

FOR PRESIDENT OF THE U. S. JAMES BUCHANAN, of Pennsylvania.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT. J. C. BRIDGES, of Kentucky.

FOR GOVERNOR. THOMAS BRAGG. Of Northampton County.

New Hanover County Democratic Nominations.

FOR THE SENATE. OWEN PENNELL.

FOR THE HOUSE OF COMMONS. SAMUEL A. HOLMES. ROBERT H. TATE.

By all the gods of high Olympus, who sat cross-legged on the clouds and drank nectar, vulgarly supposed to be mint juleps! By all these respectable but used up people, we repeat, the thing is done, and Kenneth Rayner, of North Carolina, has got a nomination.

Marvellous and much to be admired is the economy of the solar system, composed of respectable and full grown planets, several satellites, and innumerable fragmentary affairs, known as asteroids, some of which are gravely supposed to be as large as a piece of chalk.

Marvellous also, is the system of little parties and fragments of parties, political asteroids, which, since the dissolution—the grand explosion of the old whig party, have set up on their own account and keep wheeling around trying to convey the impression that they really constitute regular members of the political system.

First, there are some portions of the old whig party, who have a sort of dim idea that, in some unknown and incomprehensible way, there still is an old whig party, whose strength is latent, like the fire in a gun flint, and which portions of said party, through the National Intelligencer and other organs, talk of a unity and nationality, on a small scale, which, notoriously, that party had long since ceased to possess, and the want of which led to its dissolution.

Then comes the know-nothing movement of last year, at Philadelphia, which split into fragments, virtually Northern and Southern, twelfth-section and anti-twelfth-section; then again this year, after yielding the twelfth section, it still keeps split, and is now distinctly divided into "North Americans" and "South Americans."

Again there are the Republicans, who are in session at Philadelphia, who will probably go for Banks and Johnson, although some, perhaps, won't, but will start another fragment along with the "Know Somethings" or Seward men proper.

Now, the question for Southern men really seems to narrow itself down to a choice between the Democratic party on its known grounds, distinctly laid down platform, national and unbroken organization, unobjectionable and able candidates, or a union with some one fragment of the opposition, the main object all forms of opposition being opposition to the Democratic party, because of its strong and unequivocal commitment to the rights and interests of the South.

There are old line whigs left high and dry by the desertion of their party, who may not like the idea of joining with their old opponents; but then, after these gentlemen have fully surveyed the field, we think that as national men and as Southern men, they will see that co-operation with the Democrats is not simply the best, but the only course left them to pursue, with any prospect of safety to the South.

Recent events have drawn out the old Vigilance Committee once more. About the 12th of last month, James P. Casey, a notorious character, a former inmate of the Sing Sing Penitentiary, in the State of New York, and one of the leading bullies and gamblers in San Francisco, shot down, in the public street in that city, James King, of William, editor of the San Francisco Bulletin, a gentleman very much beloved and respected.

Our dispatches this morning bring us an account of the conclusion of the most important business of the National Democratic Convention. Mr. Buchanan has been chosen candidate for the Presidency on the seventeenth ballot.

The following, from a paper published at Omaha City, Nebraska, is descriptive of an Indian battle, as conducted by the "warriors" in that Territory.

Two war parties (generally two or three hundred men, women and children, dogs and horses) come in sight and halt at the distance of from one-half to a mile of each other.

The general meeting of the stockholders in the Wilmington, Charlotte and Rutherford Railroad Company convened this forenoon, in the Court-house in this place, and organized by calling Gen. Alfred Dockery to the chair, and appointing Henry V. Natt and George R. French, Esqs., of Wilmington, secretaries.

We are requested to state that a meeting of all citizens feeling an interest in the construction of the Wilmington, Charlotte, and Rutherford Railroad, will be held this evening at the Court House, at 8 o'clock.

Who are they? Under the heading of "Southern Delegates to the Convention," the Philadelphia Bulletin of Monday evening says, that it, or its editor, received calls that morning from several gentlemen, members of the Kentucky delegation to the [Black Republican] Convention, now meeting in that city.

It is recalled of historic facts, the Secretary says nothing to preclude the inference that Greytown had been in undisputed possession of Nicaragua up to the time of the expulsion of the authorities of that State by a British force.

As soon as this proceeding became known, the British Admiral despatched a part of the West India Squadron to San Juan, the mere approach of which frightened the newly established authorities, and caused them to evacuate the place.

The events recited occurred two years before the conclusion of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, and when that compact was ratified, Greytown was under a government organized, with the consent of Great Britain, by its inhabitants.

PHILADELPHIA, June 16.—The city is crowded with delegates and others drawn here by the National Republican Convention, which assembles to-morrow. The friends of Fillmore in this city have appointed delegates to claim seats in the convention as Republicans.

PHILADELPHIA, June 16.—The State Republican Convention met at noon, when John Ellison, of Beaver county, was chosen permanent President.

New York, June 16.—The accusers from the anti-Fillmore seceding convention have nominated Commodore Robert F. Stockton for President, and Kenneth Rayner, of North Carolina, for Vice-President.

The London Times says that it had become quite customary in England for dealers in liquors to buy up empty brandy casks, bearing the brands of the most noted Cognac houses, to send them to Hamburg, Antwerp, and other places, have them there filled with inferior spirits and reshipped on board of vessels bound to the British Colonies, etc.

The establishment of United States influence in Nicaragua through the instrumentality of General Walker, may be expected to render Great Britain more tenacious of her Mosquito Protectorate, and thus to complicate the difficulties which have arisen in relation to the Clayton-Bulwer treaty.

generally, by the way, appears rather better, one towards us since the dismissal of Mr. Crumpton, and this same editor, some days ago, even went to abusing the ladies of our country in a most ungalant manner.
