

CITY and COUNTY NEWS BRIEFS

Some Fisherman

C. A. Corriher, of Mooresville route 3, was in THE WATCHMAN office the other day exhibiting a fine string of catfish that he caught in the Yadkin river below the High Rock dam.

The largest cat weighed six pounds, and Mr. Corriher stated that he did not mind losing a night's sleep when he could catch them like that. When asked the secret of getting such big ones he informed us that a sleepy man could not make a good fisherman. "You have just got to lose sleep to get the big boys," he stated.

Armistice Day Quiet Here

Topped by the Stars and Stripes over the postoffice building, as it flapped and swayed in the brisk November breeze, flags were in evidence all over the city Saturday as the only mark of the observance of Armistice day. The city had planned no celebration of the event, and those who felt inclined were forced to go to other nearby towns to take a part in the celebration activities of the day. Good delegations went to Monroe and Charlotte, who were staging regular Armistice day programs.

Fire Yesterday

Damage of $1,050 was done by fire at the home of C. E. Lowder, in the 700 block of Mitchell avenue. The fire was the second in less than a month which has been suffered by the Lowder family, the first occurring while they were living on South Fulton street, and doing damage of $450 to building and contents.

Tom Mix Here

Tom Mix, one of the best known movie stars, and his famous horse, Tony, will be here Saturday at the Capitol theatre to render a program of entertainment. Miss Irma Ward and Mrs. Tom Mix, world-famous aerialists, and a group of Mix's riders and ropers and shooters will be included in the troupe. Meeting Saturday

A committee of farmers in each township in the county who secured crop production loans during the past year have been invited to attend a meeting in the Community building Saturday morning at 9 o'clock to organize the Rowan Production Credit association. The meeting is called by W. G. Yeager, county agent. Mr. Yeager stated that crop production loans will no longer be made from Washington but that instead they will be handled through a local credit association set up in the county.

Superior Court

The November term of Superior court opens Monday morning for a two-week term with Judge John M. Oglesby, of Concord, presiding. The criminal cases will be tried first and there are only 64 cases on the criminal docket, including for the wrong cases which have been left open from previous terms. The case against J. M. McCorkle, charged with embezzlement of funds of the state of Mrs. Frances K. Frercks, is on the calendar for trial on Tuesday, Nov. 21.

Mt. Ulla Men Injured

Dr. G. A. Brown of Mt. Ulla and his brother-in-law, R. H. Knox, of the same place, were injured, but not seriously Monday morning when a car they were driving missed the Buffalo Creek bridge east of Shelby, and plunged 50 feet below in a dry creek bed.

First Meeting

The Young Tar Heel Farmers club of Mt. Ulla high school held their first meeting last week in the agricultural class room. Ray Wilkerson, president, presided over the meeting. Bill Staton is secretary. The agricultural teacher, L. M. Boswell, discussed the programs for the year and stated that each member would have a definite duty to perform. The club will be divided into committees and every member that does not already hold an office in the club will be placed on a committee.

Holshouser Arrested

Doddie Holshouser was arrested at Boston Cross Roads with a new stolen automobile and a quantity of whiskey. Deputy sheriffs Dave Graham and Arthur Shuping and state patrolman C. R. Adams made the arrest. The officer stated that Holshouser had stolen the car from a dealer in Kannapolis last week by moving the vehicle from the third floor and setting aside a number of other cars in order to get the new machine. The keys, being a new model were in the car.

Officials Visit Shops

A distinguished party of Southern railway officials inspected the big shops of the company in Spencer this week and expressed much pleasure at the splendid appearance of conditions found on and around the premises managed by Master Mechanic H. C. Trexler, Supt. C. V. Kirkman, General Foreman D. Fulk and other heads of departments. It was the first official visit for Vice President E. E. Norris who, about a month ago, succeeded Henry W. Miller. President Fairfax Harrison headed the party which traveled on a special train.

Youths' Arrested

Willie Roush and Howard Brown, members of the senior high school class of Rural Hall, have been arrested for the robbery of a store at Yadkin, and Sheriff Krider says both have confessed the crime. A pistol and a small amount of money were taken from the store as Mrs. W. M. Sidder, in charge of the store, was waiting on the boys, who were making a small purchase.

STRANGE MAN

When the doorbell rang Little Jimmie went to the door. Soon he returned. "Who was it?" asked his mother. "Oh, it was just a strange man who was looking for the wrong place," explained Jimmie.

Plow Up Stalks And Control Boll Weevil

With the feeding and breeding places destroyed multitudes of cotton boll weevils will either starve before cold weather or die during the hibernation period.

"Cotton should be picked as rapidly as possible and the stalks destroyed at once for best results," says C. H. Brannon, extension entomologist at State college. "This not only starves out the adult weevil but it also destroys many of the young, immature insects."

Brannon suggests that the work be carried on as a community project as this will keep all fields clear but, if this is impossible, he urges every individual farmer to plow up the stalks as soon as picking is completed. The destruction on individual farms will greatly benefit the farmer due to the migratory habits of the weevil he says. Where weather conditions or other contingencies make it impossible to plow up the stalks the grower should turn in cattle or sheep to graze. While not as far reaching in results as plowing under the grazing will destroy some of the feeding ground and many of the young weevils.

The earlier the destruction of cotton stalks the fewer weevils the following spring says Brannon. The immature insects are thus destroyed which will mean fewer weevils to emerge from hibernation. The squares and bolls left on the stalk are also destroyed and many of the adult weevils will starve before the hibernation period.

Brannon therefore urges all cotton growers to plow up stalks as soon as possible and save that money that would otherwise be spent next year for calcium arsenate.

I don't smoke, chew, drink, own a car or chase after frivolous company. But still I am hard up. I wonder how my wife accounts for it?—Howard, (Kan.) Courant.

"I'll Intimate!"

PORTLAND HOFFA

WHEN you hear that sing-song voice saying, "I'll intimate!" the time is exactly Portland Hoffa. Yes, it's Portland who pipes those guileless answers to Fred Allen's questions every Friday night during the broadcast of Fred Allen's Revue. And she has more than a radio right to tell 'im. Portland is Mrs. Fred Allen in private life. She met the famous comedian in a Broadway show in which both were appearing and six years of marriage haven't dimmed their romance. They are always together—socially, professionally, and devotedly. Her greatest ambition, Portland admits, is to become a household word to radio fans.

There are 6 types of home-grown tobaccos that are best for cigarettes

- BRIGHT TOBACCOS U. S. Types 11, 12, 13, 14.
- BURLEY TOBACCO U. S. Type 31.
- SOUTHERN MARYLAND TOBACCO U. S. Type 32.

U. S. Type 11 is produced in the Piedmont Belt of Virginia and part of North Carolina.

U. S. Type 12 is produced in eastern North Carolina.

U. S. Type 13 grows in South Carolina.

U. S. Type 14 is produced mostly in southern Georgia—a few million pounds in northern Florida and Alabama.

U. S. Type 31 includes what is called White Burley tobacco. It was first produced by George Webb in 1864. It is light in color and body, and is milder than the Burley used for pipes.

U. S. Type 32, Maryland tobacco, is noted for its "burn". In this respect Maryland excels most other tobaccos.

These are the kinds of home-grown tobaccos used for making Chesterfield Cigarettes.

Then Chesterfield adds aromatic Turkish tobacco to give just the right seasoning or spice.

Chesterfield ages these tobaccos for 30 months — 2 1/2 years — to make sure that they are milder and taste better.
