Black-Draught Clears Up Sluggish, Dull Feeling

"I have used Theford's Black-Draught for constipation for a long time, and find it gives relief for this trouble," writes Mrs. Frank Champion, of Wynne, Ark. "I think it is good for spells caused from gas on the stomach. If I get up in the morning feeling dull and sluggish, a dose of Black-Draught taken three times a day will cause the feeling to pass away, and in a day or two I feel like a new person. After many years of use we would not exchange Black-Draught for any medicine."

P. S.—If you have CHILDREN, give them the new, pleasant-tasting SYRUP of Theford's Black-Draught.

S. S. Institute To Meet Sun.

Because of various conflicts the meeting scheduled for March 4, for a joint session of the Organized Adult Bible Classes of the City Union, and the Salisbury Township Sunday School Institute, was postponed until this coming Sunday, March 11. The meeting will be held in the First Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon, at 2:30 P. M. as before scheduled.

Special pains have been taken in the planning of this meeting in order to make it of real value to all concerned, and it is especially planned for all members of the Adult Bible classes as well as pastors, Sunday School Superintendents and other Sunday School officers, teachers and all other workers of the Sunday School and all other affiliated organizations of the church of all denominations.

All members of the State Sunday School Association will be present taking various parts in the Program. Rev. Shuford Peeler, Gen'l. Sec., Miss Myrtle A. McDaniel, Dir. of Leadership Training and Miss Edith Krider, Dir. of Young People's Work. Miss McDaniel will give the principal address of the afternoon on harmony with the general theme of the Conference which is Our Task of Today, speaking on "Spiritual Illiteracy and American Democracy" the elimination of this Spiritual Illiteracy being a great part of our "task of today." Miss McDaniel has just recently been added to the State Staff as Director of Leadership Training and came to North Carolina directly from a rich experience in the Leadership Training Camps and Leadership Training Schools in connection with the Pennsylvania

The Man Who Told This Was A Fisherman

Here is a snake story out of the West that comes to us from Charles Link of Kelliher, Minn., and which we pass on to you. One day as I was en route to one of my favorite fishing holes, with a box of fishing tackle in one hand and a gallon jug of whisky in the other, he relates, I noticed a rattlesnake caught beneath a large rock.

Like the good Samaritan that I am, I stopped to release the snake, but not realizing that I meant no harm, the reptile gave an angry rattle and bit me on the leg. I had always heard that whisky was good for snake bite, so I swung the jug to my mouth and began plugging away at it.

Although I didn't stop until I had drained it, I felt no effects from my snake bite cure, but I noticed that the jug by that time had swollen to five times its original size from the rattler's poison. It wasn't until I set down the empty jug that I discovered the snake was so drunk he couldn't let go of my leg. I pried loose his fangs and holding him by the head bandaged first the wound he had received from the rock, and then that which he had given me. Then I released him, picked up my tackle box, and continued by walk to the river. I had fished for about an hour and was almost out of bait when I felt a tap on the shoulder. Imagine my surprise when I saw the rattler with a frog in his mouth which he presented to me for use as bait. When I went home, the rattler followed me and we soon became the best of friends.

It wasn't long before Herbert (that's what I named him) learned to do various useful things about the house. Just as an example, he would lie on the doorstep and when visitors came he rattled until I opened the door.

One night I was awakened by an awful racket in the room where I kept my valuables. I snatched up a gun and hurried to the scene. There was Herbert gripping the combination of the safe with his fangs, his body tightly coiled around a burglar's legs, and his tail out the window rattling for the police.

N. C. Negro Got Job Dawson Was After

Chalk up another "first" for North Carolina. This time the credit of providing another "first" for the state belongs to the colored people.

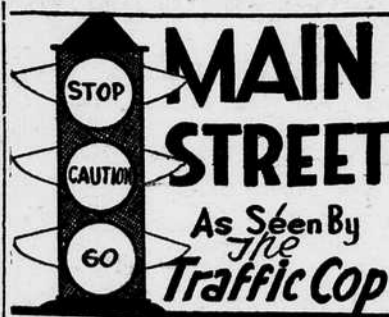

North Carolina is the first state in the union from which a colored man was appointed as assistant to the attorney general of the United States under a Democratic administration. The colored gentleman in question is one Robert Lee Vann, born and reared in Maney's township, Hertford county, North Carolina. He is living in Pennsylvania and is a lawyer and editor of a paper. He was appointed as special assistant to the attorney general by President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Another interesting feature in this appointment is the fact that the negro Vann was given the appointment for which the Hon. John G. Dawson, of Kinston, worked so hard to get. Mr. Dawson is former chairman of the State Democratic Executive committee, and he is said to have remained in Washington for three weeks trying to get the job that was finally given to the Negro Vann. It is understood here that Mr. Dawson and his friends were somewhat put out and greatly peeved when a native North Carolina negro won out over a stalwart like Mr. Dawson.

State Sabbath School Association. There will also be special group conferences in the meeting; one for leaders of Children led by Miss Beulah Lyerly, for leaders of Young People, led by Miss Edith Krider, for adults in general, led by Miss McDaniel, and one for pastors and Supts. led by Rev. Peeler.

Special Musical numbers will be rendered by the choir of First Presbyterian church, and by various members of the Second Presbyterian church under the direction of Harry Livengood, and of the Episcopal church under the direction of Mrs. D. E. Faust. Local pastors will also have a part in the program.

It is hoped that special efforts will be made on the part of all concerned to be present at this meeting, Sunday afternoon March 11, at 2:30 p. m., in the First Presbyterian church of Salisbury.

Do you believe in signs? . . . There are a number of them in Salisbury placed there for the especial benefit and protection of the motorist, and there are also many placed for the welfare of the pedestrian. In the latter class there is one in particular, at the intersection of Kerr and Ellis Streets, at the Frank B. John School, which, although as large as the top of a bridge table, apparently seems to be hard to see on the part of a number of drivers, who persist in driving south on this particular block, while school is being dismissed. Also it is well to remember that the young lads, with the white belts, in the center of the street are not just playing soldier but are invested with just as much authority as a traffic officer in uniform, while at that definite task. So while driving in this vicinity when the pupils are entering or leaving school, bear this thought in mind, . . . WE ALL LOVE OUR CHILDREN.

The "Main Drag," as we are wont to call it, is suffering with another attack of growing pains and its inner workings of pipes and drains are once more exposed to the public gaze. However, progress is painful, sometimes, and there must be no possibility of such a recurrence after it is adorned with its new overcoat.

What's wrong with this picture? IRATE WOMAN DRIVER.—(Who has just backed out from the curb, without looking, and has dented the fender of the gentleman's car, which happened to be passing.) "Of all the imbecilic things. If you were a gentleman and a good driver, you would have noticed a lady backing out from the curb."

Traffic Misfits, whom we could do without. . . The driver who is very loud and vehement in proclaiming his right to half of the street, and then takes his half out of the middle.

Moral for today. . . A few minutes delay on this side of the railroad tracks is better than an ambulance ride on the other side.

NOTICE OF SALE UNDER EXECUTION STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA COUNTY OF ROWAN IN THE SUPERIOR COURT NORTH CAROLINA BANK & TRUST COMPANY Vs. L. A. MAHALEY AND C. R. PROPST EXECUTION SALE

By virtue of an execution directed to the undersigned from the Superior Court of Rowan County in the above entitled action, I will, on Monday the 2nd day of April, 1934, at 12 M., at the court-house door in Salisbury, N. C., sell to the highest bidder, for cash, to satisfy said execution all the right, title and interest which the said C. R. Propst, the defendant, had in the following described real estate on August 6th, 1932, the date of the docketing of the judgment in the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court of Rowan County, that certain house and lot situate between Caldwell and Craze Streets on the South side of West Monroe Street in the City of Salisbury, N. C., and described as follows:

"Beginning at the Southwest intersection of Monroe and Caldwell Streets; thence with Monroe Street in a Westerly direction 100 feet more or less to the edge of the lot on which rests a six room cottage, as shown in deed of trust executed to Clyde E. Gooch, Trustee, recorded in book 95, page 115; thence in a Southerly direction 100 feet, more or less to a stake in line of Tom Patterson, in a line parallel with Caldwell Street; thence with the line of said Tom Patterson 100 feet more or less to a stake on the edge of Caldwell Street; thence with line of Caldwell Street, to the beginning. For back title see book of deeds No. 216, page 331, in the Register's office for Rowan county.

This March 1st, 1934. J. H. KRIDER, Sheriff of Rowan County, Rendleman & Rendleman, Atty's. Mar. 9—30.

People are warned not to smoke in bed, but anyway that habit may not do any great amount of damage provided you have some good automatic sprinklers attached to the ceiling.

It is claimed that the government won't have much to show for all the money it has spent, but anyway there will be plenty of debts.

A "retreating chin" is not usually considered a handsome feature, but a chin that modestly retreats out of sight is more popular than one that keeps wagging all the time.

Pattern No. 8110: Designed in 5 Sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 38 requires 2 1/2 yards of 54 inch material, together with 3/4 yard of 39 inch contrasting for collar and tie.

8110. Black satin was chosen for this attractive model with white crepe for collar and tie. Slim lines and broad shoulders are featured here, and a new sleeve. The skirt portions are cut with bodice sections, effecting a raised waistline, both youthful and becoming. Velvet crepe, or the new rough weaves in silk or in cotton may also be used for this style.

WITH SMART COLLAR 8128. And smarter to wear so smart a dress as this one. It has a deep round yoke and the best of sleeves from which to choose. You may have it short and puffed—with the cowl loop at the top or correctly long to the wrist, and with a soft fulness above a band cuff. The panel lines on front and back of the dress will make you look tall. You will like the collar with its crisp flat pleats, and the tie that you can wear as shown in the picture or folded in scarf effect. The new cotton velveteen are suggested for this style.

For PATTERN, send 15 cents in coin (for each pattern desired), your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE to Patricia Dow, The Carolina Watchman Pattern Dept., 115 Fifth Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Says Business Is Gaining In South

Daniel C. Roper, secretary of the department of commerce, attending the regular mid-winter meeting of the Duke university board of trustees declared the South is probably leading the entire country at the present time in business activity.

A recent trip to Florida gave the cabinet member a good opportunity to witness the south's revival in commerce, and he commented especially on the transportation business' increased activity. "I am told that more people have been hauled by the lines into the south this winter than at any time since 1925. The general outlook is good but the south appears to be setting the pace at this time," said Secretary Roper.

The tramps and vagrants of former years, are treated more politely now, and are referred to as "transients," and if you escort them out to the back yard and show them the woodpile, they are likely to prove quite transient in taking hold thereof.

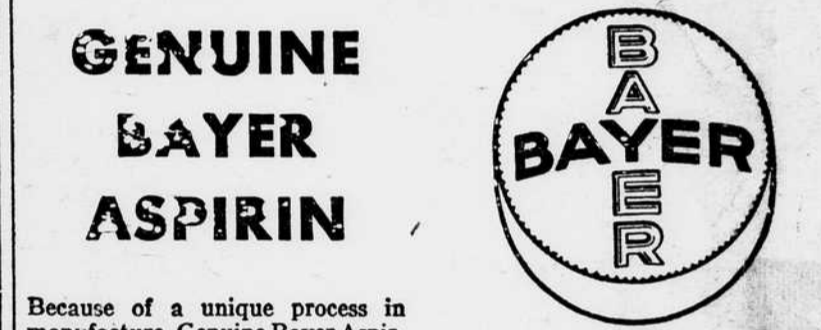

Our people sympathize with the poor folks of Africa in constant danger from savage wild beasts, and the Africans must sympathize with us who are in constant danger from savage wild gangsters.

Lady Took Cardui And Got Rid of Pain In Her Side

"Last summer, my health was bad, so I began taking Cardui," writes Mrs. H. E. Slaughter, of Norman, Okla. "My mother had given me Cardui in girlhood, so naturally I turned to it when I felt I needed it. I felt run-down and a general weakness. I had bad, dizzy headaches when everything would seem to dance before my eyes. My right side pained me so much, but since taking Cardui the pain has left me. I have taken several bottles of Cardui and have improved a great deal." Cardui is sold at drug stores here.
