The Carolina Watchman

ION IN ETHIOPIA—Italian native troops fire from behind huge rocks in their advance on Makal against Ethiopian Guerillas.

BARNEY OLDFIELD VISITS AUTO SHOW—The veteran race driver is shown inspecting a 1936 Plymouth chassis at the National Automobile Show. The New York Show was held two months ahead of the traditional opening date in former years.

TOPS IN SOPHISTICATION—Eddie Davis, the "Eddie" at Leon And Eddie, smart, Continental New York supper club, offers a Golden Wedding toast to the lovely little singer, Mona Leslie, who is no small part of the attraction of this popular place.

CONFESSED SLAYER—Miss Vera Stretz, 23, an art student, has confessed that she shot and killed Dr. Fritz Gebhardt, 43, German doctor and wealthy industrialist, in New York City. She refuses to disclose her motive for the shooting.

A REVIVAL IN HAIRDRESS is seen in Carole Lombard's newest coliffure. It is reminiscent of the day when rolls of hair were trained over little gadgets which spent the night in the bureau drawer. The front curls roll accommodatingly up toward the top of the head.

HER BUSINESS IS IN THE MILLIONS—Sophia Bliven, Philadelphia creator of a women's life insurance agency, whose staff consisting solely of women has sold more than $13,000,000 worth of life insurance since 1930 when the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company became interested in her idea that women could compete on even terms with men in selling life insurance.

'Mean Streak' In Men One Marriage Problem

Philadelphia.—The Rev. Ivan H. Hagedorn, pastor of the Bethel Lutheran Church, answers his own question of "what's the trouble with men and women in modern marriage?"

The trouble with men, he told a meeting of couples he has married, is:

- 1—They are impatient.
 - 2—They are lazy.
 - 3—They are skeptical.
 - 4—They never seem to adjust themselves to the new status of women.
 - 5—They are conceited.
 - 6—They have a mean streak of taking for granted the constancy of their wives.
 - 7—They are unmindful of little things.
 - 8—They are too easily run into a mould—a mould that won't keep shape.
- Of women, he said:
- 1—They are too fond of regulat-
 - 2—They have no sense of humor.
 - 3—They are possessive.
 - 4—They are argumentative.
 - 5—They are sensitive and touchy.
 - 6—They whine.
 - 7—They often possess the crepe-hanging impulse.
 - 8—They do not keep abreast of the times.

In conclusion, Mr. Hagedorn urged men to "marry by all means. If you get a good wife, you will become very happy. If you get a bad one, you will become a philosopher."

Shuler's Semi-Pros. Will Meet Lincolnton Sat.

Coach Bud Shuler's undefeated Salisbury semi-pro football team will encounter the Lincolnton All-Stars here Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The All-Stars have survived the season so far without suffering a defeat. Salisbury has a hefty line which has turned in remarkable performances. Gadd, former University of Florida tackle, Hearn, Butler, Newsome, Edmondson and Julian, former Catawba guard will be in the local forward wall Saturday. Poss Kessler, former Charlotte pro backfield star, has performed well this season along with Stirewalt, Saleeby, Smith, Hathcock and Caesero in the backfield. Saturday's battle will have an important bearing on the semi-pro championship and a large crowd is expected.

LANDSLIDE TRAPS TWO Los Angeles.—Ed Ollinger's dream of buried treasure proved a nightmare. Exploring a long-abandoned tunnel where according to legend Spanish padres buried gold, Ollinger, 45, and Lloyd Lerriwell were trapped by a landslide. Lerriwell struggled free and summoned aid. Ollinger was rescued 10 hours later.

U. S. Gold Now Near 10 Billion

Washington — Resumption of the heavy gold inflow during recent weeks led treasury officials to forecast a hoard of $10,000,000,000 by the end of the year.

This amount, however, is only $160,000,000 in excess of the total now in hand.

Its accumulation even before the end of the year seemed likely should the present rate of the inflow, which has added $600,000,000 in the last 11 weeks, be maintained.

Coincidentally officials said the time was rapidly approaching when the United States would own half the gold of the world. Since the United States revalued gold at $35 an ounce, the world's supply of the metal is placed at about $23,500,000,000.

PREDICTS OWN DEATH

Kankakee, Ill., Henry "Spot" Chamberlain, 79, who believed so strongly in his own predictions that he recently purchased a casket, was killed when a descending elevator struck him on the head. Chamberlain amused his friends with prophecies on every question.

Drive Carefully, Save A Life

George Berry, insurance man, fell down a stair and lacerated his head.

An ambulance called for him, started for a hospital, and crashed at a corner with a machine driven by a negro.

The negro was picked up and taken to the hospital for treatment. Berry was dismissed a few hours later.

Fountain pens were made as early as 1835, but they were not successful until about 50 years later.

Will Inspect N. C. Tin Mine

Investors Representative To Visit Lincolnton Shafts This Week

Washington—James H. Frazier, representing the American Consolidated Tin Mines corporation, in Washington on his way to Charlotte in the interest of development of the tin mines at Lincolnton.

Mr. Frazier, who has been engaged in the mining business for years, stated that the fiscal agents of the company are Connor, Peach, & Co., of New York City.

"We are already working the tin mines near Lincolnton," said Mr. Frazier. "I hope to be in Charlotte Friday and will then go to Lincolnton and confer with the superintendent of the properties. I am going over the properties for people who want to invest in them, and to get first-hand information," he continued.

"We already have down two shafts, and the tin runs two per cent, and mica and kaolin which are found in the deposits will yield enough to pay for operation of the mines. Our people are just now waking up to the importance of tin, since our best deposits are in North Carolina and Alabama. We hope to develop the properties on a large scale. With the world's supply of tin coming from Bolivia in South America, and the Malay Straits Settlement we should develop our concurrences found, especially in view of an emergency."
