For Bad Feeling Due to Constipation

Get rid of constipation by taking Black-Draught as soon as you notice that bowel activity has slowed up or you begin to feel sluggish. Thousands prefer Black-Draught for the refreshing relief it has brought them. Mrs. Ray Mullins, of Lafa, Ark., writes: "My husband and I both take Theford's Black-Draught and find it splendid for constipation, biliousness, and the disagreeable, aching, tired feeling that comes from this condition." With reference to Syrup of Black-Draught, which this mother gives her children, she says: "They like the taste and it gave such good results."

BLACK-DRAUGHT

GENESIS

A surgeon, an architect, and a politician were arguing as to whose profession was the oldest.

Said the surgeon: "Eve was made from Adam's rib, and that surely was a surgical operation."

"Maybe," said the architect, "but prior to that, order was created out of chaos, and that was an architectural job."

"But," interrupted the politician, "somebody created the chaos first!"

BAD SPELLER

"It's no use," said the director to his colleague. "I'll have to get a new typist."

"Pity," said his colleague. "Miss Jones always seemed a nice, obliging girl."

"Oh, she's all that. But she will keep interrupting me when I'm dictating to ask how to spell words."

"That certainly is a great waste of time."

"I don't object to that," explained the director, "but it looks so bad to have to keep saying 'I don't know.'"

Radio Listeners To Hear 4-H Clubsters

4-H Club Members will take to the air this week over Radio Station WPTF as a part of the annual 4-H Short Course which begins at State College July 22 and ends July 27.

Those taking part on the broadcasts, which will be heard on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday at 1:45 p. m., will recount some of their accomplishments and activities in 4-H work. The girls will tell of their sewing, cooking, and other work around the home, while the boys will describe their work with farm animals and crops.

Gathering from all parts of North Carolina, those who appear on the radio program will present a fairly accurate cross-section of the farm youth of the State. In addition to telling of activities in their home communities, the speakers will also describe the different phases of the short course from day to day, giving listeners a word picture of the things occurring on the State College campus.

After the clubsters return home on July 27, farmers and farm women will pour onto the campus to begin the annual Farm and Home Week. Outstanding members from this group will take part on the radio program each day at 1:45 p. m., telling of their activities and accomplishments.

Plans are being made to include some musical talent on these programs. At each session musical groups are formed who sing at the assemblies. One or more of these choruses will be asked to take part on the broadcast.

By tuning in on WPTF, farmers and farm women who are unable to attend will be given a description of the activities in which their neighbors are participating.

Inherited Traits Are Important In Poultry

Some of the most important factors in success with poultry the inheritable characteristics in birds.

This is why poultry authorities always stress good breeding, said Roy S. Dearstynne, head of the poultry department at State College.

The age at which birds mature sexually, the rate of egg production, the size of the eggs, the ability to continue laying for a long time, and the hatchability of fertile eggs laid by the birds are among the inheritable traits.

By culling out inferior birds and breeding only those which have the desirable traits, poultrymen can build up good flocks that will pay big dividends through the years.

When birds mature early, he said, they start laying early, and the sooner they start laying, the sooner they start returning a profit to the poultryman.

The rate of egg production means the number of eggs a bird will lay during her laying period. Those which lay irregularly cannot be as profitable as those which lay every day.

The size of the eggs is also important, as poultrymen who sell uniformly large eggs get better prices than those who sell small ones.

The hatchability of fertile eggs, which apparently is inherited, is of obvious importance, Dearstynne continued.

Likewise, the ability to continue laying for a long time is a vital factor in determining the profitability of a bird.

Early feathering is another inheritable trait that is of great importance in the production of broilers.

SWEETEST GIRL

An obviously embarrassed young man to the license clerk for a marriage license. "I'm going to marry the sweetest girl in the whole world," he confided to the clerk.

As he hurried away clutching the precious piece of paper the clerk turned to the next customer and remarked: "Gee, that girl changes her mind often. That's the 17th license I've issued her this week."

Around 80 per cent of the Alamance County farmers who signed contracts under the old AAA have now signed work sheets under the new farm program.

N. Y. WORLD'S FAIR RISING FROM ANCIENT ASH HEAP

Excavation Task a Terrific Test of Men and Machines

Top: Some of the 150 automotive machines creating a World's Fair out of an ash heap.

Right: The gasoline shovels must move 33 yards a minute day and night.

Below: A tank truck servicing one of the machines. They will use 1,500,000 gallons of lubricated gasoline.

by LATTIMER SHAW

A battle of 800 men and 150 gasoline driven machines against time to turn a 1,000 acre ash dump into a level site for hundreds of beautiful buildings has been begun as the start of the great World's Fair to be held at Flushing, Long Island, by the City of New York in 1939, which will bring millions of people to America's biggest city. The battle of ashes will go on 24 hours a day until April 1, 1937. If the race against time is won it will constitute a record for this type of work. It will cost $2,200,000. The men and their $750,000 worth of modern automotive equipment must remove 6,000,000 square yards of dry material and 1,500,000 yards of mud. During the process hundred foot hills of ashes will be leveled and fifty foot gullies filled and a tidal river 16 feet deep will be eliminated and turned into a series of gleaming lagoons for motor boat races, swimming exhibitions and other aquatic events dear to the hearts of fair goers.

This tremendous grading job constitutes one of the most terrible ordeals to which gasoline motors have ever been subjected because, for ten months, summer and winter, they must operate continuously, 24 hours a day. It will be equivalent to starting an automobile and not stopping it for 300 days. It was for this reason that there was selected for the job, and with no attempt to skimp on cost, only the most modern, rugged and scientific machinery, fuel, lubricating oil and greases. When the task is completed the gasoline shovels, self dumping trucks, graders and other machines will have passed through a trial almost unprecedented in motor history. The long hours and the varying conditions of temperature under which the equipment must operate appeared to the engineers to be similar to those encountered by the two Byrd Antarctic Expeditions and the 900,000 mile service in six years of the Graf Zeppelin and now the new Hindenburg. Therefore the same oil and greases employed by Admiral Byrd on both his South Pole Expeditions and the German engineers in the Graf Zeppelin and Hindenburg were specified for the World's Fair job—Veedel motor oil and grease made by the Tide Water Oil Company. And the same company's Tydol gasoline, which drove Byrd's planes and tractors for 35,000 miles over the icy Antarctic wastes is operating all the motor equipment at Flushing. Storage facilities for 4,000 gallons of gasoline have been set up and half a dozen high speed pumps, served daily by tank trucks. To service the continuously operating machines in the field a fleet of smaller tank trucks is in use on carefully worked out schedules.

An indication of the speed with which New York's World's Fair is coming into being lies in the schedule on which the city's ancient ash dump is being excavated—33 yards per minute, day in and day out around the clock.
