County Owes City
Over $100,000.00,
Says Buck Report

rather good investment I should say.
The county tax rate is unreasonably low while the city tax rate is unreasonably high. The recovery of this money will enable the city to cut its tax rate down from its present level of $1.28 to a rate ranging from 34 cents to 50 cents, in the discretion and wisdom of our City council. I understand our present city tax rate of $1.28 to be divided as follows: debt service, 91 cents; maintenance of school buildings, 3 cents; operating expenses of the city, 34 cents.
I stand ready to cooperate with city and county officials in adjusting this matter which I hope will be by direct negotiations between them. My sole purpose in insisting during the last twelve months that these facts be brought to light has been that the law may be properly understood and accurately interpreted and applied in the interests of justice.

Last week I gave out the following statement: "I attribute my defeat for re-election to the fact that I did not shrink from my duty to the people of Salisbury in the matter of securing monies due the city." Official records and correspondence in my office and other reliable evidence fully support me in this view. The trumped up charges were camouflage and smoke screen.

I cannot believe that the taxpayers of Salisbury will allow these findings of fact, confirmed by Mr. Buck, to be quashed or hushed up. I have faith in the fidelity of our City council to the interests of the city and in the sense of fairness which I believe we shall find in our County commissioners.

Several days ago Mr. Haworth sent out ballots to the various teachers asking that they reply to the question as to whether or not there had been any friction between the superintendent and teachers. Mr. Haworth informed The Watchman that the result of these ballots was not to be made public. All teachers are urged to return ballots.

At present, the plans of Mr. Haworth are to permanently locate in Salisbury regardless of the outcome of the school situation.

The Canada mother of five babies now has the satisfaction of knowing that four of them have passed the two-pound mark and are thriving, while the other child is within one-half ounce of the mark. The mother will be kept in bed two more weeks, the doctor says. At birth, the five little girls weighed all together what one normal babe should have weighed. The country physician seems to be doing a good job of his work.
