you in prison for, my man?"
"Two months."
"What is the charge?"
"No charge—everything's free."

The Family DOCTOR

A FAMILY CHAT
In our more northern states, the wintry days add much to health risks because of incidental exposure to harsh changes in temperatures. In my zone, it is not uncommon to have a day at this season uncomfortably hot at noon; by nightfall it is too cool to sit outdoors without wraps—and we must use at least two comforters on the bed if we sleep with proper ventilation. A weather mark of forty-five degrees on rising,—to warm up to eighty or more at midday.

digestive irregularities that may annoy all winter. It is the same when winter is breaking and spring sets in; these are known as "transition seasons," and, family physicians are kept busier watching their flocks. A steady level of temperature is best for health. Even if it be zero outdoors. The heated season is well borne, if it be steady, no matter how uncomfortable. It is sudden, unlooked for change that catches us napping. The best rule is to keep the surface of the body clean, dry, and comfortably warm, winter or summer. Always a reasonable amount of bathing, and friction on the skin with coarse towel. Keep the surface glowing, breathe deeply of pure, dry air, keep the bowels normally in order—and give the doctor a vacation.

VERY LATEST By Patricia Dow

Here is a sport and street suit that combines just about all that could be desired in smartness and utility in fall apparel. As shown in the illustration above it represents exactly what it is, one of the new and bold fall tweed suits with a warm collar of raccoon.

The woman with imagination will not have to be told that the coat, worn separately with one of the new woolen dresses, serves as an excellent fancy coat and thus is the utility of the suit enhanced. In the better shops this suit is shown in many modified forms. And in fabric it may be had in a wide variety of color tones, with the browns, coppers and rust hues predominating.

Progressive North Carolina farmers are beginning to demand ground limestone as a filler and supplement to fertilizer in place of insert sand used almost wholly in the past.

TWO DROP DEAD WAITING TO VOTE

New York—The excitement of New York's feverish three-cornered mayoralty election proved too much for two voters—they dropped dead while waiting in line to register their ballots.
