The War in Europe.

from the first we were of opinion that the deficul as a Europe must eventually result in war, and can the first we have believed that war, whatever and he its event, as between the great belligereuts, sh Empire. That power could not sustain itself a it stood. A power that submits to be protecthat owes its existence to the guarantee of others has yutually ceased to be independent; and, if saved while the States North, South and West of South from the engreechments of its enemies, must perforce, Carolina gave free passage to the delegates, the South of their assistance and protection, as were urged by sia while standing in a hostile attitude.

Turkey, it is provided that the Rayahs or christian | Carolina are really high spirited and generous, but it untives of the Turkish provinces shall be fully emancipated, and raised to an equality with the Moslem n habitants : the capitation tax, which is paid by the christians, shall be abolished, and they endued with full civil and religious rights, with freedom of wornip. Tribunals are to be so organized as to effectually carry these concessions into effect. Foreigners are also to have rights of property in Turkey.

With a Turkish or Mahomedan population of but about three million in European Turkey, and a Christian population of over twelve million, it must be evident that Turkish domination in these provinces is at an end. That, so far as Europe is concerned. Turkey has ceased to be a Mahomedan power .-That the sympathies of the majority in Europe are with others than the Sultan's government or the Asiatic portion of the Empire, and that this latter portion is in turn alienated from the central government by tain the concessions made to the Christians concessions so much at war with the fanatical prejudices, traditions, policy and religious faith of the faithful followers of the Prophet.

There may hereafter exist for some time upon the map of Europe, the name of the Turkish Empire extending over the ground it now occupies, but it will not be the Turkey of history .- It will not be the result of the independent progress of the Turkish nation. It will no longer be governed by the hereditary and traditional power of the Sultan, the representative of the Prophet, and the head of the religion of Mahomet. The crescent has disappeared, or is about to disappear, as a governing power, just as fully as though Constantinople [were taken by the Russians or the Greeks.

Besides, Turkey is now opened to foreign emigration. The vast territories in the richest and fairest regions of the world, which have been lying waste or barren, under the influence of Turkish misrule, or more.) and crew, with 311 passengers, on Long Beach, any combination of circumstances bring about a difthe want of proper tenures, will soon be developed by adventurers from the West. Turkish inertia must recede before the energetic march of the colonizing Anglo-saxon. Tarkey will contract a debt to the Western powers for their assistance given, and to them she has mortgaged her independence.

The Raleigh Live Giraffe has come out in advocacy of the principles and candidates of the Democratic party. The Giraffe has lately been enlarged and improved, and bids fair to do good service for the Democratic party. It stands square upon the Democratic platform.

THE DONATION OF LANDS TO THE STATES FOR THE SUPPORT OF THE INSANE. - We would venture to suggest that the General Government collects money for certain defined and limited purposes, among which we are not aware that attendance to the sick and infirm of the States is one; it was not erected for the purpose of repairing the legs and arms of the people. nor of taking care of those sick in body or mind, except in the cases of those who incur such disabilities in its service. If, as we conceive, the General Government is only a trustee of the Public Lands, the mere fact of any object being a good one in the abstruct cannot be urged as a reason why they should he applied to its furtherance. Any other class of sufferers has just as strong claims as the insane. The General Government might as well build poor-houses and hospitals for the small pox or consumption It has just as much authority.

GIFTS. - Keep clear of Gift Concerts and "enterprises." They are like distribution schemes by the General Government. The "enterprise" men take twice as much for tickets as they distribute in "gifts." the General Government, in case of distribution, would take twice as much back in taxes.

Requires Correction.

Our attention has been called to the occurrence of a difficulty on Saturday night last, between the town guard, and three very quiet citizens, Messrs. Wm. J. Price, T. S. Gause, and Wm. L. White, in which, as represented to us, the guard, or a portion of them, were the aggressors -more than one being drunk -Mr. Price is very seriously, if not dangerously, injured; and all three gentlemen complain of having and money taken from their pockets, in sums of $20. $13, and $5. This ought to be rigidly looked to. Of course, we bring no charge against the guard, but simply state the affair as stated to us.

THE THALIANS .- It will be seen that the Thalians are again in the field, and will give a performance in the Theatre to-night, when they will present two capital pieces. By the way, we have heard the nd of the hammer echoing through the old buildme for the last few weeks so that we look for some erable improvement in the " Old Drury" of the pa Fear, which is shortly to be confronted with a ry imposing edifice for gentlemen of "confined" we are "down." Go to the Theatre if you can, the beach. nd keep out of the Jail as long as you can.

A NOTE-WORTHY FACT .- It is noticeable, in connection with the late Charleston Convention, that, boilt to the dictation of its friends. Such is the Carolina Road only gave return tickets charging for on of Turkey. Quite as radical changes will be the going. While the Roads centreing in Wilmington mistel upon by England and France as the price franked the delegates to Charleston, Charleston herself, which claimed all the glory and all the honor and all the profits, did no such thing; and not only pears that by the late offensive and defensive so, but contemptuously refused North Carolina monentered into between England, France and ey when tendered for the fare. The people of South would appear that the South Carolina Railroad is something of an exception. That Road is greatly controlled by certain influences in Charleston.

We learn from the last Fayetteville Carolinian, that the work on this Road has been commenced, and that Messes. Seymour. Risley & Co., who contracted for building the whole Road, have let out the grading of the first four miles to Messrs Jones and Barbee, who commenced actual operations on Thursday last, and have from sixty to seventy hands at work.

The corps of Engineers are at work locating the balance of the Road, and it is the intention of the contractors to have operations commenced on the whole line immediately. The Carolinian considers the prosperity of Fayetteville from henceforth cer-

SUPERIOR COURT. - The Spring Term of the Superior Court of Law for New Hanover county commences its sessions in the Court House 'o-day, His Honor, Judge Saunders, presiding. The docket, we learn, is a very full one, but, from what we have heard of the prompt and efficient despatch of business by Judge Saunders, we feel disposed to think that the two weeks session will go far towards clearing it, or at least towards reaching all the cases that are ready

STATEMENT OF CAPTAIN JENNINGS-INTERESTING IN-TERVIEW WITH CAPTAIN MEYERS DURING THE GALE. On Saturday the wind blew with great violence from the north east. The sea ran very high all day. and I supposed that there would be many a wreck along the coast from Barnegat to Egg Harbor. On Sunday morning I observed a ship of about 900 tons thumping on the bar about one hundred yards from the shore. I immediately sent those men who were with me to the government station house, distant about six miles, for the life car, mortar, and other wrecking apparatus. During the day the ship's deck was crowded with passengers, and when the surf ran out I could get within seventy-five yards of the vessel, which I found out to be the ship Powhatan, of Baltimore, Capt Meyers, on her voyage from Havre to New York. The surf ran mountains Indeed I never saw such a sea in my life.

Several persons now began to be swept overboard Captain Myers bailed me through his speakingtrumpet and asked me for God's sake to try and save some of those who might happen to wash ashore I told him I had went down the beach to where the bodies came on shore, but found them all dead, and it was no use trying to save them, as they were all drowned before they got half way to the beach

Captain Myers asked me just before this it any aid would soon reach them I said I hoped so, as four men had been sent down to the government sta-

Captain Myers again called out to me to save any I those who might be washed ashore alive. I replied that I would see to it, and went down about two hundred yards on the beach where the bodies were being washed on shore. Women and children came on shore first.

The vessel then lay E. S. E., and had shifted from the N E Her foremast was gone at this time suppose she lost it before she struck on the bar-About 5 o'clock, P. M., on Sunday, the ship keeled over to windward from the shore. The sea then, of course, made a clean breach over her, and passengers began to be washed off in great numbers. The sea running mountains high; and completely hiding the vessel from my view, I could no longer hold any communication with the captain I never saw him

The main and mizzen masts soon went by the board, and bodies appeared floating in the surt in great numbers Some twenty-five dead bodies, mostly women, came on shore about a mile south of the

About dark the sea rose to a great height, and one large wave, fully a hundred feet high, struck the un fortunate vessel, and in one moment the hull was scattered into fragments, which tossed wildly through the surf. The shrieks of the drowning creatures were melancholy indeed, but I could render them no aid, as the sea ran so high I could not get near the unfortunate people. In a few moments all disappeared beneath the surface of the water, except a few fragments of the wreck. Never did I see such a sight in my life. Never do I remember witnessing such a dreadful gale or such a high running sea. In many places it made complete breaches over the island, and carried, no doubt, many a poor fellow into the bay behind it The men got back the next morning from government station-house with a life boat, mortar and the usual wrecking apparatus but it was too late, as all on board the ill-fated Powhatan perished - not one remaining to tell the fearful tale. None of the crew or officers of the vessel came ashore, which is rather a curious fact; but I think they will be found some ten or fifteen miles further down

The luggage and portion of the wreck lay scattered along the beach. I have collected all the valuables could, and have found some money ($80) in a money helt belonging to some of the passengers. The friends and relatives of the deseased can have all the necessary information regarding the effects of those drowned, by inquiring for me at Manahawin, New Jer-

Capt. EDWARD JENNINGS, Wreck Master. A report from Little Egg Harbor states that a German was picked up there alive. He has been delirious ever since, and of course we cannot get any fatal to the robins through all that region. One farinformation from him. The War in Europe

The probabilities of the great war in Europe-of to great results-are mort conversed over by the statesmen assembled in Washington. Thousands of theories are started, each one appearing to have views on the subject differs from those of his neighbors.

One cannot listen long to what is being said relative to the war, without coming to the conclusion. that here at least its future and its results are a profound mystery. We never before heard so many and so totally different opinions expressed on a subject by the same number of commentators or critics. All, however, appear to concur in the opinion that the people and government of the United States are sert, receives only our crowns; and finally our comto be almost alone gainers by the dire contest .merce with the United States, whose future is immense This opinion is predicated on the now unanimously prevalent belief that we will be able to preserve our fabrics of Lyons, and the articles of Paris, whilst the neutrality. England and France having agreed to respect our rights as neutrals, the infraction of which would be likely to seriously involve us in the contest against the side or interest failing in such matters to do us justice. As for our taking up arms in any contingency of results of the war, as a party to the affairs of any trans-Atlantic government no public man in Washington dreams of such a thing. Our business is to let them fight it out, trading as far as possible with all sides, and extending our commerce and strenghtening our national interest wherever the confusion and embarrassment of the commercial affairs of the nations engaged, may make openings for us. So much for Washington opinion of the proper and action of the United States in the current condition of European affairs.

We may add that we find few here not inclined to believe, that ere the close of the war there will be extensive revolutions all over the continent, to end in very radical changes of more or less of the governments. It is thought by the best informed, that the Prussian government must eventually side if but through fear of consequences afar off in the future That is after Austria shall be have been driven by a like cause to take the same course. And further, that when Prussia shall become so involved. France will cause the revolutionary standard to be raised whereever by so doing, she can paralize these allies of the Czar who would use the same weapon against them as we explained a day or two since, were they to side with his enemies, rather than under his standard. It is further thought here that Russia is impregnable at home. That is, that her out-post only can be successful attacked by England, France and Turkey. and that the treasury of England will stand very little of the draining incident to protracted war, be fore her people will be clamoring for peace. Her foreign commerce is necessary for the very sustanence of millions on millions of her subjects. The Czar will not fail to cripple that in a thousand ways. He will aim to make her millions of factory people, of all sorts, his practical allies; attacking their judgment and sympathies through the most approached avenue-their stomachs. He has but to send them to bed hungry for a month, to create a most astonishing change in their estimation of their own government; ever popular in England, when work is plenloss of the ship Powhatan. > Further Foreign News per Asia. Rumored Turkish Victories - Serzure of Turkish War

> Ships [From the Paris cor. of the London Times, 7th 1 Despatches were received to-day at the Turkish Embassy from Vienna, confirming what was said vesterday about the defeat of the Russian General. schakoff, and the retreat of his corps on Bessarabia. It is also stated that the forts said to have been captured are still in the hands of the Turks, that the furks have crossed the Danube at a point between Nicopolis and Rutschunk : that 20,000 Turks are on their way to Trajan's wall or Rassova, and 25,000 from the same direction from Shumla. All these movements were spoken of vesterday and the day before, and they are again announced to day. Reports are also rife about advantages near Kalafat -But all these have to be confirmed officially. The Patrie states that the accounts of an advantage having been gained by the Turks on the Lower Danube appeared confirmed. "It is positive," says that jour-" that the General-in-Chief of the Russian army, after the passage of his troops into the Dobrudscha, considered his position so critical that he demanded reinforcements from Bessarabia, Odessa, and even Schastapol.

Two steam frigates, nearly completed, in the yard of Mr. Pitcher, at Northfeet, England, intended for the Russian government, were seized by Mr. Scanlan of the customs, on the 5th inst. The machinery for them, of the value of £30,000, was also seized by the Customs authorities. The vessels are of 1300 tons, and pierced to carry 28 guns. They are not named, but the one ready for launching bears the figurehead of the Czar.

The London Globe of the 7th adds that further seizures have been made of a very considerable quantity of machinery, also intended for the service of the Russian enemy. In the last class of scizures are comprised a large portion of the machinery intende! for the equipment of the frigates now under capture, and engines designed for exportation to Russian ports in which ships of war are now being built for the service of the Czar. The total value of the last seizures is estimated at about £10,000.

MURDER -We learn that a murder was committed in Stokes County, about three miles East of Germanton, on Saturday last. It appears that a number of neighbors had assembled at a house raising, among them Reuben Samuel and Reuben Southern; and that after supper, Southern started home, when Samuel followed him, and deliberately struck him on the head with a mallet, breaking his skull. Southern survived till next day, in the morning. Samuel has not as yet been apprehended. We have heard no cause assigned for the act; both were intoxicated at the time. Since the above was in type, we learn that the cause of the murder is supposed to be an old grudge existing since 1850. We have also been furnished with the following personal description of Reuben Samuel :- He is about five feet eight inches high, muscular and stout built, with auburn hair and light blue eyes, has a ring-hole in each ear, and a flesh mark on the back of his neck, or rather between his shoulders, covered with hair, aged about 30 years. It is supposed he has gone to Jones County, Georgia. - Salem Press.

A FUGITIVE SENT BACK .- Edward Davis, the colored man who came out from Savannah under the wheel-house of the steamship Keystone State, and was confined in the prison at New Castle, Del., has been given up to his owner from Georgia. It is said that some time since he was fined $15 or $20 at Havre-de-Grace, for coming from Pennsylvania into Maryland contrary to law, and being unable to pay it, was sold as a slave. This is the way he became the property of the claimant from Georgia.

DESTRUCTION OF BIRDS .- The New York Tribune states that the extraordinary snow-storm which commenced on Friday evening last, and continued at intervals till Tuesday of this week, has proved most

"We have never, for our part, considered the cere-als of Southern Russia as indepensable to our internal consumption. Olessa, Aroff and the other ports of those shores have already furnished this year from 12,000,000 to 14,000,000 of hectoliters of grain; they could yet furnish from 8,000,000 to 10,000,000. This undoubtedly would be a great resource, but the prohibition is not irremediable. The United States also have a considerable excess, which has been estimated at 117,000,000 of bectolitres. Now, as we have ourselves estimated the deficiency of Western Europe at 60,000,000, it will be seen that we have still a large margin, and that we can get along without the cereals of the Black Sea, which are besides sufficiently medioere, not to say absolutely bad, because cultivation in those countries is still in a state of barbarism. Besides, a thousand reasons ought to decide us to desert Southern Russia, and to prefer the United States, whose products are so much superior. In the first place, the navigation of the Mediterranean and the Archipelago is much more dangerous than that of the Atlantic Ocean; in the second place, the United States are a civilized country, which will receive our products in exchange for its own, whilst the countries ordering on the Black Sea, still comparatively a de-
