

Democrats Register Gains

Parade Features Armistice Fete

Big Parade Will Feature Morning Bill

Speech, Football Game, Dance Also Scheduled; Hood To Speak

Plans have been completed for the Armistice Day celebration here Monday, under the auspices of Samuel C. Hart post of the American Legion.

Features of the event will be a long parade, which begins at 10:30 a. m. Floats by business, civic, and patriotic organizations will be entered in the parade.

Following the parade, Quay D. Hood, of Lancaster, S. C., will deliver the Armistice day address.

A barbecue dinner will be held in the Rouzer building at noon.

At 2:30 p. m., Salisbury and Lexington highs will begin a football game at Boyden High School.

Monday night a dance will be conducted in the Rouzer building.

OFF TO MEET

H. E. ISENHOUR

Gov. Landon Will Address Lutheran Men

Governor Alfred Landon, of Kansas, will be one of the speakers at Kansas City, Mo., at the fifth biennial convention of the American Federation of Lutheran Brotherhoods, according to Harry E. Isenhour, of this city, who is president of this organization and who left Salisbury Tuesday to attend and preside over the meetings. Mr. Isenhour will return to the city Monday.

The convention began Thursday of this week and will continue through Sunday.

Mr. Isenhour has been president of this body since 1930.

Governor Landon is probably the outstanding Republican presidential choice for 1936.

Tribe To Face Naval Gridmen

After taking a holiday on Monday afternoon, the Catawba Indians got back to their drills in preparation for their last out-of-State foe, the Naval Apprentice Shipbuilders, who will be met in Newport News, Va., Friday night.

The Redskins' rousing 20-6 victory last Saturday over the Wofford Terriers has hardly been forgotten in the city of Spartanburg. The blocking and the allround play of the Indians against the Terriers was brilliant.

We are the dead.
Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn,
saw sunsets glow,
Loved and were loved,
and now we lie
In Flanders fields.

by John Mc. Crea
"In Flanders Fields"

NEWS BRIEFS

HOLC OFFICIAL MOVED

Charles H. Neal, assistant state manager of the Home Owners Loan corporation here, has been transferred to the Atlanta office of the corporation as a regional supervisor of loan servicing, it is announced by T. C. Abernathy, state manager. Mr. Neal's headquarters will be Atlanta and he will have supervision over the work in five states.

OKLA. LAWYER TALKS HIS ARM OUT OF JOINT

Oklahoma City.—Charles B. Holden threw his right arm out of joint while arguing a case before the Oklahoma Supreme Court.

The attorney, gesticulating vigorously, suddenly paused in his argument. Other lawyers jerked the arm back in place. Holden explained he injured the arm playing football at the University of North Carolina.

REPORT STOLEN AUTOS

Raleigh.—There were 116 automobiles reported stolen in the State last month and 69 stolen cars recovered, leaving a net loss to automobile owners of 47 cars, the motor vehicle bureau of the Department of Revenue announced.

OIL COMPANY ACCUSED

High Point.—Thirteen warrants charging sale of misbranded and adulterated gasoline under false trade names were drawn here against R. B. Gantt, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Gantt and Willard Leathers, Trading as the Piedmont Oil company.

FOUR OF QUINTS WALKING

Callander, Ont.—Four of the Dionne quintuplets toddled without support Monday while baby Marie, tiniest of the children, was able to make her way a few feet with the aid of one of her nurses' fingers.

Despite Split, Kentucky Again Returns to Fold

Old-Age Pensions Overwhelmingly favored; Vote Offsets Gain In East

PRESIDENT PLEASED

Louisville, Ky.—A. B. (Happy) Chandler, Democrat who had the support of President Roosevelt, piled up an apparently insurmountable lead over Judge King Swope, Republican, in their race for governor of Kentucky Tuesday.

Kentuckians wrote into their constitution authority for the legislature to enact old age pensions.

KENTUCKY MAY OFFSET GOP GAINS IN EAST

Kentucky elections tellers counted a growing lead for Democracy's gubernatorial candidate, A. B. (Happy) Chandler, forecasting a possible offset to Republican victories in the east.

Safely in control of the New York and New Jersey State assemblies and victorious in electing a mayor in Philadelphia and a superior court judge for Pennsylvania, Republican leaders claimed voters in those States had repudiated the New Deal.

Chairman James A. Farley of the Democratic national committee saw it otherwise. He asserted that popular vote totals in New York would give Democratic candidates a plurality of some 500,000.

"Accepting that the New Deal was the issue", he added, "New York State voted in favor of it by the large majority of 500,000."

Farley insisted that Republican gerrymandering had made it impossible for the Democrats to elect a majority of the assembly except in landslide years.

Adding to the complexity of the Democratic factional fight in the Kentucky campaign, the New Deal issue was very emphatically raised by some Democratic spokesmen, who appealed for Chandler votes as ballots indorsing the Roosevelt administration. Swope avoided any mention of the New Deal in his speeches.

The feud between Laffoon and Chandler began when the lieutenant governor turned against the State sales tax which Laffoon had fathered, and then defeated a Laffoon-backed candidate for the Democratic nomination.

Laffoon campaigned actively against Chandler, denouncing him as "a crooning, dancing young man," who had betrayed his administration. The Governor supported other Democratic nominees, however.

PARTY LEADERS DIFFER IN INTERPRETING VOTE

Washington.—National Republican and Democratic leaders found such divergent meanings in Tuesday's State election as claims that the New Deal had been both repudiated and indorsed.

From G. O. P. spokesmen came contentions that the election of Republican-controlled Assemblies in New York and New Jersey indicated waning support for the Roosevelt administration.

Promptly, the Democrats responded that, nevertheless, their candidates polled a plurality of popular votes in New York and northern New Jersey. Thus, they said, the voters approved the New Deal.

The Republicans thought Philadelphia's election of a Republican mayor was significant, too, but the Democrats pointedly noted that the G. O. P. plurality, 338,000 in 1932, was 47,000 on Tuesday.

While other party leaders were quick to voice their conclusions, President Roosevelt at Hyde Park stood by a policy of not commenting. Friends who knew his mind, however, said he felt the election of a Republican Assembly in New York despite a Democratic popular plurality was normal.

Stock Mart Prices Boom

Rush Of Buying Speeds Upturn

Advance is Most Rapid In Year, With Leaders Gaining $1 to $5 A Share

New York.—A buying torrent swept stock market prices upward this week at a speed not attained by the list in more than a year.

In the boom-time rush for favorite equities, numerous gains of $1 to around $5 a share were recorded. During the first and last hours of trading the ticker tape dropped 2 minutes behind floor transactions as blocks of several thousand shares changed hands.

Traders came back from their election holiday with their pockets crammed with purchasing orders. The usual instructions were to "buy at the market," and leading issues spurred at the sound of the opening gong on the New York Stock exchange. There were intervals of profit-taking, when the activity slowed, but the fast finish found the majority of stocks not far from their best levels of the session.

Wall Street analysis differed in their opinions as to the whys and wherefores of the forward swing. Some thought the revival of bullish sentiment might have been predicted on the results of the voting. These believed the victory of the (Continued on page 4)

"Tell Why" And Radio Buying Win A Prize

In order that readers of The Carolina Watchman may become better acquainted with Salisbury merchants and with the advantages of Salisbury as a trade center, The Watchman will conduct a "Tell Why" letter writing contest over the next three weeks in which the general public may compete.

With valuable prizes offered for the best letters received "Telling Why" it pays to patronize local merchants, the contest will offer every man, woman and child an opportunity to secure one of the prizes which are being offered.

Rules of the contest will appear in next week's issue of The Carolina Watchman together with the closing date of the contest. Everyone is invited to submit as many letters as they may care to and each and every one received will be judged according to their merits.

YOUTH IS CONFINED IN CAR FOR FIVE DAYS

Charlotte.—Joe Shelton will wait a long time before crawling in a box car again. Last Friday he crawled into one at Maxton and hid behind bales of cotton. Trainmen later sealed the car and started it traveling. Tuesday detectives discovered young Joe, weak from his five-day imprisonment.

N. C. Projects Are Approved

Raleigh.—Capus M. Waynick, chairman of the Highway and Public Works commission, said he had been notified President Roosevelt has approved projects for North Carolina highways, roads and streets which it is estimated will cost $2,735,483 in Federal funds.

Waynick said the State's appropriation under the $200,000,000 works program highway allocation was $4,720,173, leaving $1,984,000 worth of projects to be included in other programs.

WAKE MAN NEAR DEATH AFTER ATTACK; 2 HELD

Raleigh.—Herbert O'Neal, who lives near Raleigh on the Wake Forest road, was found unconscious on the doorstep of his home and Coroner L. M. Waring ordered J. G. Nolin, operator of a roadside lunchroom, held on a charge of attacking O'Neal.

The coroner said he was told O'Neal had only a slight chance to recover.

O'Neal had served sentences for bootlegging, Wake officers said, and they were investigating reports he was robbed of about $300 after being assaulted.

J. B. Blake was ordered held under $100 bond as a material witness in the case.

Youth Drops Dead Riding His Bicycle

Albert Herman Van Poole, 15, dropped dead Sunday afternoon while riding his bicycle on a local street. The funeral was held Monday afternoon at the First Baptist church.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Melton Van Poole of East Henderson street, and the following brothers and sisters survive: Chalmers, M. B., Jr., Mary Ruth, Betty Cree and Gladys Louise Van Poole.

He was buried in the Chestnut Hill cemetery.