Salisbury Route One

With the changing of the seasons nature also varies with the condition of mankind and we find among ourselves a number who have not been so fortunate but are better at the present time. George Fink, Harold Morgan and Virginia Livengood have suffered from malarial chills while Dorothy Powlas has been real sick with bronchitis, also Mrs. A. P. Shaver is still confined to her room and Mrs. Charlie Myers is unable to attend the regular duties of her home.

The people are real busy, some disking, others plowing, also drilling wheat and digging potatoes, while cotton picking is going along, and gathering peanuts as well as shucking corn come on our calendar. The first husking of the season was at the home of D. W. Wood near 2nd creek.

Lois Fay Shaver from Kannapolis, also Miss Margaret Bost spent the week-end with parents while Miss Ruth Bost of Salisbury, was at home Sunday.

Mrs. D. W. Wood visited a daughter, Mrs. B. J. Thompson, in Asheville last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Clay Welham visited the latter's mother, Mrs. C. A. Deal, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Myers, and Lloyd Powlas visited relatives in Salisbury over the week-end.

Vetra Freeman spent some time with Esther Freeman recently.

China Grove Plays Belmont Today

The China Grove high school football team is playing the Belmont team at Belmont this afternoon in an important Piedmont conference game. Fans from both towns are expected to witness two of the outstanding conference clubs in action.

China Grove came out of the Kannapolis game last week with no serious injuries so the team is in the best of shape for the Belmont game. The China Grove goal line has not as yet been crossed this season and the club will be expecting to maintain this record against the Belmont crew.

Poincare Dies At 74 Of Paralytic Stroke

Simms Speaks To Bible Group

Robert N. Simms, prominent attorney of Raleigh and leader in Sunday school work in the state, addressed a large crowd here Sunday afternoon at the Capitol theater at the annual city union meeting of Bible classes.

The speaker, organizer of the first Baraca class in North Carolina, said the time was never better for reaching the unreached, and the Sunday school was one of the greatest and best agencies for carrying on the work of Christ.

"The New Deal and the Sunday School" was the topic of his inspiring address, and he said the Sunday school forces were organized and prepared to do their part.

Hundreds attended the meeting, with classes sitting together. Dr. David Faust, president of the City union, presided. A. B. Saleeby of Salisbury, state president of the Baraca-Philathea union, and John D. Berry of Raleigh, general secretary, were other speakers.

Wins Award At State Fair

Some nine head of fine cattle of E. H. Harrison were sent from his farm near the city to the State Fair at Raleigh last week, and the entries carried away a total of sixteen ribbons, besides taking the "sweepstakes" awards of first place for the herd, and also collected first and second places in several classes to win a total of sixteen ribbons.

Addresses Dry Meeting Here

The Rev. J. M. Page addressed a meeting here Monday night in behalf of the United Dry Forces of the state. He said temperance societies are to be formed over North Carolina with instruction to be given the youth relative to the evils of alcoholic drinks. Another aim is the maintenance of present dry laws; while a third objective is better enforcement of laws against whiskey traffic.

HAMLET MAN DIES

J. P. Weed of Hamlet was almost instantly killed Sunday night when his car left the road, overturned and crashed into a telephone post. He was 31 years of age, and was wire chief there for the Southern Bell Telephone company.
